1867. -"THE WORLD."-1867. The attention of the public is invited to the claims of "The World" as one of the leading public journals of the country. It is the chief organ of the Democratic Party of the United States, and the foremost advocate of the immediate restoration of the Union. Its highest merits consists in its character as an enterprising and trastworthy news.

The next year bids fair to be a more critical or in the history of our free institutions than even any eventful ones that have preceded it. The first requsite for an intelligent judgment of public af-fairs is a full and authentic account of facts as they transpire. These The World always aims to give with consciencious accuracy, and with equal fullith consciencious accuracy, and with equal full ess and fidelity, whether they make for or agains its own views of public policy. Prompt activi in spreading before its readers every kind of nein which any part of the public takes an interist the first duty of a newspaper, and the faciliti of The World for discharging this obligation a unsurpassed by those of any journal in the Unit States. Whatever else it may failing it certain States. Whatever else it may fail in, it certainly will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply will not fail to furnish the news, nor to supply it with such promptitude, spirit, freshness, abundance, variety, accuracy and candor, that no class of readers can miss anything of interest which they wish to find. The World will publish documents and arguments prepared by political foes just as freely as those prepared by political friends; making its own comments on them, of course, but never suppressing or garbling them because they are calculated to damage its own party. Adverse arguments, which it cannot refute, it is content to leave to make their full impression. The World adopts this rule because it believes no other is leave to make their full impression. The World adopts this rule because it believes no other is honest; because it conceives that its first duty to its readers is to keep them thoroughly informed on every passing subject of importance. In polities, The World will continue to be the bold advented in Liberal Progressive Development. tics, THE WORLD will continue to be the bold advocate of a Liberal, Progressive Democracy. The unflinching champion of Freedom, Justice, Order and Constitutional Rights. The inspiration of its politics is Freedom restrained by Justice; or, to speak more strictly, Freedom pure and simple, in the largest collective measure; the office of justice being merely to protect freedom from encroachments; Freedom of the individual citizen in his rights of thought, such religion and learnering. rights of thought, speech, religion and locomotion, in his Right to choose his own food and drink, it spite of meddlesome temperance laws; in his Right to make any money bargains he thinks proper, it spite of foolish usury laws; in his Right to buy and spill in all property downs. sell in all markets, domestic and oreign, in spite of unjust protective tariffs; in his Right to represonation in the legislative bodies which tax him, in spite of unconstitutional exclusions; Freedom of collective citizens to assemble for discussion of grievances; Freedom of all local communities to manage their local affairs without central interference; Freedom in every section of the country from the arrogant and unconstitutional domination from the arrogant and unconstitutional domination of other sections; this large and comprehensive idea of Freedom sums up the politics of The World, which will never be found wanting to this capital interest of the country and of the human

In its accurate Commercial Intelligence and careful, reliable market reports, THE WORLD will continue to maintain its present high reputation.
