THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

Andrew Johnson is true to the interests of the Conservative men of the country. His second annual message to Congress, which we lay before our readers on the first page, proves that he will take no step backward from the position which he assumed in his first annual message. On the other hand, he goes much further in this message than in the former, by way of arguing and explaining his position. And what could be more candid, dignified, lucid and convincing, than the argument which he makes in favor of representation in Congress for the ten excluded States? We put it to any fair-minded man, no matter what may be his political proclivities, is not the President's logic sound? It cannot be denied that the style of the message indicates cultivated taste, and that its whole tenor reflects credit upon its author. Contrast it with the spiteful and malignant legislation of Congress, and in what favorable light it places the President! Not a line of bitterness toward Congress, not the least trace of acrimony toward those who have traduced and hunted him down, is to be found in its whole length, but from beginning to end a firm reliance upon good motives and a righteous cause as the ultimate vindication of the President's course, is the characteristic of this truly admirable state paper. Mr. Johnson has planted himself upon the rock of the Constitution, and he will stand there in sunshine and in storm. The angry billows of fanaticism will dash around him in vain. Secure upon this eternal basis of liberty, he will stand unshaken until he shall see the storm abate, and the troubled waters quietly roll at his feet beneath the sunshine of a perfect peace.

RING IT IN THEIR EARS.

"Taxation without Representation is Tyranny!" Ring it in the ears of Congress! Let the people hear it! Let the wide world know how ten sovereign States are disfranchised! Read your dusty old copies of the Declaration of Independence over again! Let the State House bell be rung once more, and let another John Hancock proclaim, "Taxation without Representation is Tyranny!" Speak it, write it, print it, engrave it, sing it, and shout it, throughout all the land, till the utmost bounds of civilization shall give back the echo, "Taxation without Representation is Tyranny!" God of justice! Shall Thad. Stevens fare better than Lord North? Shall Boutwell be mightier than George the Third?

Ten States, eight millions of people, are taxed without their consent. They are voiceless in the choice of their rulers, in the making of their laws. They are groaning under the Tyranny of "Taxation without Representation." Now, where is the miscreant slave who will dare to say that this wrong shall not be redressed?

THE Delaware Republican, edited by Y. S. Walter, Esq., opposes the election of Gov. Curtin as U. S. Senator. The Republican intimates that the Governor cannot be trusted on the issues of the day. You are right there, Mr. Walter. He has deceived both parties. It is not in his nature to be true to anybody. We Democrats have fully provided that fact.

NEW YORK CITY will do. The other day her Democracy elected a Comptroller by 2,000 majority over the Mongrel candidate, an independent Democratic candidate taking 20,000 votes from the regular nominee, and 25,000 Democrats not voting. Mongrelism in the Metropolis, is a mere toy for Democrats to play with.

PROSCRIPTION.

When President Johnson removed some of the brawling disunionists who used the patronage of the Administration to create opposition to its policy, the act was pronounced proscription and tyrannical. No sooner, however, does Congress meet, than the Senate decapitates Messrs. Cowan, Dixon, and Doolittle, taking from each the chairmanship of the committee held by him during the former session. Pray, by what name shall this petty vengeance be called? If it be not proscription, what is it?

RAF them over the knuckles! Some of our Democratic exchanges are publishing prospectuses of Abolition periodicals and are receiving proofs therefor from their editorial brethren. We are glad to see that the Democratic press is waking up to the importance of fighting the insidious literature of New England. Yankeeism is venal and if you but strike at its pockets, it will come down on its marrow bones.

The Herald is the title of a new paper just started at Columbia, by Geo. Young and W. H. Grier. It is a racy and entertaining sheet and soundly Democratic. Politically, the Herald has a fine field for operations, and, we doubt not, will make its influence felt in dispelling the darkness of benighted Lancaster. Success, say we, to the Columbia Herald.

WASHINGTON.

The Re-assembly of Congress—Henry Clay, James Raymond, &c.—The President's Message, Boutwell, &c., &c. Correspondence of the Bedford Gazette.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8, 1866.

MR. EDITOR:—The assembling of Congress on Monday last, was signalized by an immediate attack upon the Constitutional prerogatives of the President, by the Mongrel majority in the lower House. Scarcely had the sound of the speaker's gavel ceased, as the House was called to order, when a bill was introduced, and rushed through under party pressure, repealing that part of the act of 1862 which authorized the President to pardon persons engaged in the rebellion. This course of action had been determined upon by the Mongrel caucus on Saturday evening previous, and was intended to frighten the Southern States into the ratification of the infamous Amendment passed at the last session. The Senate, however, refused, by a close vote, to take up the bill, though Chandler, of Michigan, tried his best to bully Senators into following the hasty example of the House. The bill was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary, where I predict it will slumber awhile, as the Mongrels fear that in the event of its passage, the President will, under the power conferred upon him by the Constitution, issue a proclamation of general amnesty, which would hurt them infinitely more than the special pardons which he has granted, or may issue. Thus does the Constitution protect itself and those who stand by it.

Gen. Rousseau is back again in his seat. You will remember that he was censured, last session, for causing that reverend slanderer, Grinnell, of Iowa, and that he resigned in consequence. His constituents returned him by an overwhelming vote, which means, if Grinnell lies again, Rousseau is to give him another ratting-ry. I notice, also, the presence of the shameless Raymond, whose Janus-face looks in two different directions at the same time. He is the fellow who read the platform of the Philadelphia National Union Convention held in August last. You remember that he said in that address that if the Southern States accepted the degrading conditions which were sought to be imposed upon them by the Radicals, they would be unworthy citizens of a free country. Such was the substance of the remarks, if not the exact language, used by this delectable Conservative. Well, no sooner had Maine and Vermont voted, than Raymond turned tail upon the National Union Convention, and made a straight coat tail for the camp of the Mongrel Radicals. His paper, the N. Y. Times, came out in favor of the Amendment and threatened the Southern people that if they didn't accept the "degrading conditions" offered them in that Amendment, they would fare worse. He also did his best to defeat Mr. Clymer in your State, and Mayor Hoffman, in New York. Notwithstanding his services to the Mongrels he was kicked out of the "Republican National Committee," and taboed generally by the leaders of the party to which he professed to belong. The other night he ventured to poke his nose into the Mongrel Caucus, when old Stevens discovered his presence, and the Mongrels began at once to consider among themselves the propriety of inviting him to leave. A resolution to that effect was offered, which received some 25 votes, but was lost. Down sat Raymond, as big a dog as any in the kennel and as ready to growl at the Southern people because they will not accept "degrading conditions" as the men with whom he affects to disagree. What an infernal hound he is!

The President's message has just been announced, and Old Thad. doesn't care about hearing it. He has moved to postpone its reading, but the House feels disposed to listen to it. It is received with attention and I can see a bitter smile on the countenance of that old knave Boutwell, of Massachusetts. He is one of the miserable tricksters who in the Peace Convention of 1861 refused to listen to any compromise, and who would have nothing but war. He said then, to some of the Southern representatives at that Convention, "We will either march our armies to the Gulf of Mexico, or you will march yours to Canada." This pestilent fellow means more war, more blood, and what is the all in all to him and his section, more plunder. The firmness of the President makes him writhe in his seat, and the dignified, yet pointed manner in which the message puts the position of the Executive up for the question of Southern representation, makes him very uneasy. He has had in his mind to draw up articles of impeachment against the President. But he is a coward and fears to meet a man of such mettle as is exhibited in the document which is just being read. The temper of the message has given great satisfaction to moderate men of all parties. Even "Republicans" declare that if Congress renew the quarrel with the President, on any thing uttered in this message, they will go with him and against Stevens and his faction. It is seen and felt here, that the firmness and dignity of the message have strengthened the Conservative cause greatly. Thanks to Andrew Johnson! He will yet be sustained, as he would be to-day, could every American have a voice in the government. There will, beyond all doubt, be an effort made by the ultra men in Congress, to destroy the power of the President. They want to insure the success of their party in the next Presidential election, and they are willing and ready to do anything to secure that end. They are already beginning to talk about legislating so as to exclude the ten Southern States not represented in Congress, from the Electoral College. Well, let them undertake that, and they'll have somebody else than "grey-backs" to whip! As to impeachment, they would like to try it, but they are afraid lest the sympathies of the people might run in the wrong direction. Their plan will evidently be to get up some kind of a smelting committee, which will take one side of all the evidence that perjurers like Holt's man Conover, and cattle of that description can be procured to give against the President, and then print a report at the expense of the people, and scatter it broadcast as an electioneering document. Now, mark my word, if this isn't all their impeachment business will amount to. But smelting committees are about played out. People will not be humbugged by one side of a story when they can't get to see the other side. I don't believe that they will get much of their ultra work through the Senate. That body appears to be a little squeamish and doesn't swallow the dose prepared in the House without some signs of disgust. I look for moderation in the Senate, but there is no telling to what extent the majority of that body may be driven by the party lash. I miss greatly the pleasant countenance of your former representative, Hon. A. H. Coffroth. I hear that "Alec" is Assessor of Internal Revenue for his old district. I hope he will not forget the fact that he needs to be confirmed before he is safe in his new office. I mention this only in the hope that, if he sees it, he may be reminded that he ought to be here to look after his interests. The fact is, Alec, your friends here want to see you. Should anything remarkable transpire here between this and next Saturday, I will telegraph you. P.V.

LETTER FROM UNCLE TOBY.

IN THE SHADOW OF THE MOUNTAIN, December 10, 1866.

DEAR EDITOR:—U. T. never was in such trouble as now threatens him on every side. He is blamed, on the one hand, for writing those petty slanders "Pilgrim" letters to the Inquirer, and on the other he is charged with trying to curry favor with those whom he formerly denounced as "drunkards," "gamblers," &c. Now, isn't this too bad? Uncle Toby to be considered a poor miserable defamer of those who have been his warm and consistent friends, Uncle Toby to be pronounced so mean as to drag his private grievances into the public prints, as "Pilgrim" has done in regard to the school-teacher business! Does any one who knows the undersigned, believe, for a moment, that if he had a son who was refused the charge of a country school, that he would fly into the newspapers and blazon that son's ill luck to the world? Not a bit of it. U. T. is no such fool as that. He would expect people to come to the natural conclusion that his son was considered worth to teach, and for the sake of his would keep as quiet about it as possible. Again, would U. T. abuse a gallant and honorable soldier, simply because he didn't happen to vote the ticket supported by U. T.? Or, would your old friend, riding in his car of progress, step out of his pleasant carriage, to get into the company of the "drunkards" and "gamblers" whom he was wont so fiercely to denounce? No, no! These things are not at all consistent with the character of Uncle Toby. It will not be taken as vanity in me, if I say that Uncle Toby's profession is to speak "peace, good will toward men," that he is a minister of the meek and lowly Nazarene who counseled us that when smitten on one cheek, we should turn the other also to him, that smote, and that he is a teacher of that sacred Word which tells us, "Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be God." How, then, could Uncle Toby be the author of the embittered scribbles of "Pilgrim"? How could he draggle his sacerdotal robes in the track of slander, and stain his preacher's vestment with the "gall of bitterness"? How could he, by miserable, sneaking innuendo, assail private citizens who have been his friends, or sit in a village post office or country store, eaves-dropper-like, to catch the private conversation of his neighbors so that he may

REPORT IT FOR PUBLICATION IN THE NEWS-PAPERS?

AVANT! would you insult me beyond endurance, then charge me with so vile an act as any of these! Then, that I, Uncle Toby, should be blamed with dabbling in politics, I who have always opposed interference in political matters by ministers of the Gospel! Now, isn't such misrepresentation of my position too outrageously bad? If any body despises a political preacher, it is myself. He is the nastiest, foulest-mouthed, most hypocritical, corrupt and generally villainous compound of earth and spirit that God permits to exist. Yet those who charge me with the authorship of "Pilgrim's" letters, by that very charge, make me out such a dog as this. "Can such things be and overcome us like a summer's cloud, without our special wonder?" But, time will set all things even, and I am content to wait for my vindication. Meanwhile let all beware how they talk of that miserable excrement of scribble-don, "Pilgrim," as being the same person as

CONGRESS.

SENATE.—The petitions of Gen. Jeff. C. Davis, and of other officers of the army, asking for an increase of pay were presented and referred to the Committee on Military Affairs. The bill taking away the pardoning power from the President was reported from the Committee on the Judiciary for immediate consideration, but objection being made it went over. The Secretary of War was requested to inform the Senate whether Commissioners had been appointed to award payments to loyal slave-owners for slaves drafted or enlisted in the army, and, if so, whether any report has been made by such Commissioners. A bill was also introduced suspending all payments as compensation to owners of slaves drafted or enlisted in the army until the final report of the Commissioners had been made and approved by Congress. It was referred to the Committee on Finance. Joint resolutions of the Vermont Legislature in favor of negro suffrage throughout the United States and the District of Columbia were presented and laid on the table. Notice was given that on Monday next the bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy for the United States will be taken up, and also that the resolution disbarring militia organizations in the Southern States and prohibiting their re-organization, will be taken up at an early day. The Senate then adjourned until Monday next.

HOUSE.—The Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads was instructed to inquire into the propriety of conferring upon the Postoffice Department the sole jurisdiction over telegraph lines now in operation, or to be constructed, as it now exercises over postoffices and roads. A resolution was passed calling on the Postmaster General for the names of all postmasters removed since the last session of Congress, the cause of removal, names of the new appointees, and as to the increase of salaries. Mr. Williams' bill regulating appointments and removals of postmasters was taken up, and an amendment was offered allowing the heads of Departments to appoint all their assistants and subordinates, subject to the consent of the Senate. The further consideration of the bill was then postponed until Monday next. The President was requested to inform the House whether any portion of Mexican territory has been occupied by United States troops, and if so, for what purpose and by whose authority. A resolution was passed appointing a committee of three to proceed at once to New Orleans and institute a thorough inquiry into the cause of the riots in that city during last July. The Committee on the Judiciary was instructed to inquire as to what legislation is necessary to prevent the counting of electoral votes from States not entitled to representation. A resolution was adopted instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to provide by law for the exclusion of all persons who served in any capacity under the Confederate Government from exercising the right of suffrage in the District of Columbia. The resolutions introduced by Mr. Myers, of Pennsylvania, on Tuesday, calling on the President for information in regard to appointments made during the recess were taken up and passed. Mr. Schenck's bill changing the time of the meeting of Congress to the 4th day of March for the first session and to the second Monday of January for the second session was taken up, and a long debate ensued, during which a number of amendments were proposed. Pending the consideration of the bill and amendments the House adjourned until Monday next.

STARTLING DISCLOSURES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The report of the investigating committee discloses startling frauds upon the Government. Parties in high position in the South during the war are seriously implicated. The frauds amount to HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS. No wonder the "loyal" scoundrels were opposed to the cessation of hostilities and denounced as "copperheads" all who favored that object. Whilst contractors, and sutlers, and commissaries, and provost marshals, &c. were swindling the people, they were brim full of patriotism, and were ready to mob, and imprison, and talk loudly about preserving "the best government the world ever saw;" yet, at the same time, they were stealing themselves rich. The truth is the people will never know how much these Radical robbers have stolen until the Democratic party gets into power and is enabled to unearth the rascality and corruption that is now covered up. Even now these self same parsons of New England honesty and "love of country are set in uncompromising hostility to a reconstruction of the Union, for the reason that the rascally "rebels" would thereby be invested with rights and privileges of which they are undeserving! Only think of it, hundreds of millions of dollars stolen by those who held high official positions during the war! But, a Radical Congress will, no doubt, wink at these stupendous frauds, and swear that it is a story concocted by "rebels and rebel sympathizers," and most probably their poor deluded fanatical followers will believe them, and "stick to the party."—Crawford Democrat.

THE RUMP CONGRESS.

The Rump Congress has a short lease of life—twelve weeks. It rattles and rants and roars—sound signifying nothing except impotence and jobs. The corrupt jobs which will signalize this session, the tariff plundering, and the currency swindling, are all well hid behind this rattling, raving, and roaring. They are trying to get the country to look at the South, and meanwhile are tarring their own hands preparatory to plunging them deeper in the public treasury and the people's pockets.—The World.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

SCHENCK'S SEAWOOD TONIC.—This medicine, invented by Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the food and make it into chyle, the first process of digestion. By cleansing the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food that could not be eaten before using it will be easily digested. Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the SEAWOOD TONIC, and three or four boxes of the MANDRAKE PILLS will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal office in Philadelphia every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on Consumption, for his days of visitation.
