One of Simon Cameron's college bred "d -n literary fellers" finds fault with our style of writing, to the effect that we use the word we too frequently. He may be more than half right, but we cannot help to date. Tis a way we have-an individuality-and we can not get rid of we without spoiling our best productions. We don't publish the -they are but thinly scattered hereabouts and sometimes too tony to patronize us much. Our sympathies, business and intercourse are with common classes-just where we best fit and belong. Besides this we are no trained journalist-only an accidental, bungling sort of a country editor, and do the best we can. Indeed we do.

THE FINALE.

The last tragic act in the famous Guiteau trial is over. On Saturday Judge Cox denied the assassin a new trial and pronounced sentence of death in the following words: "-and on Friday the thirtieth day of June, 1882. you be taken to the place prepared for execution within the walls of said jail and there, between the hours of 12 m. and 2 p. m. you be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul."

apparently unmoved, and with his gaze table violently and shouted: "And may into a simple tangible form. the Lord have mercy on your soul. will curse every man who has had a part in procuring this unrighteous verdict. Nothing but good has come from Garfield's removal, and that will be the verdict of posterity on my inspiration. I don't care a snap for the verdict of this corrupt generation. I would rather a thousand times be in my position than that of those who have hounded me to death. I shall have a glorious flight to glory, but that miserable scoundrel, Corkhill, will have a permanent job down below, where the devil is preparing for him."

FATHER DEIFFENBAUCH, of the Clinton Democrat gives the commissioners and auditors of that county a sound but well-deserved drubbing for the manner in which they publish their annual financial statement. If there is one thing above all others upon which the people of all parties desire the clear and full light of truth, it is the manner in which the public funds are managed, They want the Dr. and Cr. sides of the county ledger given in a full, itemized form. If it were any of our business we would suggest to the officials of our neighbor county to do their work over and take the model statement missioners' statement of the receipts and expenditures of the county for the past year will be found. It is altogether unsatisfactory in severa of its aspects, and seems rather to conceal fell information than to give it to the pubic. We do not hesitate to say that it is not a compliance with the law in this regard. Why not, as leas been .customary from time immepenses, which it is believed the law requires, Who received those road damages? What repairing of bridges cost nearly $1,200 ? Who are those lunatics supported by the county? tax" mean? Why does the auditing of county accounts cost $256? Certainly a good accountant would do it for $25 or less and the Auditors ought to do it themselves, for that is the very business they are elected to do. And, finally, why do not our modest commissioners tell the public how much each of these officers received? The Democratic party has heretofore been soundly berated and arraig ned in formal indictment before the public for extravagant and improper expenditure of the county funds. As an organ of that party we have denied and attempted to refute this charge, and coustantly promised the fullest explanation to the public, and in this we had the full approbation of the party. Messrs, Morris and Hubbard were elected on tha; platform, and they are bound in honor to comply with that promise to the fullest extent. The people shall not either be cheated or blinded, if we can prevent it, A full state ment of the county accounts is therefore de-

The County Statement.

Our board of commissioners deserve much credit for publishing so full and complete an annual statement, in such a plain, convenient form. The arrangement is that it be circulated by every paper published in the county, so that every taxpayer may have it; and if the subscriber of any particular paper don't get it, it will be the fault of the printer and not of the commissioners. We advise our readers to preserve the statement for future reference and comparison with others that will be published. In this way they can keep themselves posted on the condition and management of our county funds-a matter that concerns us all.

It has been the practice heretofore to lump all the claims of the county, good so common that in the last week sevand bad, into one aggregate total, as and thus make the result to show fast as the only way to get them toit. We have tried long; and hard that the county would be out of gether. A distinguished member of the to suppress the bombastic little word debt if all its claims were paid up. For bar the other day said to an emirent but we didn't succeed very well up example, last year's financial exhibit member of the bench: "Judge, if these showed a balance in favor of the county, of $1088.81 on paper, when the plain truth was that the county would disposal." Which means that some of have made money by paying about $20,000 cash down to square off ac- to death.-Patriot. JOURNAL just for "literary fellers" counts. This year's statement shows the county debt to be 21,558,74, after all outstanding taxes and other claims considered collectable, are deducted. This amount may safely be taken as the real county debt. If any of the other claims classed as "outstand ing and not collectable," amounting altogether to the respectable sum of $24,735,15, can be collected, the county debt will be reduced to the same ex-

The commissioners have faced the music squarely by letting the people know exactly how the matter stands, but their duties do not end here. It is expected of them, and intended by them, to fund the county debt at the lowest rate of interest obtainable. Next they will give delinquent collectors, who have withheld the county's money without interest in many cases against thirteen districts (townships and boroughs) for keeping insane," which have been dragged along in county statements from year to year, will also be disposed of in the near fu-During the reading Guiteau stood ture. In this connection we would accord I'd rather stand where I do than where to the board of county auditors their that jury does and where your honor due share of the good work so well bedoes. I'm not afraid to die. I stand gun. They have with examplary pahere as God's man, and God Almighty tience and industry, made a full and thorough examination of all the accounts of our late county officers, and the plain practical statement which we lay before our readers is chiefly the result of their long but poorlypaid labors.

> The Republican county cammittee met in Bellefonte the other Tuesday, and appointed Col. Jas. P. Coburn, of Aaronsburg, and James Milliken, Esq., of Bellefonte, represetativ delegates, and proposed Hon. John B. Linn, of Bellefonte, for senatorial delegathe to the state convention which meets at Harrisburg, May 10th next. They are a pretty strain team, for Republicans, and are strongly instructed for Gen. Beaver, for Governor.

A PRACTICAL REMEDY. In speaking on the remedies for the growing evil of drunkenness the Harrisburg Patriot gives utterance to some very practical thoughts, which, as halfway measures deserve the candid consideration of all who feel forced to admit the utter impracticability of enforcing absolute prohibition. The widespread and pernicious custom of "treating" is what draws so many of our published by our commissioners as a young mer from the path of sobriety inpattern. But hear how well the "old to the vortex of intemperance. If . Aaronsburg. Jan. 5th 1882. veteran" scolds these fellows: treating were made indictable and the High Life in Washington.

The new administration is making a gay festive time of it for Washington society. The sethetic president whose nobby style of dress has been the admiration to the republican swells of the capital seems bent on making the most of his social opportunities. A Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun speaks of the dining and wining that are going on at the capital as follows: Since the first of January, when what is known as the gay season in Washington was fairly inaugurated, society in particular, has been in a continuous and if not almost unparelleled whirl of excitement. Balls, routs, dinners have followed each other in rapid succession, or crowded so much upon each other, as to become almost wearisome to intent devotees of fashion and the most accomplished dinners out. There never were so many elaborate dinners as have been given in the month which has just closed. The fashionable up town restaurants have each frequently had two and three large private dinner parties in one evening, where everything was conducted on the most elaborate scale. These were mostly where private residences were insufficient to accommodate the company. At a dinner given by a senator a few nights since there were twelve different kinds of wine served, and this was not considered anything unusual. Engagements to dinner are eral prominent gentlemen were coman offset against its indebtedness, pelled to invite their friends to breakdinners don't stop, the president will soon have several appointments at his our men will eat and drink themselves

Brutally Maltreating a Little Girl.

STERLING, Ill., January 31,-It has been discovered that a man and woman named Seymour, living in the village of Rock Falls, bave been horribly maltreating a fatherless girl, seven years of age, whom they were supposed to be taking care of. The child is small for its age, and Seymour compelled her to feed and take care of a horse and bring coal. He confined her in a cellar at times all day without food or clothing, except a thin dress, and punished her with a horsewhip until the surface of her entire body was black and blue and sore. Sometimes he would toss her to the ceiling and left her fall on the floor. No species of cruelty seemed too severe to adopt toward the child. The villagers last night made a determined for years, their attention. The "claims though unsuccessful attempt to lynch Seymour, but both he and his wife

A Fearful Family War.

DANVILLE, Va., February 1 .- The particulars of a horrible stabbing and shooting affray, which occurred on the Lanier plantation, near this place, last evening, have just been learned. The King and Slate families, who reside within a short distance of each other, have been enemies for months past. Frequent bickerings occurred between them, and the affray of last evening was the result of a dispute between "Old Mother Slate," as the head of the Slate family is called, and Mrs. King. The latter first attacked Mrs. Slate with her teeth, biting her savagely on the face and ears. Mrs. Slate called for her son George, and as he approached the scene Mrs. King drew a knife and plunged it into the breast of Mrs. Slate, mortally wounding her. Geo. Slate attacked Mrs. King and stabbed her several times. Her screams attracted the attention of her son, Thomas King, who came to her assistance, and who was stabbed eight times by George Slate. He then drew a pistol and shot Slate. The whole party will
