"Light, more light!" is the startling cry of the honest people groping in the darkness of Radicalism. "Light, more light!" shouts the groaning taxpayer, bending under the load which a Radical Congress has heaped upon him. "Light, more light!" is the pleading cry that comes to us from those who earnestly seek a remedy for the disease that is tugging at the vitals of the nation. Look and ye shall see! Read and ye shall know! The BEDFORD GAZETTE, for the Presidential Campaign, will be a complete compendium of political news, speeches, documents and every thing that pertains to a political canvass in the columns of a weekly newspaper. It will be published from the first day of June at the following low terms, cash in advance:

Rev. Dr. Pohlman proceeded to address the Governor. We have no desire to indulge in severe criticism of was one of courtesy on the part of the heads of a great Christian denomination, to the executive of a great State, then was the speech-with its cant about "loyalty," "reconstruction" and the Governor,-in exceedingly bad taste. We make an extract:

"I know it is usual to address the his 'Excellency', but in New York it is our custom to think and speak of General Geary, remembering the battle among the clouds, and the triumphant march to the sea-as the brave defender of our Union, and I am thereforeinclined to address you as the brave General of the Republic," &c.

That touch about the clouds, is very fine. Did the Doctor mean that the pious Geary had been translated to the skies, amid cherubim and seraphim, just out of reach of unfriendly bullets, and had come down in the moment of victory? But, in the meantime, while Geary, perched on the edge of a cloud, was serenely surveying the field, where were Sherman and Thomas and

THE LADY'S FRIEND FOR JUNE .-Whatever the Ladies' Magazines may have been in times past, some of those of the present day, both in respect to engravings and as to their literary contents, are of a very high character. The steel engravings are executed in the best style of art-the fashions are refined, judicious and elegant-while their literary contents often surpass in their peculiar line the efforts of the masculine monthlies. To blame these magazines for not being more solid and heavy, is as sensible as to blame a young girl for not being an old man-or a rose for not being a potato. We take the magazine before us-one of the best of its class-and what do we find? A well executed and suggestive steel engraving, called "The Prisoner of State." A handsome and picturesque colored steel fashion plate of Fancy Costumes. - n interesting wood ongraving of the "First Church in England;" and a number of other engravings illustrative of the present modes for women and children's dresses. And, in addition to all this, novelets A Physician who had Consumption for several and stories by such writers as Harriet Prescott Spofford, Elizabeth Prescott, Amanda M. Douglass, August Bell, a rank in literature, as it evidently press. Send for a circular or call on does in fashion. The truth is that, so costly are the adornments of these ladies' magazines, it takes a very large edition even to pay their expenses. The "Lady's Friend" is published by Deacon & Peterson, 319 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, at $2.50 a year (which At one o'clock Mr. McCreery moved also includes a large steel engraving.) THE GALAXY.—We have before us the June number of the best of the literary monthlies. The "Galaxy" is able, sensible and just; able as a literary work, sensible as to its editorials and just in its criticism. "Steven Lawrence, Yeoman," is concluded in the present number. "Jarocho Life," by Mayne Reid, and "A Trip to Wyandotte Cave," by F. M. Cary, are worth the price of one year's subscirption. There is also a number of fine illustrations.
