

Local Department.

Gov. Curtin is hereby tendered our thanks for public documents.

Read the sale bills of Dr. P. T. Musser, administrator of the estate of John D. Foote, deceased.

Money sold at a premium of 35 per cent. at the meeting of the B. & L. Association on Monday evening.

Work has again been resumed on the new church. It is the purpose of the committee to have it completed by fall.

Barber Springer is rigging and trimming up his property on North street in first class style. Jacob is what we call a live man.

Rev. W. W. Criley, who has faithfully served the Lutheran congregation at Lewisburg for some ten years, has accepted a call to Carlisle.

PHOSPHATE.—John H. Musser keeps constantly on hand at Coburn Station a superior quality of phosphate, which he sells in large or small quantities at most reasonable prices.

The rail road bridge crossing Bald Eagle creek near Flemington was totally destroyed by fire the other Saturday night. The fire is supposed to have been caused by sparks from a locomotive.

We had a most beautiful white on Saturday, three or four inches deep, snow had it not melted. The flakes came down big and fast, and the sight was as grand as it is novel at this season of the year.

H. H. Tomlinson, our popular Grocer, has enlarged his store room as well as his stock of goods, and you will find it the boss place in the valley to buy cheap and get actual worth of your money.

J. A. Lambert, the mail contractor on the route between Coburn and Woodward, is prepared to carry express packages and other goods to all points along the route at reasonable charges. All business entrusted to him will be punctually attended to.

WANTED.—The undersigned wishes to secure a man who will either rent his blacksmith shop, two miles west of Woodward, and carry on the business, or work for him as a hand. For particulars apply to J. M. Weaver.

FASHIONABLE DRESS CUTTING.—Miss Alice B. Bollinger, of Aaronsburg, will give instructions in dress cutting according to the most approved rules. Her long experience in the business enables her to give full satisfaction. Terms moderate.

Dr. P. T. Musser, administrator of the estate of John D. Foote, deceased, hereby gives notice that he will be present at the store of the deceased every Wednesday afternoon and every Saturday, when and where all persons having unsettled accounts or other business with the estate are urgently requested to call.

No better place to buy boots and shoes in the county than Doll & Mingle's, in Bellefonte. They sell a lady's dress shoe for $2.00; a fine button walking shoe for $1.00; carpet slippers for 25 cents; men's brogans for $1.00, and others in proportion. Try Doll & Mingle's shoes.

Lewin's Philadelphia Branch is as popular as ever—even more so. His clothing are always the best and cheapest, and people very generally go back to Lewin's after having tried other places. Whether you need an entire outfit or only a single garment, Lewin's is the proper place to go. He is just now giving away 10,000 musical whips and canes, an attractive and amusing novelty. Every purchaser of a youth's, boy's or child's suit gets one. Don't forget the place—Lewin's Philadelphia Branch, Allegheny Street, Bellefonte, Pa.

A SOUND DECISION.—The supreme court recently expounded what is known as "The Sunday Law," and took the ground that the making of church subscriptions is of the nature of a work of charity, and that it creates a valid obligation which may be legally enforced. In the case before the court one of the parties had made such a subscription on the Sabbath day, and at a meeting held in the church, while others were doing the same. Unlike the others, he, however, afterward repudiated the obligation, and refused to pay, on the ground that the contract being made on Sunday was illegal, and the suit was brought against him to enforce the payment. The doctrine of the court is, that subscriptions for church purposes made on the Sabbath day, whether to build churches, or pay ministers, or organists, or sextons, or for any other purpose connected with the benevolent or religious operations of churches, do not come under the category of "worldly employment or business" intended to be forbidden by the statute, but are properly included in "works of charity," which are not prohibited, and hence, that such subscriptions are legal obligations that may be enforced by a court of justice.

NOTICE.—Work has been resumed at the new Lutheran Church in Millheim, and all persons knowing themselves indebted on subscription are most respectfully requested to make payment. All monies subscribed are needed at an early day.

JOHN TOMLINSON, JONATHAN HARTER, B. O. DEININGER, Finance Committee

LARGE SALE.—Dr. P. T. Musser, administrator, will sell the personal effects of John D. Foote, late of Millheim, deceased, beginning Friday, May 19th inst. There is a very large amount of goods on hand and the sale will be adjourned from time to time until all is disposed of. In the store there is a very full assortment of the various classes of goods, especially in the boot, shoe and clothing line, as well as prints and dress goods. This sale will afford a good opportunity to the public to buy cheap. For full particulars see bills.

We call the attention of our readers to the new advertisement in today's JOURNAL of Harris' popular Millinery and Variety Store, Lewisburg. There is no establishment that we know of where our ladies can suit themselves better, or buy cheaper, those beautiful institutions called hats, which are so indispensable to their happiness. Harris is the boss place in Central Pennsylvania, not only for hats, but for the thousand and one other articles used to trim up and beautify the dear ladies.

THE ROYCE REAPER.—I hereby make known to the farmers of Centre county that I intend as heretofore to ship reapers on trial to all who wish to buy. I ask no one to sign any contract but all will have a fair trial before buying. The Royce must stand or fall on its own merits. For simplicity of construction, lightness of draft, ease of management and efficiency of work it stands unrivaled. For further information I respectfully refer to men who have used it—Jacob Kerstetter, Daniel E. Gentzel, Jacob J. Gentzel, Coburn Post Office, and others. Apply to LEMUEL CAMPBELL, Sunbury, Pa., or W. L. BRIGHT, J. H. MUSSER, solicitors, Aaronsburg, Pa.

A BIG CONCERN.—J. R. Smith & Co., the famous furniture dealers of Milton, handle furniture of a mammoth scale. They take contracts to furnish houses from top to bottom, including carpets and other necessary domestic articles, as well as furniture. We stated a few weeks ago that one of the largest mansions in Danville, recently erected, was fully supplied with furniture from this establishment. Several in Centre county were served the same way. Last week a large load of furniture was shipped to one of the prominent citizens of Williamsport. This gradually, says the Argus, their trade is extending to all the surrounding towns within a radius of fifty miles from Milton—the result of business energies rightly directed.—Sunbury Gazette

The Sunday Law.

Mayor Bill, of Lock Haven, is out in a pointed proclamation, giving due notice that the Sunday law will be rigidly enforced in that city. The mayor at the same time gives the full text of the Act of April 22, 1794, which is still in force, and which might be read with profit in other places than Lock Haven. It reads as follows:

"If any person shall do or perform any work or employment or business whatsoever on the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday (works of necessity and charity only excepted) shall use or practice any unlawful game, hunting, shooting, sport or diversion whatsoever on the same day, and be convicted thereof, every such person so offending shall, for every such offense, forfeit and pay four dollars, to be levied by distress; or in case he or she shall refuse or neglect to pay the said sum, or goods or chattels can not be found whereof to levy the same by distress, he or she shall suffer six days imprisonment in the house of correction of the proper county. Proviso: That nothing herein contained shall be construed to prohibit the dressing of victuals in private families, bake-houses, lodging-houses, inns and other houses of entertainment for the use of sojourners, travelers or strangers, or to hinder watermen from landing their passengers, or ferrymen from carrying over the water travelers, or persons removing with their families on the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday, nor to the delivery of milk, or the necessary of life, before nine of the clock in the forenoon, nor after five of the clock in the afternoon of the same day."

The above act does not apply selling liquor on Sunday, which is an indictable offense, punishable by fines and imprisonment.

THE ROYCE REAPER.—Mr. Lem. Campbell, who has recently become a resident of Sunbury, is general agent for the sale of the Royce Reaper, one of the popular machines of the day, manufactured by L. Sweet & Co., at Wellsville, N. Y. As an indication of the increasing popularity of these machines we will state that Mr. Campbell took the agency for them in this neighborhood in 1879, in which year he sold 24 of them; in 1880 his sales amounted to 52 and in '81 the number he handled ran up to 128, an increase of over one hundred per cent. each year. He has orders already for over 100 this season, and will no doubt double that number before harvest. We doubt whether any other machine can show an equal increase in popularity in the same length of time. This may be attributed to the excellent qualities of the Royce Reaper, it being of the lightest draught and is the easiest handled machine in the market, and as to durability it is unexcelled. He is also selling the best mowers in the market, together with rakes and a general variety of agricultural implements.

News Miscellany.

The Widow's Rights Supreme.

An interesting opinion was filed by Justice Trunkley, of the Supreme Court in the case of Daniel Rupp, of Lehigh county, who had obtained a verdict against the Lehigh Iron Company for the killing of his son, who was nine years old. The boy was married. His wife effected a compromise with the company and received a consideration for her husband's death. Mr. Rupp brought suit, claiming damages for the loss of his son and the services of the latter, which he was entitled to during the rest of his minority. An appeal was taken from the verdict, which was in his favor. Justice Trunkley in his opinion says that the circumstances of the young man, who lived a part from his parents and did not contribute to their support, were such that they suffered no pecuniary loss. The statute prefers the widow, and where a minor leaves a widow or children his parents have no rights. The first person entitled to such damages is the husband or wife; next, the children, if any, and lastly, the parents. The judgment of the lower court was therefore reversed.

A FIGHT AT A FUNERAL.

A Woman Attempts to Brain Her Sister Over the Open Grave of Their Mother.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., May 1. There was a terrible scene in the William Street Cemetery, in this city, yesterday afternoon, when two sisters fought over the fresh grave of their mother. The trouble arose from religious differences, one sister being a Catholic and the other a Protestant. The deceased woman was a Mrs. Farrington, living with her husband between Bound Brook and Chimney Lock, some seven miles from this city. The Farrington family are all Catholics, except one sister, who married a Protestant named Wolfe and adopted the religion of her husband. The Wolfes also live near Bound Brook. When Mrs. Farrington died her husband, being in poor circumstances, went to another daughter who had married a Catholic and endeavored to secure her aid in paying the funeral expenses. He was unable to do this and then went to the Protestant daughter, who agreed to share the expense of her mother's burial. It was arranged to inter the body in the William Street Cemetery, which is a Protestant institution. The remains, in charge of a Bound Brook undertaker and accompanied by Mrs. Wolfe and her husband and a number of relatives and acquaintances, came to this city in carriages. When they were at Evona, a mile from Plainfield, they were overtaken by a wagon containing the Catholic daughter, her husband and his two brothers. This party stopped the hearse and in a very violent manner forbade the burial of the remains in a Protestant cemetery. The undertaker was puzzled what to do, but drove on, the Catholic party accompanying the procession. Instead of going direct to the cemetery, he drove to the police station and asked the advice of Captain Dodd, as the Catholic sons and daughter threatened violence in case an attempt was made to enter the cemetery with the remains.

Mr. Farrington was willing that his wife's body should be interred in the Protestant ground, and his sons and son-in-law would probably have consented had it not been for the violent opposition of the wife of the latter. The funeral proceeded to the cemetery, and Captain Dodd called the Catholic daughter and her husband aside and warned them of the serious nature of the offense they would commit if they interfered with the burial. Meanwhile the undertaker was proceeding with the interment and had lowered the coffin into the grave. The Catholic daughter gave a shriek, and rushed to the open grave assaulted her sister, Mrs. Wolfe, heaping upon her the most violent invectives and raving like a crazy woman. Finally she picked up a club and endeavored to brain her sister, but was held by Captain Dodd, who deprived her of her weapon. He and his brothers did not interfere, but a large crowd, composed mainly of Catholics, gathered around the two sisters, and there seemed likely to be a general fight, sympathy being largely with the Catholic daughter. Finally the majority of the mourners were hustled into the carriages and driven rapidly off, followed at some distance by the Catholic brothers and sister, threatening vengeance.
