TERRIFIC EXPLOSION. Lauer's Brewery Partially De-stroyed by the Explosion of Three Boilers.

READING, Feb. 25-The boilers in use at the extensive beer brewery of Fred. Lauer, on North Third street, this city, exploded with a terrific report at 4 o'clock this morning, just as the men had commenced work. The brewery buildings are is Lauer park, containing about two | if competent. acres of ornamented ground used for picnic purposes. The boilers

The force of the explosion demolished the eatire north wing of the buildings, tearing and rending the bris all over the park. Pieces of the | Millheim, as far as heard from. boilers are scattered about in various directions, one piece 8 feet long being in the roof of the adjoining building, and another piece in an adjoining field. About 15 feet of the front end of the large boiler was carried by the force of the explosion from the hill on which the engine ouse stood, in a downward direction, across an open lot to the opposite side of Third street a distance of 650 feet, staiking squarely the dividing wall between houses Nos. 226 and 218, stove a hole about seventeen feet square, carrying away both the doors, the stairs of No. 228, crashing through the parlor door, forced its way through the floor into the cellar, where it is now firmly embedded, one end being about three feet above the floor of the house. Both houses are three story brick dwellings, newly erected, and were tenanted, the occupants being in bed at the time. The greatest consternation prevailed among them, the impression being that an earthquake had occurred.

It was fortupate that the missile bave gone through the building. Mr. Haverstumpf, foreman of the brewery, is the only person injured, his injuries being only slight. Crowds of persons are viewing the rums. The loss is about $15,000. Immediate steps will be taken to reexplosion is unknown.
