a gentleman of commanding abilities; highexemplary in his habits of life; of great dustry and purity of character. Col. James P. Barr, our candidate for

Surveyor General, is the editor and proprietor of the Pittsburg Post, a newspaper that since Mr. Barr's connection with it, has ever been the advocate of sound National principles. During the present civil war the Post has ably advocated the prosecution of the war for the suppression of the rebellion, and the preservation of the Constitution and the Union. At the same time it has been unsparing in its hostility to that disloyal party or combination that has sought to prostitute such war to the mere purpose of negro emancipation, and to that policy in conducting it that necessarily tends to make disunion perpetual, and to permanently destroy our republican form of government. Mr. Barr, like Mr. Slenker, is a Pennsylvanian by birth-born in the county of Westmoreland-is a practical printer-has raised himself to a proud political and business position by his industry and energetic character, and is a gentleman of promptness and integrity in all his private and political re-

While our candidates have great reason to entertain a just pride that they have been selected as the standard-bearers of a great national party, struggling to maintain the Union and the Constitution against danger-ous and insidious assaults of their enemies, still, that the party may well congratulate itself that it is so worthily represented in its standard-bearers.

Fellow countrymen: a great issue is before you. It involves the momentous consideration, whether our Constitution and Union shall be preserved; or whether abolition foes North, or Secession foes South, shall destroy them! Ev-ery patriot in the land should know and feel that the only chance for the preservation of our present Government, its Constitution and the Union based theron, is in the success of the Democratic party in the free States at the next elec-tion! If we fail, then all is lost, and the hitherto glorious fabric of our once great Government, will fall into the abyss of anarchy, or else upon

In either event our future will be marked in desolated homes, ruined fortunes, the deprivation of personal liberty and personal security, and very possibly our soil and our streams be red-dened with the blood of our own people. The True Story from Cumberland Gap.

Capt. J. A. Terry, Division Quartermaster, just arrived from Cumberland Gap, which he left on the 12th, at noon, reports that DeCoursey's brigade was attacked by Stevenson's rebel division on the 9th, at Tazewell, Tenn., and that Col. Cochran's Fourteenth Kentucky regiment, whipped four rebel regiments. Cochran held and checked their advance.

The Federal loss was 3 killed and 15 wounded, and 57 of the Sixteenth taken prisoners.
We took a rebel Lieutenant Colonel prisoner, whom we exchanged for the 57 prisoners.

The rebel officers admitted a loss of 250 kill-of forage and 70 horses. We lost the knaptwo regiments.

There has been no fight at Big Creek Gap, as reported, nor any other engagement in the vicinity of the Gap or Tazewell than the foregoing. All the reports of the cutting to pieces of Gen. Carter's and Col. Bard's forces by the rebels are utterly false.

Gen. Morgan has thanked DeCoursey and Cochran for their gallantry.

The Knoxville papers give a list of 109 rebels killed at Tazewell.

SOLDIERS PAY IN 1814 .-- It is stated that the drafted men of 1814 received no bounty, but on the contrary, had to furnish their own equipments including gun, knapsack, canteen, car-tridge box and twenty-four rounds of ammunition. Their pay from government eight dollars us, but very few accepted.

There is a beautiful legend illustrating the blessedness of performing our duty at whatever cost to our own inclination. A beautiful vision of our Saviour had appeared to a monk, and in silent bliss he was gazing upon it. The hour arrived at which it was his duty to feed bour arrived at which it was his duty to feed the poor of the convent. He lingered not in his cell to enjoy the vision, but left it to perform his humble duty. When he returned he tound the blessed vision still waiting for him, and uttering these words:—"Hadst thou staid Linery have fled." So sins at a solid should en

The Democratic Address.

We refer our readers, with pride and pleasure to the address of the Democratic State Committee, published in this issue of the Gazette. It is a paper well worthy the perusal of every citizen and one that will receive the hearty endorsement of every true and sincere patriot. It tra-ces the causes of the present unhappy war to ping lightly as a gazelle, the gray haired sire their source and in so doing simply indicates his fire until the enemy were within 150 yards; the truth of history. It shows how secession has been intensified in the South by the insand measures and movements of Abolitionists in the North, and thus only reiterates what the The scholars, having assenbled at the church, the North, and thus only reiterates what the leading Union men of the Border States, in and out of Congress, have stated from time to time We took 213 wagon loads It proposes to cure the evil of Disunion by crush ing armed rebellion by force of arms and by putting down Abolition conspiracies against th Government by the peaceful means of the ballot-box. NAPIER TP., Bedford Co., Aug. 18, '62. MR. EDITOR:-

Fearing you might think that I had gon to the "Southern Skedaderacy," or some other place equally as bad,—if any such there be—I have concluded to let you know that such is not the case, and that "I still live."

Having nothing of much importance to com municate, I must confine myself to a few local facts. The busy time of harvest has passed away at last, and the farmers all appear glad of it. Though late, yet the harvest was good, and also lengthy; owing to the scarcity of hands, as Uncle Sam—Abe rather—has taken away a number of men who would still "dance to the tune of the scythe and the rake." But the work is not all done yet. The earth, in performing its annual revolutions, causes a change of seasons, and consequently a change of avocation.

The farmers are busily engaged preparing the soil for the reception of seed, which in due time will bring another harvest; and present appear ance indicates that a large area will be so ance indicates that a large area will be sown.

Considerable excitement prevails in the community in consequence of the late requisitions for troops. The realities of war are now beginning to be sensibly felt, and those who, in the commencement of the war, so confidently assert-ed that "the rebellion would be put down in six and that "the rebellion would be put down in six months," appear to be the most alarmed: _ngoh-tude than they expected. But all are hoping for the best, and preparing for the worst. It is evident that blood and treasure must be poured out, the former like water, and the latter like sand, ere we can expect to see the Union as it was and the atterned to see the Union as it was, and the stars and stripes floating over ev-ery foot of soil from Maine to the utmost limits of Florida and Texas.

of Florida and Texas.

But I am digressing. The citizens of Fishertown and vicinity had a fine Sabbath School celebration the 16th inst. This place is situated in St. Clair township, on the "Valley Road" leading from Schellsburg to Gideon D. Trout's "Spring Mill," about six and a half miles from the former place and two from the later, and about ten miles nowth west of Redford, Lie about ten miles north-west of Bedford. It is surrounded by a fertile, well cultivated and wealthy district, and contains seven dwelling houses one blacksmith shop, one store, a school-house, and a nice church, situated on a beautiful emi nence. On the morning of the 16th, groups of happy children-rendered doubly so by the pect in view-with their faces beaming with innocent smiles, were seen wending their way to-ward the church; conversing, as they went, about the rich treat, the pleasant time, and much pleasure in store for them.

Not only children assembled, but the young was furrowed by the cares of life, and whose brow was whitened by the frosts of many win ters, all commingled in the throng, to particiwere formed in a procession, followed by the spectators, and

"With Freedom's soil beneath our feet, And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us," all marched to the shrill notes of the fife and the stirring sound of the drum to a beautiful grove on the farm of J. O. Hoover. Here a large table was spread with abundance of the necessaries and luxuries of life—gotten up in the most approved style. After all preliminary arrangements were made, Wm. Kirk, Esq., was called upon to address the audience. He responded in a brief, but eloquent speech, and was followed by Mr. Thomas Ridenour. After the singing of a hymn the members of the school were invited to partake of the rich repast spread during the school, and the efforts of the super-intendent and teachers to train up the children "in the way they should go." Although a large number of spectators had assembled, yet the committee seemed to anticipate their wants, and abundance was supplied for all. Even the appetite of the most voracious epicure could hav been here appeased. In short, it was a rich treat, and much praise is due the committee for the regulations, and the ladies for their labor in companied by his daughter, is at present on a preparing the repeat with which the table was visit to this place and stopping at the Mengel so profusely covered. The "American Cook Book" would be a superfluous article in their hands. After an opportunity had been offered for all to obtain a portion of the staff of life, the table was cleared, and the children sought

enjoyment by assembling in groups and enga

rent the air. But there was one feature, not visible on for mer occasions of the same kind, viz: the landentable condition of our country. The dreadful realities of the past, the gloomy aspect of the present, and serious forebodings of the future, appeared occasionally to depict themselves in gloom upon many countenances. But final concluding to "let the dead past bury its dead

[For the Gazette.] MR. EDITOR :-

I send herewith an extract from a letter written by Rev. Dr. Marks, a Presbyterian clervania regiments, who was taken prisoner dur-ing the battle before Richmond. The extract refers to Adjutant O. H. Gaither, who died in a temporary hospital near Richmond. It appears from Dr. Marks' letter, that Mr. Gaither pears from Dr. Marks letter, that Mr. Gatther lived until Thursday, the 17th of July. It was supposed that he died instantaneously, from a wound received on the 30th of June. The deceased was a consistent member of the Presbyterian church in this place. He shrunk from no duty. He was true to God, to himself, and his country. Some of the will pears forcet the his country. Some of us will never forget the fervency of his addresses at the throne of grace when he led the devotions of the people assembled for social prayer. He was also a teacher in the Sabbath School, from the time he connected himself with the church, until he left us for the seat of war. Our friend died in the service of his country; in the cause of humanity, beneficent government, and religion. We mourn his early death. We loved him as a bre-We had hoped that God would restore him to his place in our community and in the church. But he is gone, we believe, to a higher sphere of activity and enjoyment, to the general assembly and church of the first born, which are enrolled in heaven. There we hope to meet him, and join hands again where separation is unknown. A letter received from our dear friend, shortly before his death, closes with the following sentence: "If it is God's will that I should fall in this war, I trust he will take me the himself order when the letter of the rest with the letter." to himself, where the clash of arms shall be heard no more." R. F. S.

In one of these houses (a farm house near the scene of battle) I found Adjutant Gaither, of the 10th Reserves. The hospital was under the care of Dr. Donnelly, of the 3d Reserves, who had nobly volunteered to remain on the battle-field with our wounded men. When I the Confederate soldiers, and borne to this house. He told me in my first interview that he had been praying to God that some minister of the Gospel might be sent to his dying bed, to counhad answered his prayer. He had been for years a member of the Presbyterian Church, and during his life in the army he had not for saken his Savior. I have seldom winessed a saken his Savior. I have seldom witnessed a more impressive scene. The dying officer, fan-ned and upheld by enemies; the floor of the room covered with wounded men in every pos-ture of interest, or distress—some listening with the greatest anxiety, and others too absorbed in the greatest anxiety, and others too absorbed in their pains to hear anything. In the presence of them all, he bore his testimony, as a dying man, to the righteousness of our cause; that he had no regrets over his early death, for he died for his country. He likewise spoke of his hope as a sinner in the mercy of God, through Jesus Christ; of his painful sense of unworthiness, and that he had accomplished so little of any value, but that he was not withal afraid to die. value, but that he was not withal afraid to die for Christ his Redeemer was mighty to save; and not by works of righteousness, but by his mercy and grace he saved us. At the same time he indited a letter to his parents, full of gratitude and thankfulness for the past, and h the future, and of joyful expectation of an eter-

This was on Saturday, the 5th of July. I returned on Monday, and found that while many whom I had seen on my first visit were gone, the Adjutant had revived and breathed with less painfulness; but he was not hopeful of the end, but felt assured he must die. I bade him furewell, with no expectation of ever seeing him again. But when I reached Richmond, and at 11 o'clock at night was marched into Prison No. 1, I was greeted by many familiar voices; and as I turned the light which I bore in my officers, when I had spoken to him and congratulated him on his safety in Richmond, I said: "And the Adjutant?" "He's there," said his friend, pointing to a camp bedstead, on which the wounded man was lying. I approached him; he grasped my hand, and blessed God that inded man was he again saw me. He again assured me that he could not live; that the conflict was all over, and he now longed to be in the bosom of his Savior; that he felt no fear nor apprehension of the future. This was Sunday, the 13th of July; he did not materially change for the worse until Wednesday following, when it became plain he was passing from us. On Thursday morning, the 17th, he called me to him and said the struggle was nearly over; that his faith in Christ continued unwavering. He asked me to pray with him, and commend his departing spirit to his Redeemer. Nearly the last words he uttered were: "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, and henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, &c., &c.

As I repeated the first words of the 23d Psalm, he took up the words and repeated much of the Psalm, saying, with an eye brightened apparently by the light of another world, and a smiling face, "Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil; for thou art with me, and thy rod and staff com-fort me." His end was peace. About 2 o'clock, P. M., he passed from us, and went up, we hope, ing in the sportive, but innocent amusements of in the spotless robes of

Petty Tyranny. HARRISKURG, PA, August 6.—Brig. Gen. Men and Brethren come, come along! The Government having granted permission to raise two COLORED REGIMENTS, he will be able to swear in all able bodied colored men who may offer, and he confidently expects to raise one company in this place. The joke could parallel for such petty tyranny. onestly be construed to be nothing but a fling at the cry just now making by the abolition press in favor of enlisting negroes. If the editors of the Patriot and Union were guilty of an attempt to retard volunteering how much more guilty are such papers as the Pittsburg Gazette, and New York Tribune, that daily advoca enlistment of negroes; Gov. Sprague of Rhode Island who has accepted several regiments of negroes, and Jim Lane who had declared his negroes, and Jim Lane Who had declared his intention to do the same thing. But a few days ago the Republican press of Pittsburg announced with a flourish of triumph that Jim Lane had been authorized by the President to raise a regiment of colored volunteers. Why were they not arrested. We think the acceptance of negro soldiers would retard volunteering, and therefore he that earnestly recommends it is doing the Union a great wrong and he that discountenances it, by a burlesque or otherwise, doing good. By this petty act of partizan tyr-anny the Republicans tacitly acknowledge that their advocacy of negro enlistments is for the purpose of injuring the cause. If it is treason to create the impression that negroes are to be accepted it cannot be patriotic to urge their accepted. Her last illness
