ONLY $1000.

Bellefonte, Pa., Feb 1.

P, GRAY MEEK,

Attorney General Palmer has created quite a flutter among the members of the legislature by his decision to the effect that under the new constitution each member is entitled to a salary of only $1000 per session, no matter how long the session may continue. The law under which members managed to draw about $1500 for each session provides that they shall have a salary of $1000 for a session of 100 days, and a per diem of $10 for each additional day, not to exceed fifty such additional days, Mr. Palmer decides that the per diem part of the law is unconstitutional. His decission takes a wide range but his conclusions seem entirely logical and sound. We give the salient points below:

The constitution commands that the members of the general assembly shall be compensated for their services by a kinds of compensation are expressly tra session of Congress. One is deemvide for paying the members, exclusive- if once assembled, would go into gener- at ly by the day. To pay partly by a sala- al legislature, and he does not wish ry and partly by the day is as palpa- that. ble an evasion and transgression of the constitution as to pay them a per diem alone, and the violation is worse because it tends to aggravate the mischief which the framers of the constitution meant to prevent.

I am of opinion, for the reason stated, that so much of the act of 1876 as provides daily pay of ten dollars for fifty days or less, is unconstitutional, and that payments made by the state treasurer under it, would be unwarranted or unauthorized. In this belief, I am confirmed by an able opinion of my predecessor, Hon. George Lear, given on the 9th of December, 1876, to a committee of the legislature, in which, after an exhaustive discussion of this section of the constitution and act of assembly this language occurs:

"A salary is defined to be an annual or periodical payment for servicesa stipulated periodical recompense. This is not only the established definition and popular understanding of the term, but the constitution, in the use of it, so qualified it as to exclude any other conclusion than that it is a stipulated recompense or compensation for a session. The per diem allowance in the salary act was doubtless an oversight, but it is nevertheless unconstitutional."

I may observe, in conclusion, that the session of the general assembly will be in no wise necessarily abridged by this decision. There is nothing in the constitution or law limiting their sessions to one hundred or one hundred and fifty days. Its length must be determined by the sense of public duty of its members, and the character of the labor they are called to perform. The compensation for a session, long or short, is as fixed at this time $1,000,

The Legislature in 1847. Major Pomeroy in Chambersburg Bepository.

In the days of 1847 members came here to remain through the session. They were not then supplied with railroad passes and when they traveled they paid their way. Very few, unless they lived near the Capitol, ever thought of going home more than once or twice and the great majority never got home. They began work on Monday morning and stuck to it until Saturday noon, generally rebelling against a session on Saturday afternoon. Those who were church-goers went to their respective churches here on Sunday. The citizens of Harrisburg then made it a point to cultivate the acqu intance of members of the Legislature and many private entertainments were given for their benefit. All this is radically changed. The members who come here now prepared to stay more than four days are the very few who live in distant counties and not immediately on railroads.

The Mormon Question

During the recent visit of Gov. Murray of Utah, at Washington, he had several interviews with President Garfield on the question of polygamy in the territory. Gov. Murray thinks polygamy should be stamped out by the most energetic policy on the part of the government. While the President agrees with him that it is a crying evil the former desires to take no hasty steps, but having once started out to press the issue to a successful conclusion. Governor Murray is a very positive man and impatient of delay, while Garfield wants to pursue a policy which, while it will end in the total abolition of polygamy, will not work injustice and unnecessary hardship to innocent women and children. As Governor Murray goes away apparently satisfied with the result of his mission, it is believed a conclusion was reached which promises early ac-

WAS HINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., March 25, '81. That the aggressive Mr. Blaine really had assurances, before entering the Cabinet, that he should coutrol the political affairs of the administration, is plain now. It seemed to be so as soon as the Cabinet made up for the most part of men of negative power and small prominence as partizans, was announced. Prior even to that-a month before the inauguration-one of Mr. Blaine's friends told your correspondent that the offer of the Secretaryship of State had been made, but had not been accepted and would not be until Blaine knew whether he was to be buried or whether he was to be allowed to help himself by its acceptance. The nomination of Robertson as collector of the port of New York, and of Wm. Walter Phelps to an important place abroad is what confirms this remark of Blaine's friend. No two men could be named, except Blaine and flayes, who are more distasteful to the New York Senator. If he does not fight against their confirmation it will be because he knows he would be defeated. But as long as he remains in public life he will be an enemy of Garfield, and he will only await an opportunity of making his enmity felt. Another embarrassing incident which confronts the administration in salary, and salary only. All other its carly days is the contest over an ex-

Still another difficulty, and fully as great a one as either of the other, is the Mahone affair. It is already seen that the recreant Senator can bring no strength to the party which has purchased him, and that the party will have trouble in paying the purchase price. With a common sense which, in view of what has taken place during the pasttwo years, seems a miracle, the Democratic Senators are acting together in refusing to join the Republicans in the payment of Mahone. They refuse to be a party to the trade. They are using, and, I trust, will continue to use, all their legitimate power to keep the Republicans from making one of Mahone's friends an officer of the Senate. They consented to a Mahone Republican organization of the Senate Committee, for Committe organization was necessary to a proper transaction of the executive business for which the Senate; session was called. But the selection of a Sergeant-at-Arms in place of the competent gen tlemen now holding that office is not necessary, and so they refuse to do auything more than attend to executive business.

What Tilden said on the fifth of March-that Garfield would have the stormiest administrarion in twenty years-seems likely to turn out the

The pressure for foreign appointments is unprecedented. Nearly every member of Congress thinks he should have a comfortable consulatn where there is nothing to do but draw the pay. In the way of would be governors of the territories, there are a dozen applicants for each place.

CARROLL.

The following extract which we clip from a Washington correspondence of the Philadelphia Times shows how our classic President is harrassed by a pack of hungry office seek, ers, and how they rob him of restt health and contentment. It is nojust the pleasantest thing to be President, especially since long years of Republican rule have made that party one vast horde of place hunt-

For the small offices, such as department clerks, the candidates are beyond calculation. Every Congressman has all the way from a dozen to fifty to provide for. Meanwhile, the worry on the President is beginning to tell. He complains that his appetite is failing him; that his sleep at night is disturbed and his general health is breaking up. Under the advice of his health is breaking up. Under the advice of his friends he began yesterday taking out-door exercise on horseback. At three o'clock he left like Burdale and England Burdale and friends he began yesterday taking out-door exsecretary, mounted a spirited horse and rode out into the country. He looked jaded and worn. The President sits a horse well. From the start he went off at a full gallop, looking neither to the right nor left. After the experierce he has had for more than three weeks with the applicants for office he is in a condition of mind no dou bt to prepare the message, which he promised in his inaugural, making a fixity in the tenure of office.

Killed and Buried by Lightning.

A strange story comes from Florence, S. C. As James Best was crossing a field on his farm yesterday h was instantly killed by a stroke lightning, which tore up the groun where he had stood, and buried hi from sight. Mr. Best was seen just b fore the fatal stroke and his disappea ance produced great consternation mong those persons who were watch ing him from their windo ws, and seve al ran out to fathom the mystery They found a large hole, surrounde by heaps of dirt, but not a vestige Mr. Best. After two hours' hard wor with shovels his dead body was four at the bottom of the hole. The case producing a sort of religious terror mong the more ignorant and superstitious coutrymen, and they look upon it as an omen of some terrible calamity.

A Cow on Fire.

From the Ithaca (N. Y.) Journal. The strange sight of a cow on fire was seen in Auburn recently. Jeremiah Finn had tried various lotions to kill the vermin on his cow and was recommended to apply kerosene. This he did, and while he was applying it along the neck and back of the animal the oil took fire from a lamp and of course the cow became wild, throwing Jeremiah down, breaking through the side of the shanty and running at full speed through the streets. Men and boys chased the blazing cow and finally succeeded in extinguishing the fire with blankets.
