OLD ABE'S WAR.

SURRENDER OF FORT SUMNER!

In the teeth of his late professions—in opposition to public opinion—in defiance of Gen. Scott's remonstrance—in disregard of the wishes of Maj. ANDERSON—ARRAIGH LINCOLN, the poor imbecile who occupies and disgraces the Presidential chair, has thought proper to commence a civil war—and what a commencement! The first battle is a triumph for South Carolina! Fort Sumter has surrendered to the enemy, and the great North and her people stand defeated and disgraced before the world! Until quite recently Mr. LINCOLN was determined to evacuate that Fort. He had informed Maj. ANDERSON of this determination, and, with few exceptions, the Republican journals of the whole North applauded and congratulated him, with compliments for arriving at this conclusion. "The fort cannot be reinforced without a force of 20,000 men," many of them told us; and "even if reinforced, it will accomplish nothing," chimed in others.

But after this policy had been agreed upon by Lincoln and his Cabinet, and endorsed by nearly all the Republican papers, a sudden change came over the President's dreams, and he arrived at the conclusion to drench the country in blood by civil war! Who advised this change of policy? Who influenced the President after he had assured Maj. ANDERSON and the country that he would not resort to coercion? Who influenced him, we say, and forced him to violate his word? The question is easily answered. The extreme Abolitionists, who direct and control LINCOLN, were the men who demanded civil war, and compelled the President, against his own judgment, to attempt an impossibility, the reinforcement of Fort Sumter. GREELEY, the man who "prefers the Chicago platform to fifty Unions;" SUMNER, who said the "South must be humbled;" LOVEJOY, the crazy Abolitionist who compared John Brown to our Saviour; and CARL SCHURZ, the infidel foreigner; BURLINGAME, who wants an "anti-slavery Bible;" WILMOT, the one-idea Abolition Senator from this State—these are the men who forced "old Abe" to declare civil war. They demand the reinforcement of Sumter, notwithstanding Gen. Scott had said that it never could be done.

Why did not these war-like gentlemen assist in the hazardous undertaking? We notice that nearly all the late U. S. Senators from the South, are in the ranks of the volunteers, fighting for what they believed to be their rights. Why don't WILMOT, SUMNER, LOVEJOY, and BURLINGAME shoulder muskets and fight for the Chicago platform? They demand this war, now let us see their courage tested.

Why don't you Lincolnists, who profess to be the friends of LINCOLN's war as far as it has gone. Bells are ringing in the South, and the loud huzzas of her people are heard—blood has been spilled—men have been shot down by their brethren—Sumter has surrendered—the North is disgraced! When hostilities are to cease, God only knows. We may in all probability will, have a war of years, and our country may be drenched with blood before the end. Our Union is doomed—doomed because of the triumph of an unprincipled sectional, Abolition party. Heaven protect us!

But, now that we are in the difficulty—now that we must look the fearful reality in the face, our duty, as good citizens, is plain—we must stand by the Government, we must sustain the President, and hold up his hands in this crisis. Pennsylvania, we doubt not, will do her whole duty, and will assist, with mighty power, to crush rebellion, come from what quarter it may.—American Volunteer.

A TOUGH "YARN" ABOUT WESTERN VIRGINIA.

"Old Gabe," was especially given to "Tough Yarn-spinnings." On one occasion, while sitting, after supper, before a huge log fire that roared and crackled in the deep throated chimney-place, he commenced, as usual, to entertain our clerical friend with a few exploits of his young days. He remarked, "Game is no right out as plainly as it used to be in old times."

"No," replied his friend, "I suppose hunters are more numerous?" "Not right onto as plenty," continued Uncle Gabe, who seemed to be lost for a moment in a reverie, then giving his grey locks a toss and elevating his shaggy eyebrows, "nigh onto as plenty." "When I was a young man in these parts, people had no trouble to get anything they wanted in the likes of meats. Sometimes they had trouble to raise corn, as the ternal varmints had to be watch'd to keep them from carrying away the whole field. One day, along in the fall of 18—I concluded to go out and scout about and see if I couldn't bring home a few wild turkeys, as the neighbors said they was uncommon thick. I hadn't been out afore. So I tuk down "Old Bets," and started towards the Yough, (Youghiogheny), and when I come down to the river, I looked on 'tother side and I see sixteen turkeys settin' side by side, on a limb that hung out over the water. I fired away and split the limb wide enough to let the turkeys' toes in.—The ball went through, and the crack closed up and held 'em fast! I loaded and fired agin and cut the limb off, and down it fell in the water.

I see the wild honey come out by the gallon from where I had cut it off. I started to wade across the river to get the turkeys; and when I had got about half way over, the fish ran in under my trousers so thick that they busted off a big metal button at the top of it.

A priest, proceeding to the chapel one Sunday morning through the burial ground, observed several sprightly little girls seated on a tomb-stone, and wishing to be jocular with them, asked what they were doing there.—"Nothing at all, plaze your reverence," was the reply of one of them.

"Nothing?" said he. "What is nothing?" "Shut your eyes, your reverence," retorted one of them, and you'll see it."

WHERE ARE THE WIDE-AWAKES?

Night after night last fall our streets blazed with the torches, and resounded with the shouts of men and boys, who kept military time and wore glazed caps and horse collars, denouncing the South and her institutions. We warned them time and again of the sad and disastrous consequences which must follow from their insanity. We begged of them by every consideration of patriotism and humanity to desist from a course that must inevitably result ruin to the country. We referred them to the wise and prophetic warnings of such men as Washington, Clay and Jackson. But the Wide-Awakes would not listen. Lanterns, and capes, and flags multiplied in our streets. Banners floated, and drums were beaten, and in a while the deed was done.

And now, Gentlemen Wide-Awakes, how do you like it? No longer than last autumn you had your work and fair wages. But how is it now? Where is your work and where are your wages? No money—no employment, unless you take service under President Lincoln to do legalized murder upon your countrymen. War is now begun, and men will be needed to furnish food for powder. The people of the South are armed and ready for your reception. The diseases of the Southern climate are waiting patiently for their victims. But where are the Wide-Awakes now? Where is the half million of Wide-Awakes who were to overrun the South and reduce it to subjection? Their services are needed, and we insist that they shall do the fighting.—Greensburg Democrat.

WHAT IS LINCOLN DRIVING AT?

The partisans of the Administration, who are so violent in their denunciations of all who do not approve of the policy of civil war, do not pretend that war will result either in the enforcement of the laws or the restoration of the Union. On the contrary, the admission is explicitly made that "war with the seceded States will not bring them back into the Union." Indeed, after the daily exhibitions of intense hatred to the Southern States, made by that class of Republican journals most anxious for war, it is impossible to believe that they desire to be again associated with the seceded States. If, then, war is not to bring these States back into the Union, what is its object? When we are called upon to stand by the Administration, we would like to know what the Administration is driving at.

WHO ARE FOR THE UNION?

The Black Republicans pretend to be in favor of the Union, but they refused to pass the Crittenden Compromise, which would have saved the Union, and insured quiet and prosperity to the people. The Union professions of the Black Republicans are worth nothing, so long as all their acts create hatred and ill-will among the people of the States.—The present course of the Lincoln Administration can have no other effect than to destroy the Union forever.—Gettysburg Compiler.

A poor editor out West somewhere, falling into the hands of the Philistines, broke forth in the following gizzard moving appeal: Sheriff, spare that press!

CHEATING GOING ON.—Some years ago a game of poker was being played in this place. Jim C. was in it, and during the game contrived to steal the four aces and lay them on his knee, to be played at the proper time.—The player who sat next to him saw the move, and slipped the aces from their hiding place, putting four other cards in their stead. When Jim's turn came to deal, he called on all hands to go it blind. "I'll go over all of you."—When all were in deep enough to suit him he reached for his aces, and brought up something else. Throwing his cards on the table, in a tone of indignation he exclaimed: "Gentlemen, I can't play in this game; there's cheating going on!"

Parson Green, a preacher in the habit sometimes of drawing upon a box of sermons, bequeathed him by his father, who was also a minister, upon one occasion got hold of a sermon, by mistake, which the old gentleman had once preached to the State prison convicts. It opened well, and the congregation were becoming deeply interested, when all at once the parson surprised them with the information, that "had it not been for the clemency of the governor, every one of them would have been hung a long time ago."

The Pittsburgh Dispatch informs us that Gov. Curtin is supposed to be $75,000 better off since the repeal of the tonnage tax, than he was previous to that event. It also states that Mr. A. K. McClure, Republican Senator from Franklin, who was the leader in conducting that measure thro' the Legislature, has recently purchased a valuable farm near Chambersburg, which he is expensively fitting up. The Dispatch strongly intimates that the latter gentleman was not in quite such good circumstances, before the passage of the tonnage tax bill.—These two "pure and incorruptible" Republican patriots (!) must have had a splendid "windfall" from some source, and perhaps our cotemporaries, who have prated so loudly about Democratic "corruption" would be able to tell where.
