canary birds into California is thus told: In 1844 or '45 Charles and Henry Reiche, two young Germans, having little else than the practical education that seems to be natural to young Germans, were bird peddlers in New York. They went about from street to street selling birds from stands. Their trade was principally in canaries, which they had sent over from Germany where they were only ten or twelve cents each. They did a pretty a daring stroke that made them their fortune and established the enormous business that they now control. At that time California was in the flush of gold finding. Gold was plentiful there, but luxuries few. There was no transcontinental road, and the Isthmus route was tedious and costly. become the rage when once seen, determined to carry over a cargo. He, therefore, got 3,000 of the yellow fellows, together, and, packing them in little cages, started for the Isthmus. Arriving at Cartagena, he had his birds carried across to Panama Bay, by natives, and caught a ship there, and soon reached San Francisco. He was late in reaching the ship, and the captain was about to sail without him, but, seeing his boats filled with covered boxes, thought it was belated mail matter. When Reiche drew near, the captain hailed him and asked him what he had.

"Canary birds be hanged!" shouted the captain. "If I'd known it was birds, I'd ha' left you long ago. "

"Canary birds," replied Reiche.

Reiche's first idea of the flush tide he was to ride was caught from a homesick Englishman, who, hearing the whistle of a bullfinch that had accidentally been put in with the canaries, offered to pay the expenses of the entire cargo for that finch. As this amounted to $283, Reiche saw that he had struck a rich lead, and he put the price of the canaries at $25 each. They did become the rage. Hotels, saloons, private residences, all must have a canary. The little yellow birds made a craze like the tulip mania. The price soon went up to $50, and the cargo was soon sold. Reiche returned to New York a rich man.

AGRICULTURE.

DECENCY TOWARDS HORSES. - A hosre cannot be screamed at and cursed without becoming less valuable in every particular. To reach the highest de gree of value the animal should be perfectly gentle and always reliable, but if it expects every moment that it is in the harness to be "jawed" at and struck, it will be in a constant state of nervousness, and in its excitement as liable through fear to do something which is not expected as to go along doing what you started it to do. It is possible to train a horse to be governed by a word, almost as completely as it is to train a child, and in such training When a horse is soothed by the gentle words of his driver-and we have seen him calmed down from great excitement by no other means-it may be very fairly concluded that he is a valuable animal for all practical purposes and it may be certainly concluded that the mau who has such power over him, is a humane man and a sensible one. But all this simply means that the man must secure the animal's confidence. Only in exceptional instances is a horse stubborn or vicious. It he understands his surroundings, and what is required of him, he gives no trouble. As almost every reader must know, if the animal when frightened can be brought up to the object he will become calm. The reason is that he understands that there is nothing to fear. So he must be taught to have confidence in the man who handles him, and then this powvicious, will give no trouble. The very best rule, therefore, which we would lay down for the management of the horse, is gentleness and good sense on the part of the driver. Bad drivers make bad horses usually.

Now raise the bark on the stalk with a knife or with an ivory, and push down the bud under the bark until the upper end is even with the cross cut of the stock. Now wrap the whole firmly and smoothly with basswood bark or woolen thread, leaving the bud out to prevent smothering, but closing all the bark tightly below and above. In about two weeks the bandage may be taken off, and if the bud is tresh and green, it has taken, and the stalk should be cut off an inch above it next Spring and only the bud allowed to grow.

> LOOK TO YOUR BUTTER .- Reference is not made to your goat, but to the unctuous substance obtained by churning cream. A Cincinnati firm, the "Cincinnati Facing Company," is engaged in manufacturing a powdered soapstone which finds a ready sale in supplying legitimate demands, but now the tarmand butter-packers are using it to adulterate their butter. The soapstone is white and perfectly tasteless, and is sold at twenty dollars per ton. From six to eight pounds can be mixed in every tub of butter in such a manner as to render detection immpossible. This greately increases the weight, but does not affect the bulk very much. This increase of six or eight pounds in every package occurred, it was noticed. only in Western butter, but the most experienced buyers were unable to detect any foreign substance in this "heavy weight" article, and relinguished the problem as a mystery. Recently, however, a prominent dealer discovered the fraud. In view of the above facts it would be well for families to give their milkman a rest and look after their butter for a while.

Favorite Prescription is a powerful Restorative Tonic to the entire system. It is a nervine of unsurpassed efficacy, and while it quiets nervous irritation, it strengthens the enfeebled nervous system, thereby restoring it to healthful vigor. The following diseases are among those in which the Favorite Prescription has worked ctrees as if by magic, and with a certainty never before attained, viz: Leneer-thea; excessive flowing; painful menetration; unnatural suppressions; weak back; prolapans, or falling of the uterns; anteversion; retroversion; bearing-down sensation; chronic congestion, inflammation, and ulceration; internal heat; nervous depression; nervous and sick headache; debility and barrenness, or sterility, when not caused by stricture of the neck of the womb. When the latter condition exists, we can, by other means, readily remove the impediment to the bearing of offspring (see Invalids' Guide Book, sent for one stamp, or the Medical Adviser).

Favorite Prescription is sold under a positive guarantee. For conditions, see wrapper around bottle.

POO LIKEWISE. — Mrs. E. F. Morgan, of New Castle, Lincoln Co., Maine, says: "Five years ago I was a dreadful sufferer from uterine troubles. Having exhausted the skill of three physicians, I was completely discouraged, and so weak I could with difficulty cross the room alone. I began taking your 'Fevorite Prescription' and using the local treatment recommended in your 'Common Sense Medical Adviser.' I commenced to improve at once. In three months I was perfectly cured, and have had no trouble since. I wrote a lettier to my family paper, briefly mentioning how my health had been restored, and offering to send the full particulars to any one writing me for them and enclosing a stamped envelope for repty. I have received over four hundred letters. In reply, I have described my case and the treatment used, and earnestly advised them to 'do likewise.' From a great many I have received second letters of thanks, stating that they had commenced the use of Favorite Prescription, sent for the 'Medical Adviser,' and applied the local treatment so fully and plainly laid down therein, and were much better already." Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is sold by all druggists.
