

THE FAIR.

In our last, we promised you some notes of the Great Fair for the Orphan's Home. We have visited it night and day, and we never beheld a more fairy scene than was presented in Horticultural Hall.

Democracy Triumphant!

NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY AND MARYLAND CARRIED BY INCREASED MAJORITIES!

Great Gains in Massachusetts, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota!

The result of the elections held on Tuesday, 2d inst., shows, at the same time, the vitality and recuperative power of the Democratic party and the gradual but certain integration and decadence of the radical organization.

New York has elected the whole Democratic State Ticket by majorities ranging from 20,000 to 30,000! Last year Seymour carried the State by 10,000. What is better, we have both branches of the legislature for the first time in fifteen years.

New Jersey, ever faithful New Jersey, goes Democratic by an increased popular majority, and elects a Democratic legislature which will reject the Fifteenth Amendment and elect a United States Senator in place of the carpet-bagger, Cattell.

Maryland, our Maryland, elects the Democratic ticket in every county, a unanimous Democratic legislature, and the Democratic State Ticket by at least 30,000 majority!

Wisconsin goes Radical, as usual, but by a small majority. Last year Grant carried the State by 21,000.

Minnesota is in doubt, even at this writing. If the Democratic candidate for Governor is beaten at all, the majority for his opponent is very meagre. Last year Grant had 15,000.

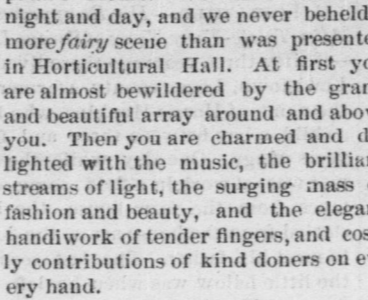

Illinois elected county officers and members of a Constitutional Convention. The radicals lost heavily. In Chicago and Cook county, which formerly gave from 8,000 to 10,000 radical majority, the usual order of things has been completely revised, and the Democratic Citizens' Ticket is elected by 10,000 majority.

West Virginia elects a liberal legislature. The radicals are divided in that State on the question of continued disfranchisement of white men, as well as on the subject of enfranchising the blacks.

Aspicious and cheering results are these, yet at the same time they are a terrible commentary on the loss of influence of our own once influential but now degraded State. The time was when the voice of Pennsylvania decided for either party, New York and New Jersey were certain to echo the decision, and the Western States just as sure to endorse the judgment with an overwhelming vote.

A CORRESPONDENT of the Philadelphia Inquirer states that the cost of taking testimony in the Louisiana contested seats in Congress, is over $20,000. The Democratic candidates were elected by from 5,000 to 10,000 majority, but it would never do to allow so many Democrats to get into Congress.

THE DAY" is the title of a new penny morning paper published in Philadelphia, by Alex. Cummings, Esq. It is independent in politics.

It was a regular "take in;" and yet every one enjoyed it exceedingly. It consisted of copies of Paintings, Statuary, &c., by the great Masters, Minorals, plants, Natural History Specimens, Curiosities, &c., &c.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE IN THE CABINET.

An interesting letter of Chief Justice Chase to James A. Hamilton, son of Alexander Hamilton, has appeared in a volume of Hamilton's recently published reminiscences. Mr. Lincoln once said that he had no influence with his administration, and it seems from this letter that the influence of the Secretary of the Treasury, beyond his own sphere, in which he was all-powerful, was, also, not so great as Mr. Chase might have desired.

"WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13, 1862. MY DEAR SIR: Your excellent note is just received. I will send it to the President, and shall be glad if he will read it and heed it. I have seen little of the rugged sea can fill in for themselves. In addition to Easton, Bethlehem and Norristown and Reading were also represented. But time would fail us to tell of the goods, fancy work, paraphernalia toys, wax-work, paintings and curiosities found in these and all the tables. It was an endless mass of varied beauty, splendor and richness, and for two weeks the ladies constantly and busily engaged getting off their stock. Much as there was, it gradually melted away, as snow in the sun, and that half, at first crammed and packed with the work of kind hands, was left stripped and forelorn. Down in

was a grand place for the followers of Epicurus. The tables night after night were crowded with a hungry throng. And fitting here and there, with waiters in hand, were scores of Philadelphia's beautiful girls. These pretty waiting maids naturally drew down cadaverous looking swells as well as portly men who devoured oysters and ice cream with such a gusto as put a glow of eminent satisfaction upon the face of the caterer. And what is the reason you always eat more oysters at night and with greater relish than at any other time? Now, suppose you add to them the spice of about fifty pretty waiting maids, and one of them asks you, "How many, Sir? Stewed or fried?" What would you say? Why about a half a bushel. Miss, both stewed and fried. And should you ask, "What else have you?" She would answer: We have chicken in all styles, and cold ham, beef, snipe, reed birds, ham and eggs, noodle soup, sweet potatoes, duck, fish of every kind, tea and coffee and chocolate; we have boiled cabbage and turnips, potatoes and celery, pickles and pies, and if there is any dish that we have not, we will order it for you. And you answer: That is sufficient, just bring me them!

THE ART GALLERY.

You must not suppose that a Gallery is a place where you will see a lot of "galls." In the Academy of Fine Arts you will see some of that kind, and occasionally you will see a brace in this one; but here you are borne into the ideal and dream land, and find a fine collection of elegant paintings and rare statuary. For our part, we never thought there was anything inside of a house so near the divine as an exquisite painting—except a woman.—And here you have a grand feast of the esthetic. After the dust and ashes of the actual, you can let your soul slip into the ideal and beautiful, and look thro' these loop holes into the grand and indefinable. That is a poor thought which can be expressed in words; and that is a very lean feeling which can portray itself with a miserable steel pen or goose quill. But in a Gallery of Art, thought gets loose and flies untamed, and feeling is wrapped up in itself so as to hold a divine commune with that which outreaches the actual. An Art Gallery is a sweet place, and no one can go from it without feeling that he is better and happier.

We cannot here run over the paintings and statuary. Suffice it to say that it was in keeping with the great idea had in getting up the fair. But we cannot say this much.

A catfish was recently caught in the Schuylkill, at Phoenixville, which measured thirty-five inches in length, and weighed eighteen pounds. George Fogle, who lived near St. Joseph, Mo., died a few days ago of neglect and starvation, and was buried by his affectionate sons in the cornfield. Catharine Parr, a Brooklyn (N. Y.) beauty, poisoned herself the other day because her affianced went to an evening reception without asking her permission.

A Dr. Von Vleck is lecturing in New York, exposing the tricks of spiritual mediums. Practice, he says, will enable any one to perform the Davenport feats.

During the last fiscal year the Government has disposed of between four and five millions of dollars' worth of land under the homestead and other laws.

"A Lover of Jesus" sent to the Treasury Department, one day last week, forty books of gold leaf he had stolen from it. Another repentant sinner sent back a dollar gold piece.

A large delegation of clergymen from the Church of England, and dissenting ministers and laymen, will attend the Evangelical Alliance to be held in New York next fall.

A young woman suicided near Lagrange, Md., by taking eight ounces of corrosive sublimate. As you may imagine, she died in fearful agony. Her brother has become insane.

A family of twelve at Chicago was recently poisoned by drinking of some green tea just purchased from a store. The symptoms indicated the presence of arsenic. All recovered.

It is seriously contemplated to construct a grand railroad, which will run across Europe and Asia, and be to the Old world what the Pacific railroad is to the New.

In California there are 3,000 Chinamen out of employment. A hundred of these idlers will be forwarded this week to Tennessee to work on the Memphis and El Paso railroad.

The Rev. Father Boehm, of the M. E. church, preached the other Sunday in Pottsville. He is ninety-two years of age, and commenced the ministry in Pottsville sixty-three years ago.

Two little girls, aged 6 and 4 years, children of Nathan Dowry, of Harwich, Mass., were burned to death in the fire which destroyed their house, during the temporary absence of their parents.

Lewis C. Story, sheriff of Clinton county, Ky., was shot and killed the other day by Lewis Koger, a negro. Summary vengeance was taken upon the darkey by the enraged friends of the victim.

The regulators are abroad again in Southwest Kentucky. They attacked a house near Prestonsville the other night and demanded a surrender, but the occupants resisted and finally drove them off.

R. M. Jones, an office-holder at Washington, was sent home to Cambria county to vote at the late election. Afterwards he was indicted for illegal voting, and held in $300 for his appearance at court.
