Our Washington Letter.

ngton, D. C., Dec. 27th, 1870 ver since Mr. Hayes went to Phode Island and the Governor of that state hailed him as the sun, at whose rising, stars, and placets, and comets and other things bid their heads and talls, or in words of that kind, I have believed that the Gevernor was born to greatness, and would achieve it, and would also have it thrust on him. Now he is mentioned for the Russion Misssion. He earned it by that immortal speech of welcome.

The English mission is, it is said, beld for Stanley Matthews, in case he is defeated by but Minister Noyes is away from France nearly all the whole time, and is not much of a minister anyway. Under the peculiar civil service bad minister is no minister at all.

Governor Garcelon of Maine, is reported by the dispatches of this morning as likely to submit to the Supreme Court of the state certain questions as to the legality of his acts in issuing certificates of election to the legislature to votes. This is to be done, it is said, at the request of Republican politicians. I have some knowledge of Governor Garcelon's character, and do not believe he will do anything of the the kind. He will be all the less likely to do so, now that his legal authority as Governor has ocen resisted by those who make the demand

Gen. Grant will reach this city to-day. There will be no public reception, the authoritative notice of his coming being too short, but an officer of the law will meet him at the depot and serve papers in the suit against him of certain holders of Metropolitan church bouns. At the time parson Newman built this beautiful church, and the congregation in debt for most of it, bonds were issued and Grant was made one of the trustees. The holders of the bonds want

The return of Captain James Eads from Europe, where he has examined carefully the means used for the improvement of navigation on the principal rivers, insures the early pre sentation to Congress of a plan of Improvements for the Mississippi. Captain Eads reports that he was received with extreme court esy by the authorities wherever he went and th t great interest was manifested in the obicets of his mission. He is, after a careful examination of the Suez Canal more then ever convinced that the canals proposed across the Istomus are impracticable and that his own scheme for a railroad to convey vessels from sea to sea is the one that must be adopted.

According to official returns received here, the iron interests of the country, even more than the agricultural are "booming." The present and prospective demand is such that existing means of supply are wholly insufficient. new ones are being started.

THE STATE APPROPRIATION FOR million dollars due for the school year ending June last, not a dollar has been paid. It is hoped this condition of affairs will not last much longer, but no one is at present able to say when it will end. All concerned may rest assured, however, that the warrants will be sent as soon as the State Treasurer of the school year as for mud, it is of short duration. Letter from Kansas.

Emporia, Lyon Co., Kan. Dec. 17 '79. Mr. Editor: - This evening our son Frank returned from the Post Office and brought with him a copy of your paper-the first we have seen for more occurred for possession of the pulpit. than a month-and you may well imag. A general fight, which was thickest ine it created a sensation, each member around the altar, then took place and being anxious to hear from Penns Valley. The appearance of the "Journal" also reminded me of the fact that I had fore a number of people had their arms promised to write you, when once settled, so I concluded to write at once.

We are not yet settled, nor do we expect to be for some time. Winter is broken glass, hymn books, bibles, hair here but our house is not yet completed. Should we have an ordinary Kansas winter, we will be able to move in the course of six weeks, otherwise we may not get into it before March.

With but few exceptions we have had the most delightful weather-clear, pure and healthy; to-day however we have winter in real good earnest. It would pass for a genuine Pennsylvania winter's day. So far our health has been remarkab'y good, and all of us feel quite at home. We have been able to adapt ourselves to our new surroundings with ease and pleasure. We would not be so foolish as to claim we had entered an earthly Paradise, nor a Purgatory, true we miss many comforts we enjoyed in Penns Valley, and then there are advantages here which we could not have in our former home. Emporia is a live town, and bids fair to become one of the first inland cities of the west. Three of the leading railroads pass through it, and is the seat of the State Normal School. It is the centre of a thrifty community and its location is outbuildings of any kind will readily command $10 per month rent, in advance. Business houses with suitable conveniences rent at from $75 to $100 per month. Emporia furnishes a cash market for the farming community for 10 to 20 miles. There is scarcely an end to the corn, pork, beef, hay and wood brought into town daily from the surrounding country. There is no more desirable place in Kansas for farmers than Lyon county. If men will only come here exercising good Garfield for the United States Senate. This will common sense. This raw prairie will give Ohio the French and English missions, not produce equal to the well cultivated fields of the east, but after it once becomes cultivated it will exceed the reform ideas of Mr. Hayes at may be that a very east two fold, and grain can be raised at half the expense, while stock at one fourth and will command prices nearly equal to those of the east. To illustrate: Beef is selling for $5 to $6 per hundred, pork sells readily at $4.50. So persons who apparently received a minority of that if farmers will come here expecting to deny themselves only one twen. tieth part which their fathers did when they first settled the east and combine stock-raising with grain, in a few years they will succeed. Lyon county is situated in the Neosho valley, one of the most fertile and healthy in the state and is well supplied with water, coal, wood and building stone, There are some few cases of Fever and Ague, but not more than you will find anywhere else in a new country, and not one tenth which you find along the Susque-

Persons from the east make a mistake by going to the western part of the state. It has not the same amount of rain fall, is more subject to severe drouths, has more fever and ague, has not nearly the same advantages for schools, churches and civilization generally. The only advantages they have is in the cheapness of land, but this is more than overbalanced by other and nigher considerations. There are yet thousands upon thousands of acres to be had in Lyon county within reasonable reach of schools, churches and markets, for from $3 to $100 per acre, owing to location and improvements. Prairie lands can yet be bought at a Foundries long closed have been opened and distance of 5, 8 or 10 miles from the city for from $3 to $10 per acre. City lots sell from $25 to $1000 each.

A majority of the congregation were determined that Woodside should be retained. Last night the quarrel culminated in a free fight. Both factions were present in full force.

Woodside wanted to preach, but his opponents had another clergyman whom they wished to preach. Both parsons waxed het and a scrimmage lasted a quarter of an hour. The police finally quelled the riot, but not bebroken and heads cracked. The church presents a sorry appearance tcday. Pews are broken, remnants of pins and bangs are strewn over the floor. Great indignation prevails in church circles.
