DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL TICKET,

FOR PRESIDENT, GEN. WI NFIELD S. HANCOCK. Of Pennsylvania. FOR VICE PRESIDENT, HON. WM. H. ENGLISH,

Of Indiano.

STATE TICKET. SUPREME JUDGE,

GEORGE A. JENKS, Jefferson Co. AUDITOR GENERAL, ROBERT P. DECHERT, Philadelphia.

A spirited Democratic meeting was held in the school house Monday eveand July 5th, for the purpose of orgapizing a Hancock & English clug. Entire harmony and good feeling prevailed. W. H. B. Eisenhuth, one of our rising young men, made quite a credit able speech. The following gentlemen were elected officers of the club; President-D. A. Musser, Vice Presidents-B. O. Deininger, W. L. Musser, H. N. Kreamer and James C. Smith.

The Democrats of North'd Co. made the following nominations: Congress-Lewis Dewart; Senator-S. P. Wolverton; Assembly-Jno. W. Scanlan; Wm. Elliott; Dist. Atty-C. R. Savidge; Surveyor- E. M. Purdy. A good ticket decidedly. .

OF INDIANA

President is a native of Indiana, having been bornin Scott county, that State August 22, 1822, and engaged in the practice of law at the early age of eighhe was admitted to practice in the Su preme Court of the United States. At the age of twenty years he was appoinprincipal clerk of the State House of Representatives. Soon after the close of the session of the Legislature the great campaign of 1844 began, and Mr. English took an active part. As a rec ognition of his services he was tendered an appointment in the Treasury Department at Washington, which he accepted, and continued to discharge its duties during Mr. Polk's administra-

In the year 1850 the people of Indiana called a convention to revise the Constitution of the State, and Mr. English, then twenty-sight years of age, received the distinguished honor of being chosen its principal secretary. In 1851 Mr. English was elected to the State Legislature against an opposition. mejority and over a competitor considered the strongest and most popular man of his party in the county. Me was elected Speaker of the House, though but twenty nine years of age and practically without legislative experience.

In October 1852, when just 3) years of age, he was elected to Congress and served four terms. He was a warm supporter of the political measures of the Pierce administration. At the time the Kansas-Nebraska bill was brought forward Mr. English was a member of the House committee on territories and made a minerity report in January, 1854. It was not adopted, but the amendments which Mr. English sought to secure were finally put on through Senator Douglas. Mr. English opposed the admission of Kansas under the Lecompton Constitution until that instrument had been ratified by the vote of the people and opposed the pelicy of his own party administration on the measure. In this stage of the proceedings, when the whole country had about abandoned the hope of settlement of the disagreement between the house and the angry contest was likely to be adjourned for further and protracted agitation before a people alread v inflamed by sectional animosities, Mr. English took the responsibility of mov. ing to concur in the proposition of the Senate asking for a committee of free conference. The excitement upon the occasion had scarcely ever been equaled in the House of Representatives. Upon adopting this motion the vote was 108 to 108, but the Speaker voted in the affirmative and the motion carried. From this committee Mr. English reported what is known as the "English bill," which became the law after a struggle of unparalled bitterness. Under this law the question of admission

I propose to present to the thoughtful consideration of this convention the name of one I nominate one whose name will suppress all factions, [cheers] will be alike acceptable to the north and the south. A name that will thrill the republic. A name, if nominated, of a man dawning of the day of perpetual brotherhood. With him we can fling away our shields and supreme tribunal of the American people against the corruption of the Republican party and eir untold violations of constitutional liberty. With him as our chieftain the bloody banner of grasp. O, my countrymen, in this supreme moment the destinies of the republic are at stake and the lieberties of the people are imperiled. who can carry every Southern State and who can carry Pennsylvania, Indiana, Connecticut, New Jersey and New York-the soldier states man with a record as stainless as his sword, Winfield Scott Hancock, of Pennsylvania. [This gave occasion for the wildest burst of applause that had been witnessed upon the floor or in the galleries, many delegates rising to their feet.] If elected he would take his seat.
