

Friday Morning, February 26, 1890.

NO WONDER.

It is not at all strange that the voters of the Radical party in this county grope in darkness, considering they are fed upon such food as that served up to them in the Bedford Inquirer.

"The beauties of a thoroughly Democratic government are just now being exhibited in New York city. Murder and crime of every kind is rife. The city government is either unwilling or utterly unable to remedy this deplorable state of affairs.

The editor of the Inquirer, in the above article, seeks to deceive his readers, by asserting that the government of New York city is "thoroughly Democratic." He knows better. He knows that the police regulations of that city are in the hands of a board of commissioners appointed by the Legislature of New York State.

It "murder and crime of every kind is rife" (excuse the grammar) as the Inquirer hath it, it is the fault of the Radical police, appointed by the Radical commissioners, who are selected by the Radical legislature at Albany.

Yes, New York is governed from Albany, and the result is, to repeat the language of the Inquirer, that "murder and crime of every kind is rife" in the metropolis. It is now proposed that Philadelphia shall be governed from Harrisburg; that a police commission similar to that of New York shall be appointed by our State Legislature.

Again we say, it is matter of little surprise that the Radicals of this county are wrapped in Egyptian darkness, when their organ at Bedford deliberately blindfolds them as in the article copied above. Will not some of them tear Lutz's bandage from their eyes that they may see?

PAY OF LEGISLATORS.

The House on Tuesday night last refused by a very large vote to increase the pay of its members from one thousand dollars to fifteen hundred. Many members believe that if Congressmen receive five thousand dollars a year, the pay of a member of Assembly at Harrisburg should be increased so as to bear something like a just proportion to that of a representative at Washington.

There is no doubt that the people of the great State of Pennsylvania have always shown a willingness to pay their public servants liberally. For the services of intelligent, high-minded statesmen who know the rights of the State, and dare maintain them, a liberal compensation would be freely paid. But now when so many members of the legislature show an alacrity to transfer the power of the Commonwealth to the general government, their usefulness as public servants is closely scrutinized.

If the legislature shall transfer to the general government all control over the municipal affairs of the State, there is no need of legislators at such an extravagant salary as fifteen hundred dollars for a session of one hundred days. With no subjects of legislation higher than supplements to turnpike laws and the protection of sheep, two hundred dollars would be altogether too high a compensation for a member.

With the amendment to the Federal Constitution, taking from the State of Pennsylvania the power to regulate the suffrage of her own citizens, the general government controlling all the details of the election law; with Congress interfering with the railroad legislation of the State, and all other important public matters, what is there to warrant a member in asking fifteen hundred dollars for his insignificant services? Men enough can be had to pass sheep laws and regulate turnpike tolls at a much lower rate.

The time was when Pennsylvania was a power in the land. She was free, sovereign and independent, controlling her own affairs, and deciding for herself all questions of domestic concern. No member of her legislature in that day would have harbored the treasonable thought of giving up her rights to the keeping of a central government, to be organized at Washington. In Congress no man would then have been hardy enough to propose to invade her domain with a railroad, without as much as saying "by your leave." Her rights were cherished at home and respected abroad. In that time the services of the best men in the State were had, at a salary far below that which is now demanded.

But a change has come. Under radical sway Pennsylvania has become a mere province—an insignificant prefecture, like that of France—bearing the same relations to the general government which the counties now hold toward the State. Servile members of the legislature are only too eager to record the decrees of the central power and rush to Washington for their reward. She has an executive styled a Governor, it is true, but not half the power of a Persian satrap. When Congress proposed to construct a railroad beneath the very windows of the executive chamber, he looked on in listless apathy, not daring one murmur of protest.

In this sad situation to which the Commonwealth is reduced, the refusal of the majority in the legislature to increase their pay, cannot be too highly appreciated by their constituents.—They had a decidedly clearer view of the value of the services of a member of the Pennsylvania legislature, than had those who voted in the affirmative. While there is no doubt that the services of patriotic statesmen vigilantly guarding the interests, and maintaining the honor and dignity of the great Commonwealth, would not be dear at a far higher salary than the advance demanded, it is true that for the subjects of legislation now to be left within the control of the State, the pay of a member cannot be reduced too low. In view of the fact that the only objects of legislation henceforth will be of the most trivial local character, it would be well to move for a reduction instead of an increase. Sheep laws, turnpike bills, game regulations, divorce cases and game corporations will not require higher order of intellect or much honesty in the legislator.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The number of vacancies in the Forty-first Congress on the date of its organization will be thirty, in case Georgia is admitted, and thirty seven in case she is not admitted. The following States entitled to representation are not represented: New Hampshire 3, Connecticut 4, Alabama 9, and one vacancy in Pa., Mr. Covode's district, where no certificate has been given by the Governor to either candidate, on the ground that there are no papers on which such certificate can be given. He will probably certify the facts to the House for its decision. In States not yet entitled to representation there will be the following vacancies: Virginia 7, Texas 4, Mississippi 5, Alabama 9, and one vacancy in Pa., Mr. Covode's district, where no certificate has been given by the Governor to either candidate, on the ground that there are no papers on which such certificate can be given. He will probably certify the facts to the House for its decision.

There are no doubt that the people of the great State of Pennsylvania have always shown a willingness to pay their public servants liberally. For the services of intelligent, high-minded statesmen who know the rights of the State, and dare maintain them, a liberal compensation would be freely paid. But now when so many members of the legislature show an alacrity to transfer the power of the Commonwealth to the general government, their usefulness as public servants is closely scrutinized.

PHILADELPHIA.

(Correspondence to the Bedford Gazette.) According to promise, we propose, from time to time, dotting you some city items, and thereby help your readers to pass away an after dinner hour. We will therefore give you gentle diet and a little salad occasionally in easy olive oil.

THE WEATHER. They tell me you have had plenty fine sleighing in Bedford this winter; but down here "December's as pleasant as May," and we have seen but one sleigh hooked up in the whole season; and we only saw part of the box and one runner of that, as the horse took fright from the grit on bare stones, threw out the driver and ran away. But how elegant for the ladies on promenade! Chestnut street, these fine afternoons, is crowded with fashion and beauty. And how much the flower girls enjoy it! All along the thoroughfare, where beauty and business jostle, are seen miniature gardens of flowers, crocus, rose, geranium, heliotrope, &c., and you cannot help investing in a small, blushing rose to carry home for a certain nose which, if it is not Grecian, your think is the prettiest in the world. But flowers are not the only admiration. The boys too have their delight, for now and then we come across a

GRECIAN BEND, not in the store windows, but live ones coming down the street. We had hoped from the severe caricatures of this style of dress, we should never see it except in Comic Papers and Valentines, but here comes one just now! It is amusing to notice the effect upon pedestrians. Many who never notice dress, stop and gaze, pass on with a shake of the head; the scented dandy twists his moustache and rolls up the white; and the lady who wears it don't appear to care what anybody thinks; only they do hate the boys who say naughty things as they pass along. Will the boys never learn to respect inventive genius? nor the sacrifices of those who would exalt its benefits on posterity? The season for our SKATING RINKS has been a blue as well as a warm one. An enormous building has gone up on Race and Twentieth, and one on Chestnut, but neither have realized. The former imported a cargo of ice from Maine, which, with the Meager brothers, gave a partial success. One fancy costume carnival closed the business, and the managers, we are told, are now consoling themselves in an ice house. The "Ball is up" as announced by the Chestnut Rink, is true in more ways than one.

THREE BALLS is also a sign which we often see displayed along the streets where you can purchase articles which are cheap at half the price you pay. The rule to interpret them is, "Two to one you lose what you put in," and will apply to all those who send their money to lotteries, gift enterprises, &c., as we often see advertised. These glittering baits always cover a sharp hook.

WE DON'T believe in politics in the administration of municipal affairs, and are therefore disposed to commend Mr. Fox in ignoring it in this instance. But since we have seen the attempt, which we fear will succeed, of a certain party to wrongfully foist upon this city a Metropolitan Police, against the sense and wishes of the people, we think this course is impolitic. The very men who he now retains upon the police force are bled every week or two to the tune of five or ten dollars for the purpose of engineering a bill through which will leave him stripped of power and the city to the mercy of a set of unprincipled scamps. Let him at once sweep the whole force from their positions, and with the same means used against him and the city, let him tax each of the thousand policemen ten dollars, and endeavor to defeat so iniquitous a project. Such at least is the kind of politics we learned in Bedford county, and where the peace and safety of the community is at stake, we believe in fighting the devil with fire, or beating his head with his own clubs. So far, however, the administration of affairs by Mayor Fox, who is a gentleman and a Christian, has given great satisfaction to good men of both parties. The only objection is the above instance which every right-minded citizen condemns. The city needs now, more than ever, an efficient force against the fearful increase of crime, and which will not abate it.

A FAIR is on the move just now for the benefit of the Lutheran Orphan Home; and it is designed to make it an immense one. The largest Hall in the city is to be secured and contributions are solicited from every part of the church. The Methodist Fair this winter for the "Old Man's Home" was a success, netting $20,000. The Lutherans want to do the same.

ET CETERA. We have had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Gump of your place, and Mr. Ely, of Schellsburg, who are students at the University here. The lectures soon close. Also enjoyed a pleasant chat with Judge King and Mr. Shannon, of Bedford, at the Bingham, the other night. We hope, Mr. Editor, soon to enjoy the sight of your countenance here and see you looking as hale as a city corporation. More anon. Feb. 19th, 1890. LINDEN.

THE NURSERY FOR MARCH.—No wise parent, who will examine this monthly for youngest readers, and who can afford to spend a trifling sum for the mental culture of children, can have the heart to withhold from them such a work. Address John L. Shorney, 13 Washington St., Boston.

THE RIVERSIDE MAGAZINE FOR YOUNG PEOPLE, for January, 1890, has been received. It is replete with entertaining matter for young readers. Published by Hurd & Houghton, New York.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price.

CITIZENS of the county, attending court next week, are invited to visit G. R. Oster's spacious new store and examine their immense stock of new winter goods. They are now offering great inducements to cash buyers.

CONGRESSIONAL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. Mr. Morton, from the committee to notify the President and Vice-President elect of their election, submitted their responses accepting the offices. Mr. Cameron introduced a bill supplementary to the act to authorize a lateral branch of the Baltimore and Potomac railroad to enter Washington city. Mr. Sawyer called up the bill to pay the officers of internal revenue in the South who cannot take the oath, which was debated and then postponed. Several private bills were passed.

The House refused to concur in the Senate's amendments to the bill providing for universal suffrage. A large number of bills were introduced and referred, among them one by Mr. Butler to prevent restrictions on trade by State legislation, discriminating against the citizens of other States. This is intended to apply to a law of Maryland concerning non-resident traders. A bill was passed to allow the Northern Pacific railroad to issue bonds and borrow money for the construction of the road from Lake Superior to Puget's Sound. At the evening session of the House the tax bill was considered in committee of the whole, and an amendment adopted extending the time for the withdrawal of spirits from bonded warehouses from the 20th of April, 1888 to April 20, 1870, the whisky so kept to be subject to a tax of one cent per gallon monthly. The tobacco section was reached and the House adjourned.

WASHINGTON, February 16. The Senate passed the House bill to prevent the loaning of money on United States notes. The bill to give Mrs. Lincoln a pension was taken up, and, pending a motion to give her $5,000 per annum, it was laid over. The bill to repeal the tenure-of-office act was then taken up and discussed at much length.

The House passed the bill to remove the political disabilities of a large number of Southern citizens. The House last night after adopting several amendments, passed the new internal revenue tax bill.

IN THE United States Circuit Court at Richmond Va., the scawling, Judge Underwood, presiding, the case of Stevens, a negro, of Charleston, South Carolina, against the Richmond and Fredericksburg Railroad Company, for putting his wife in a second-class car by force after selling her a first-class ticket, was concluded. Underwood, in his charge to the jury, which was half black and half white, said: "Distinction on account of color was a relic of barbarism, which had been happily done away with even in that sink of iniquity, New York, where it had been tolerated longer than elsewhere to secure Southern trade." After an incidental statement to the effect that Virginians were given to drunkenness, and their clergy were not exempt from this frailty, the judge read several extracts from the Bible, and closed by instructing the jury to teach this company that they must not make distinction on account of color. The jury brought in the verdict for 1,600 damages for plaintiff.

The coroner's inquest on the persons who lost their lives at the Caldwell fire, in Philadelphia, have returned a verdict that, after a patient hearing of numerous witnesses, they are unable to determine the manner in which the fire originated.

John Davis, shot by the Arkansas militia, near Mount City, Arkansas, on Saturday, died on Monday. The perpetrator of the deed was arrested by the militia, tried by Court martial on Tuesday and convicted, and shot on Wednesday.

The Archbishop of York, in a recent sermon, said that the Church of England would not suffer by a separation from the State.

Patterson, N. J., is so fearful of hydrophobia that the council has ordered the slaughter of all dogs found in the streets.

The mayor of St. Joseph, Missouri, has been petitioned to appoint a day of fasting and prayer for deliverance from war.

A Washington dispatch says that as the time for the distribution of offices comes round, "General Grant's friends are rapidly increasing."

It is seldom that we use the columns of this paper to "puff" or notice the "patent medicines." We, however, vary from our rule in the present case, that we may call attention to the article known as "S. T.—1860—X." It is understood that we do so without any solicitation or promise of benefit from the proprietor or other interested parties. We simply do it as an act of duty towards those who are laboring under physical disability, weakness and the various complaints arising from impurities of the blood. Having used the Bitters at the instigation of a friend, (and we must confess, with some misgivings at the outset,) we found them a most valuable medicinal compound, and to our great satisfaction, accomplished the object for which they were used.
