Peterson's Magazine for April is already on our table. It maintains the high character of this favorite lady's book. The steel engraving, "Eyes sweet songsters is generally eagerly Right," is capital, full of fun and char- looked for by everybody. We have acter. THE first experience of the women of Wyoming as jurors proves conclusively that in invading the domain which the masculine biped has hitherto considered peculiarly his, they have not laid aside the feminine quality of having opinions of their own and tenaciously sticking to them. The trial upon which they were engaged was a haze; case of murder, and for four consecutive nights they had been detained unable to agree. The dispatch says that they looked pale and fatigued, but we can readily imagine that they will allow themselves to be well nigh starved and become quite ill before any disposition to give in is developed.

Since writing the above we learn that the jury has actually agreed-a circumstance that makes the novelty of a female jury all the more wonderful.

The Bodies of the Condemned.-As some may be curious to know what disposition has been made of the bodies of Bohner and Bodenburg, we relate. On Wednesday Sheriff Neely had appointed two colored men to bury them. They took the bodies to an open lot in the northeast portion of the town in the evening; both the gravediggers got drunk and left the job before it was completed, and neither of the bodies were buried. On Thursday morning the Sheriff appointed another party to finish it, but while doing so the borough authorities interfered and would not allow them to be buried within the borough limits. The bodies were then taken to a field a short distance from town where they were interred, with nothing but the mound to mark the spot .- Huntingdon Globe. FIRE .- On Friday morning last, in Cumberland Valley township, the mansion house and adjoining buildings, belonging to John Growden, were entirely consumed by fire. Most of the furniture, beds. clothing, &c., were saved; but all the provisions, consisting of meats, vegetables, canned and dried fruits, were destroyed. The house caught fire from a stove-pipe in not discovered until the devouring element had made such headway as rendered it impossible to extinguish it. It was not more than two hours from the time the fire was discovered until the whole was a mass of ruins. The loss is estimated at about $2,000. There was an insurance on the house In Mifflin the other day a little boy of $400 and $150 insurance on the fureer of the Huntingdon and Broad Top R. R. Co., one of the best scientific and practical geologists in the United States, in a report to the President of the H. & B. T. R. R. Co., submits the following in reference to the iron ores of this county and vicinity :

"The belt of iron ores flanking the Broad Top Coal Fields on the west, and extending from Huntingdon to the State line, belong to and can be con-trolled by Broad Top interests. The main portion of it is alongside the Broad Top Railroad, and will be smelted by coke from the Broad Top Field. The portion of this belt bet ween Bloody Run and the State line- about fourteen miles of good ore-will be smelted at Bloody Run; the furnaces can be connected with the Railroad by a short connected with the Kalifoad by a short branch from the west end of River Bridge, when it shall be built. A tram-road, with a small locomotive, will probably be used in conveying the ron ore and limestone to the furnaces. It is a remarkable fact that the largest developments of iron ores flank the Broad Top Coal Field. Southward, up Black Valley, the regular line of Tussey's Mountain is broken up by Bean's Cove; near the State line by yond this, the measures are irregu-lar, and split into terminal hills, the iron ore thinning out and uncertain. These surgent iron ores flanking Broad Top are again repeated in the loop curving around the valley in which the town of Bedford is situated. This belt of iron ore is rich and valuable, and has, to some extent, been secured by parties interested in Broad Top. The most valuable portion of this belt is near the town of Bedford, curving round the Dutch Corner, and throwing a double prong southward towards Camberland. It is reasonable to infer that as the ore deposits go southward they will encounter, in a modified manner, the Bean's Cove line of disturbances, declining in quantity and value.

Bedford, as a centre for furnaces, will be in a position from which all the ores of that belt can be reached by lateral roads. Witn the extension of the Broad Top Railroad to Bedford, the carrying of coal for iron smelting there, with the native trade of the district, will, in part, be secured to the broad Top interests The third Belt of ore, and the last settle definitely and conclusively all considerations of Coal, Coke, Iron Ores and Flux. They have all been proved to be of excellent quality, and the fact exhibited that a superior pig iron can be made in this region somewhat cheaper than any other locality in the region rich in iron ores lying at the base of the Coal Mountain. The flames from one large furnace glare up like ancient signal fires, announcing that the design in the deposition of the ores and fuel is understood. Other furnaces will rapidly rise up and an-Other swer this signal, until the wide valley flanking the Coal Field will glitter with the fires of furnaces dotted along its length, and resound with the din of an industry so long neglected and restrained."

The Kemble Coal and Iron Com pany, by the erection of a furnace at Riddlesburg, have solved the problem whether iron can be manufactured in this region at such cost as will justify the investment of capital in the future development of theore deposits lying adjacent to the coal measures of Broad Top. Their venture has proved a complete success. Whilst seventy other furnaces in various parts of the State have gone out of blast during the past year, that at Riddlesburg has returned a handsome profit to its owners. The manufacture of pig iron, like the production of cotton or the collecting of the precious metals, can flourish only in localities where nature smiles upon the enterprise. High protective tariffs fail to make furnaces remunerative which are located at great distances from the deposits of ore and to which cheap fuel is not convenient .-They are mere gratuities paid out of the pockets of the people to keep life in manufactories which are not selfsustaining and which must die in spite of the highest protection, as witness the seventy furnaces out of blast in Pennsylvania at this day. But the coal measures of Broad Top, the limestone of the Juniata and its branches and the great seams of hematite and fossiliferous oreslying adjacent, laugh at Congressional uncertainty, for they are a great certainty in themselves and will add untold millions to the world's wealth in spite of the fluctuations of the tariff. While those who insist on wasting their means in an attempt to make iron where God and Nature do not intend it shall be made, depending only on the crambs that may fall from But oh ! you should not mourn him now, nor call the table of the general government, wise capitalists will erect furnaces in this favored region and by the unfailing light of their ceaseless fires will teach the lesson that the successful

THE ROBINS.—"When the robins come Spring is sure not to be a great way off." The first chirp of these sweet songsters is generally eagerly tooked for by everybody. We have heard them "calling upon the house-"For sale of Poor Hogge" on the inside, and those opposed to the sale of the present "Poor House" on the outside, and the words "Against a sale of the Poor House," on the inside. And the Sheriff of the said County, is suthorized and required to give notice of said election, by proclamation, in not less than two news spers in said County, at least three works before said election; the election to be heid in the respective election districts, by the election officers elected at the last State. The outlying and detached position of the Broad Top Coal Field, has fre-quently led inquiring minds to inves-tigate the design of its isolated post-ure, standing among and surrounded figate the design of its isolated post-ure, standing among and surrounded by the bold and irequent flexures of the Juniata District. The recent de-velopments of immense deposits of i-ron ore, the frequent concurrence of their outcrops as they rise and sink in these wave flexures, suggest the con-necting link; and the auswer is evi-dent: The Broad Top Mountain is a storehouse of mineral fuel, set out is a region rich in fron ores lying at the SAD AFFAIR .- A sad affair, says the Lewistown Gazette, occurred at Greenwood Furnace on Thursday, March 3, by a little son of J. No one was present at the time.
