MONOPOLIES.

The greatest danger that at this time threatens the general prosperity of our country are its monopolies, its big corporations, rail road companies, telegraph companies, oil companies, coal companies, iron companies and express companies. The boasted business boom of which the papers have so much to say operates almost exclusively to the interests of these, and the condition of the farmer, the mechanic, the tradesman, and the laborer has improved but very little over three and five years ago. The spirit and tendency of nearly all legislation, both state and national, has for years been in favor of combined capital and against labor—in favor of the few and against the good of the masses.

It may be considered fortunate that the people are beginning to see the true condition of things, in order to prepare themselves for the fearful battle that is fast pressing itself upon them—a battle that involves a question no less than the fate of the republic itself. Movements are inaugurated to organize the better elements of the country—the bone and sinew of the land—for the coming conflict. Several monster meetings have recently been held in New York city, in the interests of the agricultural, mechanical and laboring classes. We give below a series of strong resolutions passed at one of these meetings held at Cooper Institute, May 14th '81, and propose to keep our readers posted on the development and progress of the new and important movement.

Resolutions adopted at a Meeting of the National Anti-Monopoly League, held at Cooper Institute, New York, May 14th, 1881.

Resolved, That the continuation of Hon. Stanley Matthews, of the Pacific Railroad case, as a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, is a signal and alarming proof of the purpose and the power of corporate monopolies, of their purpose to pack the Supreme Court with Judges who will reverse its decision in the Granger cases affirming the right of the people through their legislatures to control corporations—of their power, to secure the confirmation of their candidate in defiance of the popular will manifested through the press, and against an almost unanimous report of the statesman and lawyers of both parties, constituting the Senate Committee on the Judiciary.

Resolved, That we view with apprehension the power of monopolies in the legislative, judicial and executive departments of our government; that the recent prominent part taken by the railroads in electing candidates for the Senate of the United States, and the nomination to positions of power and influence of Mr. Matthews, the railroad advocate in the United States Senate; Mr. Elliott F. Shepherd, the son-in-law of Mr. Vanderbilt and Hon. Wm. H. Robertson, the life-long attorney of the same interest, and who has recently been instrumental in killing the bill to prevent telegraph monopoly—all point to a settled policy on the part of the monopoly interest, to push their creatures into power where they can thwart all attempts of the people to hold them to a proper responsibility to the public.

Resolved, That the tendency is very marked to monopolize the enormous advantages of steam and electricity, and use them as a means to tax the public unfairly for their use; and that the concentration of vast wealth in few hands while the many are kept poor, is opposed to public policy, to public morals, and endangers the permanency of our form of government.

Resolved, That we especially view with alarm, the attempts of monopolists to control our courts and the press, which, with our schools, are the chief bulwarks of our free institutions; that we therefore deprecate such appointments as those above mentioned, and earnestly affirm that it is the duty of all good citizens, to hold all persons and all parties to a strict accountability for thus betraying the public interest.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., May 23, '81. Charges, like troubles, never come singly. Secretary Blaine committed the indiscretion of going over to New York the other day when the Senatorial fight there was becoming warm, and was immediately charged with the impropriety of meddling with that contest. Mr. Blaine is too shrewd a politician to do that, and it is strange he did not see that even his presence in the State, whatever his business might be, would damage the chances of his friends. But following this came the assertion that he had been found to be mixed up with "Star route" frauds. I don't believe the Secretary is above making money through star routes, even by the use of his present position. Indeed, we have it directly from him, while he was Speaker, that he "would be no drone" in a business transaction in which his position as a Congressman was all the Capital he had invested. But I don't believe he meddled with the Star routes, further than to recommend that some such routes be "expedited" or "extended."

WASHINGTON LETTER.

What ought to have been done two months ago, and probably would have been done but for the prolonged Senate session, will be done now. Following the example of Secretary Windom, the Superintendent of each Department will have his accounts looked into. All the disbursing officer's accounts for sometime past will undergo a careful examination. Steps will be taken by which the number of buildings rented by the government can be reduced. Many things which have been done loosely will be inquired into. It is believed that very numerous changes of officials will follow.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

The Postmaster General allows it to be known that criminal action will soon be commenced against several of the star route men. No names are given. Extensive preparations are being made by the Grand Army to celebrate Decoration day, Monday the 30th.

NEARLY 200 LIVES LOST.

Collapse of an Excursion Steamer.

LONDON, Ontario, May 24.—This evening at six o'clock the steamer Victoria, with over six hundred excursionists on board, was returning from Spring Bank and when near the Cove railway bridge, one mile below the city, the boat suddenly collapsed like an egg-shell and became a total wreck, level with the water's edge. All the passengers were instantly plunged into the stream, more than half of them being under the debris.

The first news of the disaster which reached the city was by survivors, who struggled through the wet and weary. The news fell like a thunderbolt and a stampede took place for the spot. Arriving there a horrible sight met their view. Fifty or sixty bodies had already been recovered and were lying on the bank. Those arriving from the city from every direction crowded around, anxious to see if any relatives were on board. About one thousand families were represented on the excursion, and the wail of anguish that arose at the sight of the victims was heartrending. Fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters rushed about panic-stricken, endeavoring to identify their friends.

About 7 o'clock some eight bodies were recovered from under the wreck. Almost every minute some victim was brought to the surface and conveyed to the bank. The steamer Princess Louise was early brought to the spot and the victims were placed on the upper decks. Fires were lighted on the bank overlooking the river, petroleum torches were brought and the search was continued until night.

Up to the present hour about 150 corpses have been secured. Among the dead are James Robertson, manager of the Bank of British North America; J. C. Meredith, clerk of the Provincial Court; Wm. McBride, assessor and secretary of the Western Fair Association; Mrs. William Ashbury, William Millman, of Montreal, commercial agent, and two sons, J. Rogers, plumber.

All is confusion at the present moment. The landing at the foot of Dundas street is now crowded with people, all waiting in breathless expectation for the steamer Princess Louise with the bodies. The total loss will aggregate 175.
