SAD OCCURRENCE! A HOUSE WITH TWO LITTLE CHILDREN CONSUMED BY FIRE !- We receive with pain the news contained in the following:

RIDDLESBURG, Pa., Feb 5, '68. MESSRS EDITORS: -Our usually quiet neighborhood was thrown into quite an excitement yesterday. A man by the name of John Evans, with his family, consisting of a wife and two small children (the oldest a little over 2 years old) residing across the river ford Cemetery Association, will be defrom this place, met with a terrible calamity yesterday, at about 12 o'clock. The youngest child had been sick all the previous night, and yesterday morning, after Mr. Evans had left the house to go to his work and his wife had done up her morning's house-work, the latter left the youngest child in the cradle and the oldest to rock it until she would run to a neighbor's, a short distance, in sight of her own house, to get something for her sick child. She says she was not gone over ten or fifteen minutes, when on retracing her steps homeward, she discovered the house on fire. She raised the alarm and the woman to whose house she had gone, ran along with her, but before they reached the house the up- fitted with wings flapped by per portion had commenced falling in, and, it is thought some of the timber had fallen against the door, for, in trying to open it, they found it fast. This was fortunate, in one respect, as if the mother had succeeded in opening the door, she too, in all probability, would have perished with her dear children. It was with great difficulty, that the neighbor woman could prevent the mother from rushing into the flames after the house was almost entirely consumed. This is another sad warning to mothers not to leave small children without some one to take care of them. These unfortunate people lost all their little property, only leaving them what they had on their backs. Mrs. Evans was badly burned in her efforts to get into the house. H.

Correction .-- Some vexatious errors occurred in our issue of last week. of Receipts and Expenditures of the Prime Lard, 'SEEDS.—We quote in the Report of the County Auditors corrected, in lifting the matter from the galleys to the press, some of the types dropped out, and in replacing them, the press-man got them considerably mixed: The reader will find the errors corrected in this issue. For instance in last week's edition, the salary of David Howsare, as Commissioner, was placed at $1209.10!! whereas it is but $209.10; the salary of M. S. Ritchey at $91,800!!! whereas it is $191.80; Fox of $413.96; Assessors making returns | ter was not forgotten. $010.96!! instead of 1010.90, &c. We BALCLAY-HARDSOCK-On the 30th ult., at console ourselves by adopting the old adage, that 'mistakes will happen in the best of families,' and we may add, pi will be made in the best of printing

THE AMERICAN FARMER'S HORSE Book.—This is truly a book of surpassing interest and value. It contains, in addition to the subjects usually treated of in similar works, a full description of the causes and nature of the several diseases peculiar to the American Horse; together with original, simple and effective modes of treatment, including those of some diseases heretofore considered incurable; and, also, an extended treatise on stock raising and management. The book is from the pen of Robert Stewart, M. D., V.S., and is having a very rapid sale, 10,000 copies of it having been sold in less than two months. J. B. FARQUHAR, of this place, is agent for this book, and is now engaged in receiving subscriptions. We hope our readers will act the part of wisdom and subscribe for

THE WORLD AT HOME, published by Evans & Co., Philadelphia. This is a new enterprise, and bids fair to be a success. To secure a large circulation, the publishers have adopted the "dividend system." A large sum of money has been setapart and invested in goods. such as are most needed in the household, and each subscriber is allowed to participate in them. This should not be confounded with gift and ticket enterprises as they have heretofore existed. It is not pretended that more is given than subscribers pay for, but simply that the profits of the first year's publication will in this manner be used to enlarge the subscription list. We consider this magazine alone as fully worth the price charged. It contains a fine collection of original reading matter, and is embellished with a wellfinished picture of Dickens and other beautiful engravings. We commend it as a magazine of merit. Price, with privilege of participation in goods, $3 00 per year.
