PATTISON'S SPEECH WILKESBARRE

Noble Sentiments.

Mr. Pattison is very enthusiastically received wherever he goes. His speeches are short, practical, and abound in good common sense and sound principles. The following is his speech delivered at Wilkesbarre on the 14th to a large crowd that had assembled at the

"I am here to look in your eyes and feel the pressure of your hands rather than to make a speech, but I will suggest one or two thoughts t .at occur to me. In looking around this coun try in my trip down from an agricultural section to this point there is one fact that has foreibly impressed me. The cencus reports disproduct of the agricultural industries of the state and that of its mines. The gross product of these reaching millions of money in value, almost incapable of comprehension, represents the result of labor in various forms. It represents not only the efforts of capital, but the toil of individual laborers. The wealth of the hills is nothing unless the hand of labor is brought to the task of transforming it into valnable shape. The soil may be rich and fertile, but the arms of labor must guide the plow along the furrow and its hands drop the seed in to the ground. The coal must be picked by sturdy toil from its fastness in the earth, placed in cars, sent to the great commercial centres and distributed throughout the world. There is thus a complete chain of interests of a common link betw een all the people, employer and employed, engaged in this vast industry. The interests of all are thus indissolubly joined. Government is established to protect these in-

A Contrast.

It will be observed by the newspapers that Benjamin Harris Brewster, the esthetic representative of Pennsylvame stalwartism in Arthur's cabinet on Saturday night made a speech 'in Philadelphia in support of Don Cameron's candidate for governor, General Beaver. In the speech he made a deliberate defense of Senator Cameron and bossism. He said of the convention which nominated General Beaver that such bodies must have a controlling spirit. This meant Boss Cameron, He said further: "A convention must have some one to organize, direct, formulate. Do these dissatisfied people say that General Beaver will not make a good governor? No. Mr. Cameron, they say, nominated him. He could not have prevented him. He is fit to sit in the senate, and he is a proper person to consult as to the good of the party Has it come to this-that because Mr. Cameron'is a senator that he is to be forbidden to have an opinion ?"

This is what Mr. Brewster as a mem-

Shortly after the older Cameron had succeeded in putting his son in his place in the United States senate the same Mr. Brewster said of him:"Last winter our people were shocked with the election of J. Donald Cameron, the irresponsible son of a senator of whom I will not speak, ect., a son that has neither mind, attainments, dignity of character, knowledge of public affairs, party services nor personal worth to warrant his advancement, and who has no record but a bad one as an intriguer and manager of bad men." Evidently some years ago Mr. Brewster was emphatically of the opinion that the younger Cameron was not a fit man to dictate to party conventions as to who should be nominated. To-day, Mr. Brewster being a member of a stalwart cabinet, the case is entirely different. It is interesting to note the difference that circumstances make in men's opinins. - Petriot.

NEVER before were the Republican bosses and papers so hard up for campaign material as they are just now. They labor hard but utterly in vain to divert the attention of the people from the ugly record which they made for themselves in congress and the state legislature. and try everso much to invent some defect, some weakness, something or anything against the pure personal and public character of Controller Pattison. Their latest effort to defame Mr. Pattison is the slanderous allegation that in a speech delivered in Independence Hall in the John Hunter campaign for Tax Receiver, he spoke very disparagingly or Irishmen. The papers of that time which reported the speech in full, show that he did not use any such language at all. He did not even refer to the "M's and the O's" in any connection.

In the following letter to James Irwin, of Pittsburg, Mr. Pattison gives a most effectual quietus to the disgraceful campaign slander: CITY CONTROLLER'S OFFICE, PHILADELPHIA, October 9, 1882 .- MY DE AR SIR: I thank you for your friendly letter of the 6th. Let me answer your inquiry directly. You want to know if, as I am charged by one Gallagher (said to be a watchman at the public buildings at Harrisburg), I made a speech in Philadelphia, in which it is alleged the following language was used: "The Mc's and the O's must go to the rear. Honesty and decency have come to the front and the O's and the Me's can go to their old calling of carrying the hod." I never made any such speech, in whole or in part, and never uttered at any time any such language or any sentence that could be so construed. The whole matter is an entire fabrication, designed to injure me with a portion of my fellow-citizens, and is the last effort of the Bosses and their corrupt employes to mislead the people and thus prevent an honest expression of public opinion and aid them in retaining their control of power. I cannot believe, however, that it can have any such effect at this time. Repectfully, etc., ROBERT E. PATTISON. TO JAMES IRVIN, ESQ.

THE Democratic campaign is now in full blast and meetings are held at all the prominent points in the state. The great victory in Ohio has infused new zeal into the rank and file of the party, while besides the candidates such a matchless array of sperkers as Judge Black, close a remarkable similarity in the aggregate Cov. Curtin, Ex-Senator Wallace, Hon. Sam'l J. Randall, Gen. Davis, Hopkins, Speer, Stenger and a host of others are addressing their fellow citizens at large and enthusiastic meetings. The Democrats of Pennsylvania are marching on to certain victory.

THE Stalwart papers are just now very busy explaining the causes that led to their disastrious defeat in Ohio. They soon will hear some thing "drop" in Pennsylvania and New York which will give more and properly defeated.

Why Beaver Won't Meet Stew-

From the Pottsville Chronicle, Dem. One of the reasons why Beaver fears to meet Stewart is that Stewart is prepared to show that Beaver could have been a Republican United States Senator from this State, except that he insisted upon being a Cameron United States Senator. When those who bolted Oliver were offered Beaver they were willing to take him on conditions which he declined.

THE disgrace brought upon the Democracy of this Senatorial district by the shameful and criminal conduct of some of the conferees in making and taking bribes, makes an overhauling of the whole work imperative. The Democrats of Clinton and Clearfield counties refuse to recognize the nomination of Mr. Alexander, although neither be nor his conferees are even charged with any complicity in the matter. It rests between A. J. Jackson, a Clearfield man, and George Runian of Lock Haven, both of whom were arrested and ber of Arthur's stalwart cabinet says are under bonds to answer the charge of bribery at the next term of the Clinton county court. Meanwhile the committees of the several counties are taking measures to convene another conference to cure the alleged irregularity in the nomination, and a few days will tell what has been

One lesson the Democracy dught to learn from this awkard, untimely and disreputable business, and that is that all conferees should be appointed by the respective county conventions, instead of permitting candidates to appoint them. The latter custom is a new innovation and is the chief cause of the stubborn deadlooks that, so seriously threaten the harmony of the party, and in the worst cases lead to such a disgraceful state of things as the case before us.
