THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Governor Hartranft's message is entirely too lengthy for us to publish entire, but we will give a short synopsis of its main points. Candor compels us to say that it is the best and most conservative message ever written by his Excellency, or to be more precise, ever written for him by his clever Secretary, Mr. Quay. The result arrived at through a labyrinth of figures which none but experts can comprehend, shows a very satisfactory state of the Treasury. The total state deot, Dec. 1st. 1877 was $22.9 3,814, and the assets in the Sinking Fund, consisting chiefly of bonds owing by the Penna R. R. and Alleghany Valley R. R. amount to $9.591,428, which deduct ed from the debt leaves a balance $16.842,396, as the real indebtedness of the state.

The income for the year was $15.644 500, and the expenses $13,482.

With the proceeds of a new five per cent loan, eight millions of debts vere ranceled, of which five miliions were six per cents, and three million five per cents, payable in gold. The saving of interest to the state this re-funding, will amount to $50 .-000 annually.

The estimates for the ensuing year will exceed the revenues by nearly a million dollars, and the Governor recommends that one third of the corporation tax be diverted from the Sinking fund into the general Treasury, to cover this deficit.

The Governor devotes much space to the July riots and the part taken by the Astienal Guard in them, winding up with a recommendation to the Legislation for a better orminization of the state's military sentiment which he never dared utter before, and for saving which, ed to ail not to supercede the civil authority." It seems that Gov. Hartranft has lost confidence in military-role, and now freely says what several years ago might have cost him a nomination.

The Governor very wisely confines himself to state matters and has not even a word to say of national politics. The inference is justified that the "gallant Hartranft" thinks the less said on that subject, the better. The balance of the message is devoted to school matters, geological surveys, public charities, penitenti-

Upon the result of this analysis the question whether the partept our thanks for public docuthe house accidentally catching on fire, will be pretty well determined. The evidence is thus far very weak against the prisoners, but the Commonwealth not being ready with its evidence, no decision was made on the habeas corpus. The chitich is gaining ground that the right parties have not been caught, if the old folks were murdered; and this is also a very much disputed question.

FIFTY YEARS AGO.

An Old Relie.

Some time ago our friend, Judge Frank, of Rebersburg, gave us an old "Der Centre Berichter." Vol. 1. No. 30, dated March 6th, 1828, which makes it nearly fifty years old. It is of course all German, printed on coarse, heavy paper, 15 by 20 inches large which is less than half the size of the present JOURNAL, and was published at Aaronsburg, by Adam Gentzel.

The paper was addressed to "G. Bear, Esq.," who was the father of Adam Bear, of Rebersburg. Much of the contents might be interesting to us of the present day. It contains for instance the marriage notice of George Hering with Margaret Moser, of Gregg township; Benjamin Mohr with Catharine Ker stetter, and David Graf with Susan Weber, the latter two couple of Haines township. An advertise-ment of the Mifflinburg Academy. with Rev. Nathamel Todd, a Pres-byterian minister as Principal, also annears. Robert Tate was Sheriff of Centre Courty at that time, and advertises three tracts of land at Sher iff's sale. J. G. Lowry was Treasurer, and calls upon tax-collectors topay up their duplicates, stating that? many Commissioner's orders are out and uppaid, with a balance due the former Treasurer. Dr. Charles Co-burn, Treasurer of a Tract and Bible. Society, gives notice to its members, to pay in their dues. A shooting match for a fine fat calf, is advertised by David Beck, of Brush Valley ; also a lottery by Samuel Frasher, for a house in Rebersburg and 86 cash. prizes, from $50 down to $2. A part of the Act of Assembly authorizing the construction of the Bellefonte, Aaronsburg and Youngmanstown turnpike is published. It is signed by James Duncan as President, and Jacob Harter, who died in Millheim last summer, announces himself as a candidate for Brigade Inspector, for the 1st Brigade, 10th Division, Penna, Militia.
