NEGLECTED LANDS IN USE FOR PASTURthere of white clover, mullein, and possibly a little sorrel. Rotting logs and stumps having hunted in vain to obtain their fill, retreat to the shade, of which there is liable to be a superabundance, made up of worthess trees, which encumber the ground they stand upon. The animals grow but little, are always small and lean, and are never expected by the owner to be otherwise; and under this kind of management, drag out a life at out on a par with the cattle of South America, naving, individually, about as much merit. A term provided with grazing ground of the kind referred to should never be made the home of improved stock, If bought in good condition, and the transfer be made from good pasture to those of the kind described, they will mevitably shrink. It is not surer that water will find its own level than that well bred and meritorious stock will, in a few years, upon such pasturage, get down towards the level of the scrub, for upon soil that grows only poor grass and weeds, the best of stock will become stunted and less valuable. Nor will liberal teeding during winter compensate for the half year of such summer treatment as that referred to for the reason that the best part of the year in which to secure growth and condition is frittered away. All neglected, cast away lands, whether in timbered districts or otherwise-and the kind mentioned is equally common to prairie farms-should be reclaimed, by being thoroughly broken up, planted to a suitable crop, and afterward seeded down; if for pasture alone, not to one kind of grass, but to two or three. It is not often enough remembered that it should be a leading object, if growing any grain crop, to pave the way for grass. It is tolly to expect good pasture without said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. some preliminary preparation of soil for it. At any rate, as a rule, no good yield can be had util the land is tilled in such a man ner as will insure good growth. THE PIG IN AGRICULTURE. - The pig has recently been spoken of in contempt when compared with our domestic animals. But if we examine his good qualities at all critically we must award him a high place ia agriculture. He is found to produce a pound of product from less tood than either cattle or sheep, and is therefore, the most economical machine to manufacture our great corn crop into marketable meat. Our people are becoming wiser every year, and exporting less, proportionately, of the raw material of condensed product. If it takes seven pounds of corn on the average to make a pound of pork, as is no doubt the case, the farmer begins to see the econ omy of exporting one pound of pork, bacon or ham, instead of seven pounds of corn. The difference in cost of freight makes a duction of a ton of pork on the farm will carry off only a little more than half the fertility carried off by a ton of beef Besides, a ton of beef will require nearly 50 per cent. more to produce it. This gives of producing pork and beef. It is thus evident that the pig should have a high place in our agriculture; should be fostered in every way; his capabilities studied and pushed; his diseases carefully noted and prevented, for he is the most profitable meat-producing animal on the farm. The pig is an excellent adjunct to the dairy, turning all refuse milk and even whey into cash. As he is king of our meat exports, so let us treat him with great consideration.

To Avoid GRAPE Rot. - Grape roots are generally planted about eight feet apart, an 1 from two to three shoots are allowed to grow from each root. Very early in the Spring the vines are trimmed close The young shocts put out very close together, and form a great mass of leaves with the bunches of grapes underneath, almost or quite hidden from the sun's rays Tno result of all this is that the vines are permitted to overbear, the grapes are hidden from the sun's rays, and they rot and tall off, and the owner there of bemoans h s bad luck of not having a into wine to tickle his own palate and that of his friend or friends. Now, let me suggest the remedy, if I can. Plant the vines 16 feet apart, instead of eight. Trim them give each line an abundance of length, and then the bunches of grapes will have an abundance of air, light and sun's rays, and I venture the opinion that the rot will not make its appearance.

A good deal of care must be observed in banking up celery. If the earth is applied when the stalks are wet the celery will be hable to rust, and it is necessary to be careful not to get the earth into the heart of the plants, because in such an event it is much better than to cover the plants alweeks before banking it up again.

PROTECTION FROM LIGHTNING. -An extremely cheap and simple way of protecting houses from the effects of light. ning is reported to have been recently made in France. It consists merely of straw attached to sticks or broom-handles and placed on the roofs of houses in an upright position. The first trials of this simple apparatus were made at Tarbes (Hautes Pyrenees) by some intelligent agriculturists, and the result was so satisfactory that afterwards eighteen communes of the Tarbes district provided all their houses with these bundles of straw, and there have been no accidents from lightning since in the district.

THE indirect person: It is almost impossible to get a direct answer out of some people. There is Brown, for instance. Fogg met him a few days ago with the remark: "Good morning," but Brown wouldn't commit himself. He simply echoed "Good morning," leaving Fogg in doubt whether he concurred or dissented, or whether he was simply mocking. "How d' ye do?" asked Fogg, and Brown refused to inform him, possibly because Fogg is not a doctor, and in his turn asked: "How d' ye do?" "How are you?" again queried Fogg, and again Brown evaded by returning the question: "How are you?" "Good day," said Fogg, trying another tack; but Brown was not to be caught; he repeated the words "Good day," and hurried off.

I am Now Using it Freely in My Practice.

"FACTS TELL THE STORY."

BALTIMORE, Md., Jan. 27, 1882. Mr. H. R. STEVENS: Heretofore I have been strongly opposed to all proprietary medicines, but, as there is an exception to most rules, I feel that my prejudice against patent medicines has had a fearful shock in the case of your VEGETI E, and has been compelled to give way before the stronger evidence of facts. About two years ago I was induced to give a fair trial of your VEGETINE as detergent in some Strumous (Scrofulosis) cases of here-litary transmission, attended with swelling of the lymphatic glands and joints, carious ulcerations of bones and constitutional syphilitic taint, and, in justice, I feel I should be derelict to duty did I not testify to the great value of your VEGE-TINE. Without exception, I have found it an admirable adjunct in the removal of the above constitutional disturbances. I am now using it freely in my practice. I am aware that I am rendering myself amenable to the charge of unprofessional conduct in thus outraging the rules of medical ethics, in fostering a so-called Quack Medicine. This is simply Bosh! Facts tell the story, and I again assert that VEGETINE is a valuable adjunct to our Materia Medica. If this testimony to 119 value will sell one more bottle, I shall feel that I have done some poor sufferer a Samaritan benefit. JARVIS R. WILCOX, M. D.

A NOTED BUT UNTITLED WOMAN.

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pink ham, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspondence which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, or joy at release from it. Her Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not evil purposes. I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this. On account of its proven merits, it is recommended and prescribed by the best physicians in the country. One says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will cure entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhœa, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life."

It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weakness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeplessness, Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight and backache, is always permanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system.

It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her home in Lynn, Mass. For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show. "Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Constipation, Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifier works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity. All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole ambition is to do good to others.
