'Landslide from the Cash Store Store.'

We can sell you goods 20 per cent cheaper than you can buy them in Penns Valley. "Overdrawn?" No sir, not up to truth by oceans. In every day-life you find shipwrecks, who, if they have to fight the battles over again, would fight and conquer under that excelsior Banner upon whose silken folds were printed in ineffable letters of gold, "that, silent, solid, omnipotent monosyllable, 'Cash,' the secret of our low prices. We submit our prices below, and all we ask is a comparison with old time prices."

We do not imitate in prices but ad prices to beat solid facts.

The New Cash Store,
Penn Street, Millheim, Pa.

—Harry Tomlinson and C. A. Sturgis are off to the city for Christmas goods. Business.

—The Kerstetter & Co. hunting party at Coburn brought in two fine deer on Saturday. Next?

—For Colds, Coughs, Croupchitis and all affections of the Lungs, take Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

—Philadelphia has a population of 845,939. That of Millheim is a trifle less.

—Whoever lost that good, heavy, left-handed woolen mitten on Monday morning can have it free of charge by calling at the Journal office.

—Just see it, please, that your stove, pipe and flues are in good order. It may save the insurance company some money and yourself much loss.

—The job work done in the Journal Office will compare well with any work done elsewhere and the prices are remarkably low. Give us a call.

—The undertakers of Lewisburg have been very busy during the past summer and fall. Much sickness has prevailed and many deaths have occurred.

—Neighbor R. B. Hartman has built and sold thirteen horse powers since harvest, and shakers, machines, plows, &c., in proportion. Business is booming down there.

—Many people go to Bellefonte for a suit at law, but any good clothing would much prefer a good suit of clothing, such as Lewin sells so very cheap, at the Philadelphia Branch Store. 2t

—A CONTRACT for building the new Lutheran Church at Milton has been awarded to Charles Krug of Bloomsburg. The edifice will be brick, two stories high, and will cost about $9,000.

—Yes, the sausage came—and a fine, big one it was, too. But the kind of deer is such a clever fellow and withal such a modest man that we forbear to mention names in this instance. Many thanks.

—Mr. Vitalis Walter, of Millburg, has obtained a charter for a new life insurance company, with headquarters at that place. The Buffalo Valley Mutual Aid Association is to be the name of the institution.

—Snyder county court begins Monday, Dec. 13th next. We don't know certainly but think the rest of the Kintzler murders will be tried. A great crowd is expected at Middleburg at the time.

—Mrs. John F. Chambers, of Union county, was here last week on a visit to her old neighbors and friends. She is entirely welcome to come again and bring her hubby along. The Holidays would be a nice time.

—Davy Brown keeps his front well ornamented with staple and fancy tinware. Dave is a good mechanic, as clever a fellow as you could wish to meet, but whether a member of the church or not we can not vouch. The cheapest lard cans in town.

—If you expect to get married during the holidays you had better get your wedding ring from that clever, natty little chap, Charley Sturgis. We know that he will do the square thing by you in that direction. Or if you want a clock, watch, or jewelry of any kind, Charley's is just the place for you to go.

—Remember the Holiday season is about opening and the Journal Store on Main Street is the place to get the Finest and cheapest Novelties.

—"Blaze away," said Dawson, when Ruffner threatened to shoot him, in a saloon at Monongahela City, Pa. Ruffner was a drunken braggart, and Dawson, fearing nothing from his menace, stood up before him and invited him to fire. Ruffner pulled the trigger, and Dawson fell with a bullet in his heart.

HOLD ON AND LISTEN!—J. Willis Mussler is on the road again buying up Calves and Poultry, for which he pays the very highest market price and the solid cash. This is an announcement worth your attention.

—The Bible class of the United Sunday school meets regularly every Friday evening, and that of the Evangelical school, every Tuesday evening. Our young folks—and old ones too—could not well spend an evening each week better than by attending these meetings. We respectfully suggest that they give the matter a trial.

—Cold, did you say? Why yes, we think so too; but why don't you go at once and get one of Lewin's grand overcoats? Le w, the boss clothing man at the Philadelphia Branch Store, can rig you tip top for hot, cold or temperate weather. "Don't you forget it."

—On Thursday morning an old log building on the farm of Geo. W. Stover, Esq., at Penns Creek, was burned to the ground. It was used as a sort of a store room for meat vessels, tubs, lumber &c. A quantity of salted meat, the property of Mr. Henry Whitmer, was also consumed by the flames. It was not known how the fire originated.

The New York Observer is one of the oldest and best family paper published in the United States. It gives both secular and religious news in great variety and abundance. Besides much valuable foreign correspondence. Try it a year. You can get a sample copy free, by addressing a postal with a request to 37 Park Row, New York.

ATTENTION!

Mr. MICHAEL LANEY's gunsmith shop, on Penn Street, Millheim is the place for the Finest Single and Double Barrel Guns, which will be sold at the lowest price. Also a full stock of ammunition for sale.

Repairing of any kind promptly and cheaply done.
A liberal patronage is respectfully requested.

MIFFLINBURG DEPOT BURNED.—Early on Wednesday morning the 24th, the Millburg depot building was burned to the ground. The fire was discovered at about 2 o'clock, but the building was so soon wrapped in flames that it was impossible to save it or any of the contents. It appears that the fire started in the middle of the building, in the agent's private room, but by what means is not known. The building was a good frame structure, 30x55 feet, and worth about $2000.

—The beautiful custom of remembering poor editors with presents seems to become more general—and indeed we see no good reason why it should not. To give where nothing is expected in return, is the true scriptural way of doing. Recently Miss Mary Motz did herself honor by sending a big, nice, plum jekon, and Mrs. Jacob Keen, by bringing a good-sized and very fat piece of speck. Both jekon and speck were absolutely delicious—fit for a king to eat. Our big Saxon heart swells with grateful emotion as we (figuratively) make our most grateful bow to these christian ladies. God bless them abundantly.

A great number of my pupils are not supplied with copy books, hence lose the benefit of the writing exercise. I trust all parents will inquire into this matter, and supply the wants of their children. I have urged the pupils, to get these things, but some may have neglected telling their parents.

—Tha' venerable man and aged minister, father Anspach, of Millburg, was here over Sabbath, assisting pastor Tomlinson at a communion service. He preached able and instructive sermons on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings, Saturday afternoon and Sunday morning. Father Anspach is nearly eighty years old, but still hale and vigorous in body and mind. He has been actively engaged in the Gospel ministry nearly fifty years, and his vast and varied experience, coupled with excellent social qualities, render him an interesting and instructive conversationalist. He is none of the moving kind but has served his present congregation substantially during the last half century. It is a rare treat to enjoy the company of such a solid old veteran in the cause of God, who labored for the good of humanity long before many of the "band box" preachers of the present day were born.

The school was well attended for the first month with a few exceptions, which might have been avoided had the parents manifested the proper interest. The lessons have been generally well prepared although some are not kept at home enough in the evening. Great improvement might be made in that direction. I desire those who wish to know how we are getting along to come and see, especially directors. All are invited.

WOODWARD CHIPS.

Six inches of "the beautiful" on this ice would make sleighing excellent.

S. Ettinger Esq., is paying the highest cash prices for pork.

Nine late converts were received into the Church Sunday morning.

Mr. Elias Motz has been ailing for some time, but we are glad to say is about again.

On Saturday the school house underwent a thorough cleaning. That's right, "Cleanliness is next to Godliness."

Dianna has been quite friendly to our hunters, having lately allowed them to take several fine deer.

A S. S. Christmas festival is talked about. It is a good idea and we hope all will unite and make the festival a grand success.

We are glad to see those young gentlemen from Millheim come down here Saturday evenings. They always smile and look so pleasant. As to their business we are not inquisitive, nor are they communicative. We presume however that they know what they are after, as also do several of our fair young ladies.

News Miscellany.

The fine spring on the old Allison homestead in Nittany Valley is nearly dry. This is the first time it has failed in fifty-three years.

A Coatesville girl was challenged to husk twenty-five shocks of corn in a day. She went to work, completed the task by 4 o'clock and won $2.50.

There is a pipe factory at Warren, Pennsylvania, which employs thirty-five men and turns out about eight gross of pipes daily. The pipes are for smokers and are principally made from laurel root and apple wood.

INSTANTLY KILLED.—John Metzgar, aged about 75 years, a farmer near Watsonstown, while engaged in threshing last Friday morning met with a fatal accident. His rake caught in the threshing machine and the handle was hurled against him, striking him in the eye and killing him instantly.

William Martin, a convicted murderer, was lying under sentence of death in the jail at Lebanon, Mo. There was no hope of a reprieve, and the prison was to strong to break. No ordinary way of escaping the gallows was possible. So Martin made desperate love to Martha Wilson, the Sheriff's daughter. He was young and handsome, and his suit was successful. One night she unlocked his cell, gave clothing, money, and weapons, and eloped with him. The Sheriff offered $500 for their capture, but they have not been found.

SCHUYLKILL'S STRAIT.

The Whole Valley Threatened with a Serious Water Famine.

READING, Pa., November 24.—Serious fears are entertained that a severe water famine threatens the people of this section. Streams, creeks and springs are very low, and wells are dry for the first time in fifty years. Nearly every borough, town and village in the Schuylkill valley is similarly situated. The rail mill of the Reading railroad has been compelled to stop for the want of water, throwing 200 men out of employment.

ANOTHER FAMINE.

The Delaware too Low to Supply Chester with Water.

CHESTER, Pa., November 24.—Owing to the low condition of the Delaware river the city water works are unable to supply the city with water. Unless higher tides prevail a water famine will be the result.

IN A BEAR CAVE.

Jerry Greening Has a Terrific Fight With a Great Big Beast.

HONESDALE, Pa., November 24.—The details of an adventure in the wilds of Pike county have just reached this place. Jerry Greening is one of the oldest and most skillful hunters in Pennsylvania, and his adventures with wild cats, bears and deer are pretty well known in this part of the country. A few days ago, just before the cold snap, Jerry started out on a grand bear hunt, taking with him provisions for a few days' stay. The first day out he killed a fine four-pronged buck, which he dressed and hung up in a tree out of the reach of wild animals. He built a fire a short distance from where he had hung the buck, and after eating a hearty supper rolled himself up in a blanket, with his feet to the fire, and was soon asleep. In the middle of the night he was awakened by a loud noise and turning over noiselessly on his side he discovered a large bear trying to pull the buck out of the tree. Jerry grabbed his rifle and after taking careful aim fired. The bear gave a loud growl and galloped off in the underbrush. In the morning Jerry saw blood stains on the ground, and following the tracks some distance he came to the entrance to a cave in some rocks. In front of this cave was a large pool of blood and the hunter was convinced that his game was within. He procured a pine-knot, out of which he made a torch, and after the manner of Israel Putnam, he entered the cave. The entrance was small and he was obliged to creep in on his hands and knees, but as he advanced the opening grew larger and larger until finally he could stand upon his feet. He was advancing cautiously when he heard a terrific growl, and before he could draw his rifle the bear sprang upon him from behind a large boulder, knocking him down and inflicting a severe wound in the shoulder with her claws. The torch which Jerry carried was extinguished and the old hunter was left to fight for his life in total darkness. He succeeded in reaching his hunting knife and dealt the bear several vigorous blows in the neck and side with the weapon. The blood from the animal's wound spurted into Jerry's face, nearly blinding him. The bear released her hold and made for the mouth of the cave. Jerry followed, but in the darkness was unable to find his rifle. He pursued the bear, and just outside the cave another hand-to-hand conflict took place. The struggle lasted about half an hour, and after the bear had succeeded in nearly stripping Greening of all his clothing and had inflicted several more wounds she was despatched. Jerry got another pine knot and re-entered the cave and procured his rifle. In the farthest corner of the cave he found two little cubs, not larger than kittens, which he took home with him to raise as pets. The floor of the cave, Greening says, was literally covered with bones.
