

AGRICULTURE.
RUST ON WHEAT.—The yellow or orange colored rust that forms on the leaves and stems shortly before ripening time, is caused by a minute fungus. The fungus-plant attacks the wheat a few weeks before it makes its appearance, and fills the interior substance of the leaves and stems with fine threads. These threads act as roots, by means of which the fungus, or rust-plant, obtains its nourishment from the substance of the growing wheat-plant. There is no remedy for the rust after it has once appeared upon the surface of the wheat. The most effective preventive is blue vitriol or blue stone (sulphate of copper), two or three ounces of this salt to a bushel of wheat. The wheat is soaked in the brine for a short time before sowing. There has been much energy expended in the endeavor to find some variety of wheat that is rust-proof. Professor Brewer, who has charge of the grain statistics in the late census, finds many districts where a variety of wheat has sprung up that for a year or so is almost rust-proof, but afterward it becomes infested the same as other sorts. As a precaution burn the stubble, thus destroying many spores that would otherwise germinate and continue the pest.

In Colorado is a ten acre field, which is no more nor less than a subterranean lake covered with soil about eighteen inches deep. On the soil is cultivated a field of corn, which produces thirty bushels to the acre. If any one will take the trouble to dig a hole the depth of a spade handle, he will find it to fill with water, and by using a hook and line, fish four or five inches long may be caught. The fish neither have scales nor eyes, and are perch-like in shape. The ground is a black marl in nature, and in all probability was at one time an open body of water, on which accumulated vegetable matter, which had been increased from time to time, until now it has a crust sufficiently strong and rich to produce fine corn, although it is not strong enough to bear the weight of a horse. While harvesting, the hands catch great strings of fish by making a hole through the earth. A person rising on his heel and coming down suddenly, can see the growing corn shake all around him. Any one having sufficient strength to drive a rail through the crust will find, on releasing it, that it will disappear altogether.

TO GET RID OF ANTS.—To thoroughly rid a house of red and black ants; cockroaches, spiders, bed bugs and all crawling pests, take two pounds of alum and dissolve it in three or four of boiling water. Let it stand on the fire till the alum disappears; then apply it with a brush while nearly boiling to every joint or crevice in your closets, bedsteads, pantry shelves and the like. Brush the crevices in the floor of the skirting or mop boards, if you suspect that they harbor vermin. Cockroaches will flee the paint which has been washed in plenty of alum water. If, in washing the ceiling, plenty of alum is added to the lime, it will also serve to keep insects at a distance.

In a bad case of gaps give the chicken a pill of camphor about the size of a garden pea. As soon as any symptoms are manifested, give the birds water to drink which has been strongly impregnated with camphor. The treatment seems to explain itself. The gaps or gaping is caused by the presence in the windpipe of small red worms. No medicine can reach them unless it does so in the form of vapor. One hour after the chicken has swallowed the pill it smells of camphor. Camphor is a strong vermifuge, and under the above treatment the worms die.

BEARING THE OFF YEAR may be effected by shearing off all the apple blossoms or small fruit on young trees likely to be over-loaded this abundant year. The work is comparatively easy on young trees, which as yet have small crops and are more accessible and it is more likely to produce a permanent change than an old tree with fixed habit.

GRAFTS SET EARLY in the spring should not be injured by scolds and suckers springing up from the stock about them. As soon as the graft shows that it is alive, rub off all these sprouts or shoots. If the graft should happen to die, leave the strongest shoot to grow for re-grafting, and rub off all the rest. The same attention must be given to buds which are inserted last summer and the stocks cut off this spring.

GRAPEVINES, pruned at the proper time will send out too many new shoots, which would grow and make a thick mass of branches and foliage. Rub off in time all the needless shoots, leaving the strongest ones (quasi distributed along the vine, at distances from eight to twelve inches.

HUNDREDS OF FARMERS in Pennsylvania, have turned their attention to fish culture. Many have stocked ponds and streams, and in most cases they have been successful, especially with carp, and in a few years they will depend upon fish for a subsistence as much as upon any other farm product.

A SUCCESSFUL BOSTON FLORIST says that he seldom fails to root slips of the most tender and rare plants. He credits his success to a layer of sand placed under the usual layer of sand in which the slips are planted. When moistened they act as a stimulant and feeder to the tender roots of the slip.

CHABRED CORN is excellent to feed to hens in order to increase their egg laying capacity. It is not desirable to feed it as their general food, but a portion of it every day will be found beneficial. Char the corn on the cob prettily thoroughly, taking care not to reduce any part of it to ashes.

It is lamentable that so few farms have a supply of small fruits. Many farmers never have a berry of their own raising, while the most hardy fruit, the common red cherry, is not all plenty.

OKRA is as easily grown as corn and requires the same treatment. The young, unripe pods make delicious soups, and if sliced and dried can be used the year round.

The present high prices are convincing proofs that farmers have not been able to overstock the market yet. There is plenty of room for more farmers in this country.

AFTER A HEN has been sitting fifteen days put the eggs into a vessel of lukewarm water. Those which will hatch will stir in the water, while those not alive will rise to the top.

ORCHARD GRASS and red clover make excellent companions, and as they grow so well together the former is being substituted for timothy by many farmers this year.

THOMAS MECHAN says that the average life of the apple tree in Pennsylvania is about thirty years.

In Trimble county, Ky., 60,000 peach trees were planted this last spring.

DOMESTIC.
BRAN BEDS FOR THE BABIES.—A French doctor has invented a new bed for babies which holds them safe in its custody and prevents them from ever giving any trouble at night to their attendants. This gentleman has subjected his system to the most trying of all tests, for he has applied it to all his own children, and considers that the life of one of them is entirely owing to its use. The idea is to fill the greater part of the cradle with bran and immerse the legs and part of the body of the child in this nest, covering them over the usual way, but fastening down the counterpane tight, so as to keep him firm in his place. Why this change of tactics should have the effect of taking away from the infant his usual desire to howl during a part of every night is a question which will leave nurses to explain for themselves after they have tried the system. In the meantime, until that trial has been made it is only civil to believe the testimony of Drs. Bourgeois and Vigoureux, who in two French papers of some authority declare that such is the invariable result. This is not, however, the only advantage to be expected from the system. The bran is supposed to have a warming and stimulating influence upon every sort of cotton or cloth, and to allow children of the more sickly kind to develop more quickly and to be sooner able to use their limbs. The inventor of the system declares that they delight in their bran beds, and always "quit them with regret," when removed at the age of two years, to one of a different kind.

PEACH BLOSSOM CAKE.—One cup of pulverized sugar, half a cup of butter, stirred until it looks like thick cream. One teaspoonful of soda, dissolved in half a cupful of sweet milk; beat the whites of three eggs, and put them in with two teaspoonfuls of cream of tartar mixed with a teaspoonful of flour; stir and add half a teaspoonful of corn starch. Flavor strongly with peach. Bake in two square sponge tins in moderately quick oven, and when done sandwich with finely-grated cocoanut and pink sugar. Frost with clear icing, and sprinkle this with pulverized pink sugar.

BRASSE OF DUCKS WITH PEAS.—Prepare a domestic duck as for roasting. Line a small pan, just large enough for the duck with slices of bacon; strew over the bottom a little parsley, powder herbs and lemon-juice, lay in the duck and add a few whole peppercorns, cover with stock and add a teaspoonful of strong vinegar; baste frequently and simmer until done. It is a matter of choice whether the green peas be put in the pan with the duck or cooked separately. Fry two onions in butter till they are of a pale brown; boil them to a thick sauce with some of the duck gravy; season with salt and serve with peas around the duck and the gravy thrown over.

WHITE FLANNELS THE BEST.—Often we are asked the question, which is the best for health, red flannel or white? We answer white, for the following reasons: White flannel is warmer. It contains no artificial coloring matter, as red flannel is likely to do, and hence can not be a source of poisoning, as the latter frequently is. It is more durable, and from the redness with which it shows soils, is likely to be kept more cleanly. The popular notion that red flannel is a specific for rheumatism or any other disease, is a mistake.

CHOCOLATE PUDDING.—Quart of milk, one cup of sugar, one-third of a cup of Baker's chocolate, one whole egg and yolks of three more, and two spoonfuls of corn starch. Leave out a cup of milk to mix the ingredients. Boil those until the milk begins to thicken, then pour into your pudding dish. When cold make a frosting of the whites of the eggs, vanilla, pour over the pudding and set in the oven three minutes. A little chocolate beaten into the frosting is also very nice.

CREAM CUSTARD.—Sweeten a pint of cream with powdered white sugar; set it on a few coals. When hot stir in white wine until it curdles; add rose water or essence of orange to the taste, and turn into dessert dishes or cups. Another way of making them is to mix a pint of cream with one of milk, five beaten eggs, a tablespoonful of flour, and three of sugar; add nutmeg to the taste, and bake in cups or pie-plates in a quick oven.

TO PREPARE SPICED BLACKBERRIES.—To six pints of fruit take two and one-half pints of sugar, one and one-half pints of vinegar, one-half ounce of cinnamon (ground), one-half ounce cloves, one-half ounce allspice and a little mace broken in small pieces. Boil the sugar and vinegar together, with the spices, putting these last into muslin bags. Then put in the berries and let them scald, not boil.

A NICE BREAKFAST DISH.—Remove the skins from a dozen tomatoes, cut them up in a saucpan, add a little butter, pepper and salt, when sufficiently boiled, beat up five or six eggs, and just before you serve turn them into the saucpan with the tomatoes and stir one way for two minutes, allowing them to be done thoroughly.

HOP BEER.—Sugar, four pounds; hops, six ounces; ginger, bruised, four ounces. Boil the hops for three hours with five quarts of water, then strain, add five more quarts of water and the ginger, boil a little longer, again strain; add the sugar, and when lukewarm add one pint of yeast. After twenty-four hours it will be ready for bottling.

SHERRY BISCUITS.—Take one pound of lump sugar, eight eggs, and a sufficient quantity of sherry wine, beat them well together, and then add a pound of flour and half an ounce of coriander seeds. Pour the paste into buttered tins, and bake them at a gentle heat for half an hour; then turn them, and cover their surfaces with some more eggs and sugar, and replace them in the oven for another quarter of an hour.

GINGER BEER.—Brown sugar, two pounds; boiling water, two gallons; cream of tartar, one ounce; bruised ginger, two ounces. Infuse the ginger in the boiling water, add the sugar and cream of tartar. When lukewarm strain; then add one pint of good yeast. Let it stand all night; then bottle. If desired, a lemon may be added, and it may be clarified by the white of an egg.

CUCUMBER CATSUP.—Take a dozen large rip-cucumbers, pare, cut open and remove the seeds, and grate to a pulp; place the pulp in a bag of thin muslin and hang it up to drain. Next day remove the grated cucumber from the bag, add two or three onions and green peppers chopped fine, a tablespoonful of salt, mix well, and place in a jar with sufficient vinegar to cover it.

HUMOROUS.
OUT AT FIRST BASE: A young couple on Prairie avenue had conversed long and earnestly one night last week about the weather and other thrilling subjects, and at 10.30 Llewellen grabbed his soap dish and sator from the $75 hat rack and propped to go home. In the hall were some rare exotics among them a young century plant, only a year old. "They are a serious flow," said Maud. "They are that," replied Llewellen. "How I would like to see one in bloom." "Would you, truly?" inquired Maud, with a radiant, artless look in her soft brown eyes. "Indeed I would," said Llewellen, a wild hope springing up in his experienced heart. As they stood in the doorway beneath the warm, bright stars of June, and he held her snow white, jeweled hand in his hand in his white, Maud ventured to squeeze the tiny, unresisting hand. "Yes, call," she said softly, and sweetly, and tenderly, "call again, Llewellen—when the century plant blossoms."
