We have passed one week of editorial life and we like it. But we feel as though an apology were due the public, for the manner in which we, last week, entered the editorial sanctum, and clothed curselves with the ermine of the first person, plural number, the mysterious the first person, plural number. The mysterhols we that exerts such a potent influence wherever the therty of the press extends. We know we should have come out with a long salurary, full of hope and promise, and couched in the most beautiful words we could command; adorned with flowery language that would make a lover sigh; a l-this we should, and would have done, but our editorial higher than the most beautiful words we could command; adorned with flowery language that would make a lover sigh; a l-this we should, and would have done, but our editorial higher than the most beautiful words we could command; adorned with flowery language that would make a lover sigh; a l-this we should, and would have done, but our editorial higher than the most beautiful words we could command; adorned with flowery language that would make a lover sigh; a l-this we should, and would have done, but our editorial higher than their practice. It is not consistent to the decision of the Democratic Connty Convention.

JUDSON'S Mountain Herb Pills.

Above, we present you with a perfect likeness of Texuco, a chief of a tribe of the strange Arice Nation, that once ruled Mexico. You will find a full account of him and his people in our Pamphlets and Almanacs—to be had gratis, from the Agents for these Pills.

The Inventor and Manufacturer of "Judson's Mountain Herb Pills," has spent the greater part of his life in traveling, having visited nearly every country in the world. He spent over six years among the Indiana of the Rocky Mountains and of Mexico, and it was thus that the "Mountain High Pinds" were discovered. A very interestin account of his adventures there, you will find in our Almanac and Pamphlet.
