BEDFORD GAZETTE. B. F. MEYERS, EDITOR.

FRIDAY, MARCH 27, 1862.

The Huntingdon "Globe."

We have a very few words for the editor of the Huntingdon Globe, whose name is Lewis .- Let not any of our readers suppose that he is offkin to the notorious David Lewis, for the exploits of that chivalrous gentleman on the Bedford and Chambersburg turnpike, were of a more honorable character than those performed by his modern namesake on the Pennsylvania canal, the Pennsylvania railroad, and latterly, on that much frequented line of travel so popular with political rogues, the Underground Railroad.-This man Lewis is a great patriot-a roaring, ranting, raving "war-man"-a fellow who hates peace, loves carnage, revels in blood and snuffs the smell of gunpowder afar off. Once he was only a Democrat. But that was when Frank. Pierce was in the Presidential chair, and Wm. Lewis was Postmaster at Huntingdon. When James Buchanan came into power, Lewis suddenly became disgusted with the duties of Postmaster, the President having put a stop (called a Colon) to his official labors, which at once put a period to his existence as a Democrat. Ever since that eventful time, Lewis has been a patriot, which, according to his understanding of the term, is to oppose Democratic principles, vilify Democratic men, disorganize the Demo-cratic party, and to be well paid by the Abolitionists for these services. Last week, his patriotism demanded that he should misr present the meaning of an article which recently appeared editorially in this paper. With a mendacity that would have done honor to Ananias of old. the charges us with calling upon the people "to resist the Marshal in the discharge of his duty." If Lewis was sober when he wrote this, he knew it to be false. We have never, not even by innuendo, said or written one word intended to incite the people to physical resistance of the officers of the law. What we have done, has been to make the minions of the present corrupt and tyrannical Administration (such as patriot Lewis) odious and despicable, in order that honest mon and true friends of the Union may be legally placed in power in their stead. But if Lewis deems us guilty of "treason," let him have us arraigned in Court and tried. We are ready and willing to face him or any other of the pampered blood-hounds of the Administration at the bar of public justice.

Our globular accuser also talks about some body denying reinforcements to the Federal armies, and asks, "Who but a traitor can stand idly by and refuse reinforcements?" We answer, who more than William Lewis "stands idly by" and refuses his own precious carcass as a "reinforcement !" His rotund and burly body would serve to stop as many rebel bullets as that a traitor by his own confession. Where is the gibbet? Up with him!

As to the personal fling in which this virtudulge, styling us "poor," &c., we have but this to say, that if we had deserted principle for the take of the spoils, if we could have been mean enough to be a "rat" on the canal or a catspaw for a corporation, or if we had taken the bloodmoney which this war brings to the pockets of some people, we might be about as rich as William Lewis. Let the patriot of the Globe batten upon the miseries of the people, let him enjoy the crumbs which fall to him from his Washington master's table; let him howl for more battle, more bloodshed, more weeping widows more wailing orphans, more squalor, raggedness, penury and crime, and let him receive his pay for doing so; but as for us, give us poverty in preference to such self-degradation, nay, give us death rather than such abject slavery to the foulest passions and to wicked men who play apon them for their own base purposes.

BEDFORD BOROUGH ELECTION. Splendid Democratic Triumph ! Every officer elected, but one. Democrats !

Copperheads About!

At the election held in this borough, on Friday last, the democracy achieved a signal victory. The whole Democratic ticket, with a single exception, was elected by more than the usual majority. Mr. Alex. Henderson, the late High Constable, was elected Constable, on the Abolition ticket, by a very small majority. Last year his majority was 50; this year it is 10. The Democrats of Bedford borough will hereafter say to Mr. Henderson, as some 25 of his former friends said to him this time. "You are in the wrong boat ! Get out of the Abolition ship, or we, your personal friends, must let you sink ! You are a good fellow, but good fellowship is no salt to savor bad politics! 'The handwriting is on the wall! Read and be warned !" But to the returns :

Heretofore, the Democratic majority, at Spring Elections, of any other man of the same size. Why, he is was about 30, sometimes a little more, sometimes considerably less. This portends a sweep ing vote for the Democracy at the Fall election, and all that is necessary to make a second Cumons gentleman and intense patriot chooses to in- berland Valley of Bedford township, is organization and a full and energetic canvass. Une Hundred Years Ago. In the summer of 1763, the country west of Shippensburg was at the mercy of the savages, and the people were obliged to quit their farms and seek protection in the towns. Forts Bed-ford and Ligonier still held out, though belea-guered by the Indians, and at Fort Pitt—now Pittsburg—the supply of provisions was too small to sustain a long siege, there being in it nearly six hundred persons. 200 of whom were amail to sustain a long sidge, there boing in it nearly six hundred persons, 200 of whom were women and children, who had taken refuge there. Col. Boquet was, therefore, sent to their relief, with about 500 men. He marched in July, and, having relieved Bedford and Ligonier, advanced towards Fort Pitt. When less than a day's march west of Ligonier, near Bushy Run, he was suddenly attacked by the Indians, and only escaped the fate of Braddock by his supe-rior knowledge of their mode of warfare. After a desperate conflict he completely routed and dispersed his assailants, with a loss of 116 men and 8 officers killed, and a great many wounded the Indians lost 60 warriors. After the battle, the army marched unmolested to Fort Pitt, re lieved the garrison, and supplied the post with arms, ammunition and provision HISTORY.

The undersigned citizens of Bedford borough and vicinity, have formed themselves into an as-sociation for the following purposes: Considering the enormous number of young and vicinity, have formed themselves into an as-sociation for the following purposes: First, the restoration of the administration of the Government to the principles and policy of the Fathers of the Republic, to the end that the Union may, if possible, be re-established as it was, the Constitution maintained as it is, and an early, honorable and enduring peace be ob-tained for our rent and almost runned country. We mean HotLoway's Pitts.tained for our reat and almost runned country. Secondly, and as a corollary to the above, the preservation of the reserved rights of the Ointment and Pills which bear the name of that the preservation of the reserved rights of the States and the jealous and vigilant vindication of the liberty of the citizen, (including as most prominent features of that liberty, the right of free speech and a free press, and the unobstruct-ed freedom of the ballot). In order to the successful accomplishment of these purposes, it shall be the object of this as store the strength and appetite with a rapidity that is really astonishing.
