"LET US HAVE PEACE."

Now that the election is over and nearly siz months we all had politics for dinner, politics for supper. politics all around and all over, and now let us have a good long vacation. Not that citizens should ignore politics altogether and take no interest in public affairs. All should keep themselves well informed in the political history of the country-especially on the current events of the present, the live questions of the day. This is not only a privilege but a high duty of every American citizen. But it is not necessary to talk about politics on every possible occasion and with every one we meet. This often leads to violent and angry argumentation and not sel lom to bad feeling between neighbors and friends. Passion takes the place of reason and men forget the respect due to each other.

There are other duties than politics that are worthy of our best efforts. It is the highest duty of evcry father to provide for his family -to feed, cloth and educate his children, and it just now a very seasonable time to give due attention to our schools. We do not appreciate our responsibilities in this matter as we should. Too much is left to mere chance and the whims and some solid reform in this great work.

We also owe important duties to the comunity in which we live. Every public and private improvement calculated to enchance our material prosperity, should receive our best encouragement and help. Whatever benefits one man in the neighborhood benefits all to a certain degree.

It is an opportune season too, now that the excitement and anxiety incident to a political campaign are over, to take a fresh start in Sunday school and church work, in the temperance cause, in deeds of charity Curtin is held by all parties in his and love to the shivering, the poor, the sick, the orphan, the homeless to Speaker Kyfer. and friendless.

Let us have a rest in politics, but remember activity in business, in educational, moral and religous develernor-elect takes his triumphant election calmly and cooly. He has not lost his head, nor do I think he will. He is a young man with an old head on his shoulders. Those who know him immediately, both democrats and republicans, speak of him in the highest terms. He is the son of the late Rev. Robert E. Pattison, D. D., a noted minister of the M. E. church, and for many years the secretary of the old Philadelphia conference. Young Pattison is named after the late Rev. Robert Emory, D. D., who was the second president of Dickinson college, Carlisle, after it passed into the control of the Methodist episcopal church. He is a consistent Methodist himself, and is a leading member of the Twentieth street M. E. church, Twentieth below Walnut, of which Rev. John Richard Boyle, formerly of the Duke street M. E. church, Lancaster, is pastor. Mr. Pattison is active in all church matters. He is president of the board of trustees of his church, and likewise a teacher in the Sunday school, having charge of the young ladies' bible class. He possesses in an eminent degree the love and esteem of his fellow parishioners. In his personal intercourse he is easily accessible, and is an entertaining conversa-Sunday School at A. M.-D. A. Musser, Supt tionalist. As a public speaker he is fluent, but plain and practical, places every word at the right place and with telling effect. His speech at Horticultural Hall the Saturday night previous to the election was really a masterly effort. A prominent republican gentleman said to me the other day: "Mr. Pattison will be no figure-head. He will be the governor himself. He appreciates the gravity of the situation, and his constant effort will be to give the people of Pennsylvania an honest, efncient and economical administration. He is a conscientious, Christian man, and never neglects his religious duties. You may rest assured his administration will be a success." Such is the man whom Pennsylvanians have just elevated to the highest office within

How Did Hubbell Spend the Money.

WASHINGTON, November 9 .- The clerks in the departments are now discussing the question as to what has benearly everybody so happy over government employes, except in Virgithe result, let us have peace. For nia. He complained that there was no redress or method of investigation as to the manner in which the money was disposed of. The employes were told that their money was to be used where it would do the most good. Some of the clerks accuse Hubbell of squandering the money. It is said that coupes were hired and cigars, lunches and liquors were provided for those employed by the committee, all of which were paid for out of the assessment fund. An effort will be made to have the disbursement of the fund investigated.
