1867. -"THE WORLD."-1867. The attention of the public is invited to the claims of "The World" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost adveate of the immediate, restoration of the Union. Its highest merits consists in its character as an enterprising and trustworthy newspaper. York, commensurate with the wants of the tra-ternity, and to erect an Asylum for decayed Ma-sons and the indigent and infirm widows of Masons and their orphans. A large fund has been collec-ted for this, purpose, but more is needed, which it is believed will be generously and promptly given by the charitable public; and those immediately interested in the welfare of the Order.

The next year bids fair to be a more critical on in the history of our free institutions than even any eventul ones that have preceded it. The first requisite for an intelligent judgment of public af-fairs is a full and authentic account offacts as they fairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These The World always aims to give with consciencious accuracy, and with equal full-ness and fidelity, whether they make for or against its own views of public policy. Prompt activity in spreading before its readers every kind of news in which any part of the public takes an interst, is the first duty of a newspaper, and the facilities of The World for discharging this obligation are unsurpassed by those of any journal in the United States. Whatever else it may failin, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abund-OF THE GRAND MASTER OF MASONS,

Let those laws be held in strict respect, a blessing will surely follow, and you will receive thanks of thousands. Thanking you for your kind remembrance of the with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. The World will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making, its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or gerbling them because they making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments, which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. The World adopts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance. In politics, The World will continue to be the bold advocate of a Liberal, Progressive Democracy. The unflinching champion of Freedom, Justice, Order and Constitutional Rights. The inspiration of its polities is Freedom restrained by Justice; or, to speak more strictly, Freedom pure and simple, in the largest collective measure; the office of justice being merely to protect freedom from encroachments, Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, speech, religion and domotion; ments; Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, speech, religion and locomotion; in his Right to choose his own food and drink; in spite of meddlesome temperance laws; in his Right to make any money bargains he thinks proper, in spite of foolish usury laws; in his Right to buy and sell in all markets, domestic and foreign, in spite of unjust protective tariffs; in his Right to representation in the legislative bodies which tax him, in write of unconstitutional explanators. Freedom of aptrainterest of the country and of the numar race.

In its accurate Commercial Intelligence and careful, reliable market reports, The World will continue to maintain its present high reputation.

A paper published in the commercial metropolis is naturally looked to for authentic information relating to trade, commerce and finance; and this being a feature in which the The World prides itself, it boldly challenges comparison with every journal in the metropolis.

EDITIONS.

The Weekly World, a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, is now printed throughout in large type, and has the largest circulation of any weekly journal published, save one. Its extraordinary success since its union with the New York Argus has justified the most liberal expenditures, which will make it unrivalled in interest and value to farmers. Published Wednesday.

I. Its Market Reports embrace the New York, Albany, Brighton and Cambridge Live Stock Markets; the New York Country Produce and General Produce Markets; special and valuable Hop Intelligence; a department of Agricultural Reading; all together composing an unrivalled handbook of current information for the Farmer, Live Stock of Produce Dealer, Country Merchant, &c.

together composing an unrivalled handbook of cutse rent information for the Farmer, Live Stock of Produce Dealer, Country Merchant, &c.

2. A page or more reserved for entertaining Fireside Reading for the Family circle, embracing the freshest and best Stories, Poetry, Religious Reading, etc., and a page for the Discussion of all Prominent Topics of general interest, political agricultural, financial, literary, etc.

3. Its Digest of the News is not, like most weeklies, a mere waste-basket of the Daily; only matters of interest and importance are chosen from the Daily, while the mass of its contents are prepared especially for the Weekly.

In every postoffice district there should be found some active, public spirited Democrat, who will confer a benefit upon us, his neighbors, and the cause, by counseling with his Democratic friends and making a determined effort to form as large a club as possible for the Weekly World.

The Semi-Weekly World is a large quarto sheet, same size as Daily, which, by omitting a great mass of city advertisements from the Daily, contains all its news, correspondence, editorials, commercial and market news cattle market and provision reports, and a fresh and entertaining miscellany of literature. Published Tuesday and Friday.
