fraud in order to accomplish their infamous purpose. Under the promise that the people of the "loyal states" lege of regulating the elective franchise elected in those states, containing, in most eases, large radical majorities. These majorities are now wielded by the conspirators as instruments of fraud in preventing the people from interfering with the success of the plot to make the XVth Amendment a part of the Federal Constitution. These ma-American freemen to settle this great ing: question for themselves. Nor is it less apparent that force is to be superadded to fraud in carrying out the infernal programme. Morton's bill, passed at the last session of Congress, makes it a condition precedent to the admission of Virginia, Mississippi and Texas to representation in Congress, that these states ratify the Amendment. Although declared by the U. S. Supreme Court to be in the Union, the people of these states, with the bayonets of the federal janissaries pointed be kept out of the Union until they agree that this black radical patch shall be put upon the Constitution. Three states are thus to be forced to give their assent to the Amendment. In the legislature of Indiana, the radical majority is not sufficiently large to hand over that body to the conspirators as an instrument in their hands. The Constitution of Indiana requires the presence of three-fifths of the members in either branch of the legislature to form a quorum. More than twofifths of each house are democrats, and these democrats, in accordance with their constitutional privilege, resign and leave the legislature without a quorum. From the instant that there is not a quorum of members present, the legislative body is powerless to transact business. Nevertheless, the radical members and Senators in this Indiana legislature, proceed, without a quorum, to pass a resolution ratifying the XVth Amendment! And this lawless proceeding will, doubtless, be certified to the Department of State at Washington, by the radical Governor of Indiana, as a ratification of the said XVth Amendment by the legis lature of that State! In this way, by the employment of fraud and force the game of the radicals is to be won .-But the cards are handled so clumsily that the trick is transparent to every body. Even the stolid equanimity of the philosopher of the Tribune is disturbed by the awkwardness of the play. In Saturday's issue of that paper, Greeley loquitur :

"We confess that the mysteries of Indiana legislation are to deep for us. The democrats in the House, forty-two in number, resigned; the Governor gave notice to the House of their resignation. nation; the point of order was raised that this left the House without a quorum; but the remaining membe fused to sustain it, and proceeded adopt the XVth Amendment. prefer to await further details as to the whole novel procedure before rejoicing over the adoption by another State.'

Forney, too, though reveling in the beauties of such artistic chicanery as Morton's bill, is disgusted with the bungling Indianians. His gorge rises of the performance. In Saturday's Press, he speaks as follows:

"Connecticut, which has just ratified the fifteenth amendment, was, it will be remembered, one of the doubtful States, and its favorable action almost insures the success of the measure .-Before the people there is no doubt of the issue. How alone the democracy can successfully oppose it is shown in the case of Indiana, from which state we have this week more discreditable and disgraceful news."

In his supreme disgust at the want democrats of that state "successfully oppose" the Amendment, and thus virtually acknowledges the futility of the attempt at ratification by the quorumless legislature. The "success "almost" assured. This is another way of telling his readers that it is the people there is no doubt of the issue." We agree with him. The issue is now before the people of Pennsylvania. It is defined with singular fingers. Fraud is one side of it; force the other; fraud in the action of the radical majority in the legislature refusing to allow the people of the state

Distressing Calamity.

On last Friday afternoon the fifth tory of a large bonded warehouse belonging to Joseph Finch & Co., Pitts burg, fell with a terrible crash, carry ing with it every remaining story of the structure. About seven thousand barrels of whiskey were stored in the building which were broken into frágments. Three men were buried in th rains. The building was but recently erected, and cost $60,000.

The cause of the accident is attributed to the shortness of the joice, failing to rest properly on the walls.
