

DEININGER & BUMILLER, Editors and Proprietors.

Local Department.

Don't fail to patronize the band festival on Friday and Saturday.

A good town property at private sale. Inquire at this office.

It is said that the Union county Agricultural fair is going to be a big thing this year.

Jeremiah Haines, executor, will sell the estate of Geo. Weight, deceased, about five miles east of Rebersburg, on Saturday, Oct. 7th, next.

The executors of Thomas Hosterman, late of Haines township, deceased, will have sale of the personal effects of decedent, Saturday Sept. 19th.

Let us all help our band to get their uniforms by attending their festival and investing in some of the refreshments.

A fine line of Family and Presentation Bibles, Photograph and Auto-graph Albums, fine Stationery, &c, just received at the Journal Store.

We learn from the Girard (Kansas) Press that our friend Percival J. Leitzell is a candidate for County Superintendent of Crawford county, Kansas. Hope he may be elected.

Six robberies were attempted in Lewisburg last week—two each day, or rather each night, on an average. The robbers carry ladders and enter the second story windows. In two cases they were successful. And what are the citizens going to do about it?

$10 REWARD.—I will pay a reward of ten dollars to the person, to whom I gave two new fly nets, to deliver to W. L. Musser, and who will certify that he did deliver the same to said W. L. Musser. R. V. SHAFER, Late of Howard Pa.

We had a very good, soaking rain on Saturday night and Sunday. Of course some people grow that it is too late to help the corn much, but for our part we have no disposition to quarrel with Providence on that score. Guess He understands His business.

It was gratifying to see how our citizens flocked around Gov. Curtin at Rebersburg. Every one wanted a word with the grand old Governor. All wished to have a hearty shake of his big, generous hand. There is a general desire that he should call again before the campaign closes.

Mr. Absalom Motz, formerly of Woodward, but for some years engaged in gold mining in South Carolina, was here this week to visit the old home and old friends. His brother Emanuel Motz, is in England now in the interests of their mining operations.

Mr. Wm. Otto, one of Millheim's most exemplary boys, but for many years a resident of Cochran, Venango county, paid a visit to the old home and friends last week. He reached just in time to take part in the reunion of Co. A, of which he was one of the bravest members. William is always welcome to call again.

CAUTION.—All persons are hereby cautioned to desist from bathing or swimming on our premises on Sunday, or from tampering with the pleasureboat or the lock attached to it at any time. A disregard of this notice will result in prosecution at law.

D. A. MUSSER, F. FIERCE, MUSSER. Aug. 24th, 1882.

The morning train going east on Tuesday last was packed with parties that went berrying, and just as many went in private conveyances. Conductors and Stoughton told us that it had been going on at this rate for the last couple weeks and that his passengers always returned with bushels of berries. It requires a large crop to satisfy the desires of so many hundreds.

Neighbor F. P. Musser is now nursing a sprained limb. He was out on the mountains on Thursday night, on special business, and in returning to camp he found a log in his path. In attempting to step over the log his foot struck a projecting knot which caused him to fall in an awkward shape on the log, with his left leg under him in a twisted position. Help was near and hand to bring him home. Hope Pierce will soon be over the mishap.

On Friday as the people were returning from the Rebersburg Soldiers' Reunion, Mr. McMullen, had an ugly spill-out near town. The driver tried to get ahead of the band wagon and drove on a stone heap which in the dark he did not see. In an instant the whole cargo, consisting partly of ladies, was landed on the hard road, head foremost. The affair looked real ugly, but fortunately no one was seriously hurt.

Wonder if President Arthur, Queen Victoria, the Czar of Russia or the Shah of Persia, are fond of peaches? Very likely—and if they had seen the large, luscious fruit of that species which Mrs. F. P. Musser sent us last week they would have grown green with envy. But that does not in the least disturb our tranquility, nor diminish our thankfulness to the kind and thoughtful donor, which feeling is shared by our family.

The Basket-Church Sunday School Convention held at Centre Hill on Thursday the 17th inst was the first experiment of the kind in Northern Pennsylvania.

That it was a most gratifying success all who were present will gladly testify. The large audience room of the church was full at the three sessions and the baskets more than sufficient to satisfy the wants of the large and happy assemblage of adults and children. The most delightful feature of the Convention was the manifest and sweetly experienced proof of an essential unanimity among all the servants of the Lord.

REUNION AT REBERSBURG.—The reunion of Company "A" of the 148th Regiment, Pa. V., in Kremer's grove, about one mile south of Rebersburg last Friday was attended by a vast crowd of people, estimated between 2000 and 3000. The occasion was favored by the fairest weather and by the most orderly and congenial lot of people that ever assembled together.

About 10 o'clock, A. M. Maj. R. H. Forster and Ex-Gov. Curtin arrived at Rebersburg, where the company already stood in ranks waiting on the gentlemen. Sergeant J. H. Miller then proceeded to call the roll, assisted by Sergeant T. P. Meyer, who answered for many of the absentees by a statement of the places and dates of their deaths. This done company "A" and soldiers from other companies under command of Lieut. S. M. Spangler, with the Brushvalley and Millheim Bands and their flagmen at the head marched to the grove, followed by a long string of wagons, bearing the soldiers' widows, orphans and families beside a multitude of others. On the grounds this large procession was met by a still larger mass of people who had come there from all directions. Almost every part of the county was represented and all wore smiling and cheerful faces. Having gathered around the speakers' stand the exercises were opened by prayer by Rev. W. M. Landis, and the bands struck up with national and patriotic airs. Maj. Forster, the former captain of Co. "A" then gave a graphic description of those events and scenes of the late war in which the company and the regiment had been playing prominent parts. It was an interesting historical piece of literature and kept the audience attentive from beginning to end notwithstanding its considerable length.

Lieut. Spangler here announced that Gen. Beaver had arrived on the grounds and would speak at once as he had but little time to stay. The one-legged colonel of the regiment made his appearance on the stand and was received by three enthusiastic cheers from the boys, which compliment he returned by a few humorous and choice remarks relative to their war career. It being near dinner time Lieut. Spangler proposed to postpone further addresses until the afternoon, but the audience were not ready to feed their bodies until their minds were well stored by a brilliant and effective address of that prince of orators—Ex-Gov. Curtin. Calls for "Curtin" arose from the crowd and he responded at once. The leading thought in his speech was his love and pride in the old Keystone state for having done more than its duty in times of war as well as in times of peace. His telling remarks were frequently interrupted by applause.

The audience having been dismissed made preparations to satisfy the inner man by emptying their baskets, while the company went into camp just as they did in war, received their rations, cooked and had their dinners on the ground in front of their tents. This part of the programme presented a novel sight and was highly enjoyed by all.

In the afternoon Col. G. D. Pifer, Col. J. P. Coburn, Sergeant Meyer and others addressed the soldiers while the bands interspersed their remarks by some fine music under the leadership of Prof. J. H. Fechner, the renowned band teacher. Sergeant Meyer while speaking to the boys was abruptly stopped by several shots and a surprise and confusion was created in the crowd by cries like "The enemy is near," "Up boys and on them," "Shoulder muskets," "Forward—march." The company left the speakers' stand in a quick march towards the scene of action on another part of the ground and were eagerly followed by a curious and expectant lot of people. There the men were drawn up in a line of battle, five paces apart and led by Lieut. Spangler engaged in an attack on the enemy, who approached from the opposite direction amidst a volley of shots. A regular sham battle was fought, captives were taken and returned to the stand under escort of the victors. The whole affair was done up in a very natural manner and the people witnessed this military manoeuvre with much pleasure and excitement.

The afternoon having thus been pleasantly spent the balance of the programme was carried out at Rebersburg in the evening, where a fine display of fire works took place lasting nearly an hour. This completed the many pleasures of the day and everybody admitted that the whole was a grand success and will remain fresh in the memories of the participants for years to come. Rebersburg and its soldiers certainly deserve all credit for the manner in which they had made the arrangements making this one of the most successful reunions ever held in these valleys.

As the time for opening our schools fast approaches we hope our board of directors will do their utmost to give us good, active teachers. This is the primary, the very first condition of good schools. By the term good teacher we mean one who has the necessary educational, practical and moral qualifications, and whose heart is in the work: One who will not consider it too much labor to visit the parents of his pupils personally and endeavor to show them the importance of sending their children regularly, and require them to spend their evenings at home, engaged in preparing their lessons: One who not only possesses a blameless moral character himself but who will make morals and manners a part of his daily teaching. We need teachers who understand their work and are willing to perform it—teachers of strong individuality, good disciplinarians, who will not shrink under discouragements and difficulties—to lift our schools and ourselves out of the rut of inertia, indifference and general neglect into which we have fallen. There must be a thorough shaking up of dry bones if we desire our children to realize substantial benefits from our schools.

Teachers who honestly and fully do their duty should be fairly and reasonably compensated. The same rules that govern the price of skilled labor in other professions and callings should apply here. We have an intelligent, competent board of directors. They are of our best and most progressive citizens. They understand the situation thoroughly, and we hope they will arise to a just appreciation of duty at this important juncture.

A prominent New York farmer, whose crops are proverbial for their abundance, uses no other fertilizer than land plaster and clover. His plan is to sow clover, plaster it so as to secure a rank growth, and turn under for his other crops, wheat included. He has kept up this plan for over fifty years, and claims that his farm is growing more valuable each year.
