PLEDGED TO A MAN.

The Position of President Jacobs, of the Late Syracuse Convention. ALBANY, N. Y. April 23.—In the Senate this morning Dr. Jacobs, late chairman of the Democratic State Convention at Syracuse, replying to some comments made by Senator Wooden on his remarks in the Senate yesterday concerning his support of Mr. Tilden, stated: As chairman of the convention he advocated no man's claims. If he acted fairly, he set an example for Republican Conventions to follow.

One of the most urgent demands of our times a system of education in which shall train the young to apply their school learning. At the Pennsylvania State College practical instruction in Agriculture, Horticulture, Botany, Zoology, Mechanic, Chemistry, etc., is given, and thus theory in the classroom is applied and enforced by experience in the field and laboratory.

WHATEVER else may be doubtful about the intention of the authors of our tariff laws, they undoubtedly meant to place on the free list all materials used in the manufacture of paper. It happened that pulp of wood, which is by far the most important element in the manufacture of paper used by the daily and weekly press of the country, was not specifically and by name exempted from duty. Under a Treasury decision which held that this verbal omission was fatal to the free admission of wood pulp, a few manufacturers of that article have been able to impose an exorbitant tax on the general body of paper makers, by whom it is of course shifted on the consumers, the newspaper publishers of the country, and the burden falls with special hardship on publishers outside of the great cities—we, consequently, being impoverished so that a handful of monopolists may grow rich. The most powerful champion of these monopolists is Representative GARFIELD. Were his opposition to the bill withdrawn, the restoration of wood pulp to the free list, where it belongs, would be accomplished in a few days, while his opposition continues the monopolists are secure. Can Mr. GARFIELD afford to continue his support of a most odious and oppressive tax which brings in no revenue to the Government, but which interferes very decidedly with the dissemination of knowledge among the people?

WHAT MANNER OF MAN HE IS.

Among the new anecdotes is one told by the Springfield Republican about Senator Conkling: A hotel keeper in Washington who went to school with him hadn't met him for years. One day Conkling went to his hotel to engage rooms, and stood in the office talking to the clerk. The proprietor came down and stepped up and held out his hand, saying: "How are you?" Conkling took no notice of the proffered hand, but drew himself up and said: "I am Senator Conkling, sir." "You're a fool, that's what you are," was the response. Conkling turned majestically to the clerk and said: "Can I have rooms here?" "No, sir!" shouted the irate proprietor, "not in my house nor upon any terms!"

PERSONAL AND POINTED

The Wyoming M. E. Conference wants to see prominent criminals punished as well as ordinary ones and at a recent session of that body the following resolution in reference to Wm. H. Kemble and his confederates was adopted: Resolved, In view of the notorious corruption connected with the legislature of the State of Pennsylvania, we, the members of the Wyoming conference, residing in the State, pray the Board of Pardons, the Judge of the court, and the Governor of the State, that the persons lately convicted of bribery and corruption be brought to speedy punishment, and that their great crime be not condoned, and that the Board of Pardons, the Judge of the court, and the Governor be notified of the action of this Conference.

At Cairo the other week, Gen. Grant himself said that he believed the Southern people were sincere in their professed loyalty to the Union. But if what the General says is true—and there is no doubt of it—what then becomes of the main argument of the Grantites in favor of his nomination, namely that we must have a strong government to keep the south in subjection? Either Gen. Grant or his party friends—or both, are guilty of gross hypocrisy.

Hon. Galusha A. Grow thinks that if Grant is nominated the Democrats will carry Pennsylvania. All right nominate the great smoker and traveler.

GEN. W. S. HANCOCK.

The Montgomery county Democrats in their convention held on the 20th inst., at Norristown, formally presented the name of Gen. Winfield S. Hancock to the Democracy of the state and nation, as a candidate for President, in the following terse and pointed resolution.

Resolved That Montgomery, the native county of General Winfield Scott Hancock, presents him to the Democrats of the state and the Union as the most available democratic candidate for the presidency, and instructs her six delegates to the state convention to give him their united, firm and cordial support in the national convention, and upon all preliminary questions.

Gen. Hancock is looming up proudly and prominently, as a candidate for chief magistrate of the Union and an impartial survey of the political situation can not fail to convince that his chance for the nomination by the coming Cincinnati convention are as good, if not a trifle better, than those of any other candidate named. A military chieftain he stands second to no general in the country, while his civil record during the trying time he acted as commander of the fifth military district, embracing the states of Louisiana and Texas, is such as any statesman might be fond of. In appreciation of his great services in the cause of constitutional liberty, the Texas Democratic state convention, which met at Galveston on the 2d inst., passed the following fitting resolution:

Resolved, that the election of General Hancock to constitute our rights and privileges of the citizens entitles him to the confidence of the people, and Texas will when called upon show her appreciation of his generosity and magnanimity, and pledges her undivided and enthusiastic support to whomsoever the national convention may see fit to nominate.

The Democrats of Louisiana are no less outspoken in their attachment to the brave soldier and able statesman. Her delegation to Cincinnati will of course be solid for Hancock; and as if to show that his popularity is not in the least sectional the green hills of Vermont respond to the proposition of heretofore southern sister states by electing a full Republican delegation to Cincinnati.

Of course Pennsylvania can do no less for her own distinguished son than other states have already done. Gen. Hancock will without doubt be nominated by the Democratic state convention that meets at Harrisburg to-day, and if the Cincinnati convention act wisely she will adopt the choice of Pennsylvania as her own.

In speaking of the action of the Louisiana convention the Harrisburg Patriot of a recent date reminds Pennsylvania of her plain and obvious duty towards her own honored son, in the following fitting and seasonable words: It proves, to, that the southern democrats have faith that Pennsylvania will not turn her back upon her reason with the democratic national convention or the election in November. Let us show our brethren in Louisiana that their confidence in the good sense and patriotism of Pennsylvanians is not misplaced.

On Tuesday the regular Democratic state convention of New York met at Syracuse, and the K. O. G. delegates met at the same time in the same city. They passed resolutions bitterly denouncing Mr. Tilden. The regular convention was "Tilden" by a very large majority but the delegates were not instructed.

Our Washington Letter.

Washington, D. C., April 24, '80. It is more orderly and decent Republicanism of Georgia and Virginia were at the Conventions just held in those States, the party mass, but beautifully made up in the south. These are the two states in which, less than in any others, there have been charges of white interference with the sweet will of the negro majority. In those states they have certainly gone in their own sweet way to perfection. Yet Badlam knows nothing of the negro. He speaks in these two Republican Conventions, which were made up mostly of negroes. Congress did wonders on Wednesday, and nothing on Thursday and Friday. On the first named day the army appropriation bill was passed by the Senate, without amendment, and has come to Mr. Hayes. The House passed the naval appropriation bill, made progress with the "Immediate Deficiency" bill returned with amendments from the Senate.

It was discovered on Thursday that Delegate Dunning had procured, under "leave to print," a speech, the publication of fifteen pages of "poetry," in the Congressional Record, and that prior to this official appearance he had copyrighted the thing. This, if it does no other good, will go far to prevent these leaves to print "frauds." The Record ought to be a correct record. It is paid for by the people with the understanding that it shall be such. But probably a majority of the speeches which appear in as "delivered in the House of Representatives" were never delivered at all.

The Senate commenced yesterday that promise to be a long discussion of the Spafford-Kellogg Louisiana case. As I have said before, it is certain Kellogg will not be disturbed in his seat. To be sure he was not properly elected to it, but the Senate, by a formal vote declared, by admitting him, that he was so elected, and a number of prominent Democrats and Democrats, including Thurman, Lamar, Gordon, and others hold that such admission settles the question forever.

The King of Siam, with more attendants than can be brought over in a Man of War will arrive in this country in July next. He will while here make special inquiry into the subject of improvements in the cultivation of rice, and for that purpose he will make an extended Southern trip. Congress will be asked by Mr. Hays to appropriate sufficient money to double the King properly, and will do so, I think.
