Pennsylvanta Hospital. (FROM OFFICIAL HOSPITAL REPORTS.)

May 19, 1860 .- Ellen S., æt. 28, single, nevel was very strong. Two years ago she had an attack of acute rheumatism, from which she was confined to her bed for two weeks, and subsequently from a relapse for four more. She has been well since then !

she took cold, had pain in her back, religiously had no decided chill. Two days later her salles began to swell, which was followed by swelling of the knee joints and of the bands. She has now dulpain in her shoulders, and her knuckles are very tender, red and painful; both hands are affected, but the right is most so. This, then, is a case of acute rheumalism, or, as it is now fashionably callacute rheuma'ism, or, as it is now fashionably called, rheumatic fever. It is a well marked typical case. We will carefully watch the case, and from office, in the borough of Bedford, on Wednesday the 12th day of March, inst., at 10 o'clock, A. JOHN P. REED,

Auditor.

The undersigned appointed by the Orphans' Court of Bedford county, to report upon the exceptions filed against the account of Elias Dell, Fsq., executor of the last will, &c., of John Snowberger, dec'd., to settle the same, adjust the account, and report the facts, will attend to the duties of his appointment on Friday that we are bound to give it a trial.

SAME CASE FOUR DAYS LATER! May 23, 1860 .- I will now exhibit to you the patient for whom I prescribed Propylamine, and who was then laboring under an attack of acute rheumatism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three tism. She has steadily taken it in doses of three grains, every two hours, (intermitting it at might). The day after you saw her, I found her much more comfortable, better than she expected to be for a week or more, judging from her other attack, The patient now walked into the room.) The ion to ment has steadily progressed, and you cannot sail to notice a marked change in the appaarance of her joints, which are now nearly of their natural size. Thus far our experiment would have seemed very successful; but gentlemen, we must wait a little while before we can give a decided opinion as to what is to be the result.

what is to be the result. Here is another patient who was placed on the use of the same medicine on Sunday last; she has long been suffering from chronic rheumatism; and I long been suffering from chronic rheunatism, and I found her at that time with an acute attack supervening upon her chronic affection. The wrists and knuckles were much awollen and tense. She took the chiral eof propagation in three grain doses every no hours, an you will perceive that the swelling of the joints has much diminished.

THREE DAYS LATER!

May 26, 1860 .- This is the case of acute rheum-MAY 20, 1800.—11.18 is the case of active fleathing treated, with propylamine, the first of those to which I colled your attention at our last clinic. She is still very comfortable, and is now taking three grains thrice daily.

In this case it has seemed to be followed by very satisfactory results. The second case to which your attention was called at our last lecture, has also continued to do well. I will now bring before you avery characteristic case of acute rheumatism, and if the result be satisfactory, I think, as good farmoun, we shall justly render our verdict in favor f propylamine.

He is a seaman, set 26, who was admitted a few days ago. Has had occasional rheumatic pains, but not so as to keep his bed, intil eight days ago. The pains began in his right knee, subsequently affected the left knee, and later, the joints of the upper extremities. These joints are sall swollen tense and tender. His tongue is furred; skin, at present, dry, though there has been much sweating. His pulse is full and strong, and ibout 90. He has now used propslamine for twenty-four hours.

This gentleman is what may be called a strictly typical case of acute rheumatism. There was exposure to cold and wet, and this exposure is followed by a feeling of coloness, severe articular pain, beginning as it usually does, in the lower joints. There is fever and the profuse sweating, so generally attendant on acute rheumatism.

I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points

I did not bring this patient before you with the intention of giving you a lecture on all the points connected with rheumatism, but to again give a trial to the new remedy we are testing, and to exhibit to you this typical case, as I have called it, than which there could not be a fairer opportunity for testing the medicine in question. We are, therefore, avoiding the use of all other medicines, even anodynes, that there may be no misgivings as to which was the efficient remedy. You shall see the case at a inture clinic. case at a inture clinic.
