WHAT MUST BE DONE WITH BOSSES. An Honest Republican On Arthur.

men to-day rest on the spoils system. risk. They need the degradation and demoralization of the civil service. Their entire political structure depends upon it. You might as well expect saloons to be converted by temperance tracts as to expect these men to give in to cimust supplant them with other and better men."- Wayne Mac Veagh before the Philadelphin Civil Service Reform Association.

A Republican under Difficulties.

"My party has but three principles, and I am earnestly and vigorously opposed to every one of them. Its first I can discover, is the repudiation of the fever. state debt of Virginia; I am opposed to that. So, I am a republican under difficulties, and we are all of us becom- Dying During a Pause in his ng so."- Wagne Mac Veagh.

If the following account, taken from a Philadelphia correspondent to the New York Sun, is true, Gen. Beaver who is sure to be the Republican candidate for Governor, just made the narrowest possible escape from being President:

How Beaver Missed the Presidency The Pennsylvania delegation to Chicago in 1880 was headed by General James A. Beaver, a one-legged soldier, from Centre county. He came from a district whose people were strongly anti-Grant and warmly for Blaine for President. He was made chairman of the delegation, and voted and acted in conformity with Cameron's wishes and with the Stalwart phalanx, the famous "306." During the convention, in which he was, of course, a somewhat conspicuous figure, and after Garfield's nominatoin there was a movement to nominate Beaver for Vice President. Cameron at that time, and up to the conference at Mentor, regarded Garfield's defeat as certain. When the delegations from several States came over to that of Pennsylvania and expressed a willingness to vote for Beaver, Don Cameron looked at him and quietly

"Jim, you don't want that." And before he left Chicago he said: "Boys, we can do better than that for Jim. We can go home and make him the next Governor of Pennsylva-

The Pittsburg Post, a prominent Democratic paper, is strengly in favor of a fusion with the indepenents in order to form a combination strong enough to break down Cameron Boss rule in the state. The suggestions of the Post should receive due consideration at the coming state convention:

The Post has never disguised its earnest conviction that as the independents and the democrats are in entire accord on the question of state politics and administration, and as united they undoubtedly constitute a majority of the voters of the state, they should unite to redeem the commonwealth from the personal thraldom of Boss Cameron and the corruptions and extravagance of the ringster he finds it convenient, through the sweep of the machine, to set up as law makers for the people. That is our position. We do not care to haggle on terms or conditions to secure united effort, but are well satisfied that the sentiment of the people and of the democratic party large ly favors such a course, and will reach it if their will can be made manifest at the approaching conventions.

The political situation in Pennsylvania is anything but satisfactoryy to the big Republican bosses at Washing-

THE GRAVEYARD FRAUDS.

Proceedings to Wind them Up Inaugura ted by the Attorney General.

HARRISBURG, April 13. Insurance Commissioner Forster, who has been collecting data for months, with a view of exterminating the graveyard insurance nuisance, recently directed the attention of the Attorney General to the fact that two hundred and thirteen companies of this description had made themselves liable to dissolution by failure to comply with the insurance laws of the State. On the strength of this information the Attorney General has applied to the Court of Dauphin county for a rule compelling the delinquent companies to show cause why their charters should not be revoked and why they should not be prevented from doing further business in the State. One hundred and thirty-seven of the associations have been proceeded against because they have issued policies for indefinite and contingent amounts, approved and recognized assignments of 415 policies to persons having no insurance | 415 interest in the lives of the parties in 415 whose names the policies were issued and that they are insolvent.
