A SCARE OVER A JAGUAR.

The Animal Liberated by a Tramp out of Spite, and Still at Large.

YORK, Pa., May 1.-Last night after the London Circus train had left Washington and had traversed about thirty miles, a full-sized Brazilian jaguer, a beast more ravenous and ferocious than a tiger, escaped from his cage on a flat car and bounded into the woods. The train had stopped to permit another train to pass, and a tramp, who had secreted himself on the car, opened the cage, allowing the animal its liberty. About twenty of his fellow-tramps had been previously ejected from the train, and it is supposed he committed the act for spite. One of the circus hands saw him open the cage, but supposed he was one of the regular hands. When the animal escaped, the tramp when the animal escaped, the train jumped from the train, and al-though pursued by about twenty men made good his escape. The jagnar, was a powerful animal, and cost $1,400 two years ago. He was about five feet long, and naturally one of the most feccious beasts in the measure. Four this meaning the menagerie.
