PRESERVING BEANS.—The bean crop has nary times vast quantities are consumed by the poorer or more economical classes. During the past year, however, those who have been looking for a cheap dish, have been compelled to cast their eyes in some direction other than "beanward;" and as by heating. Consequently they should be pan. thoroughly dry when put away. and from its plentifulness and its unsuitamercial uses in which white oak is utilized has been looked upon with contempt, but little eeserved when its adaptability to the manufacture of furniture is taken into consineration. It is more brittle than white oak and more porous, and this has probably been the cause of its neglect for shipbuilding purposes, combined with the fact that it is more susceptible to the attacks of the marire insects which abound in salt water. It is not a wood which will stand the variations of wet and dry; and while white oak was to be had in abundance the red oak was thought fit only to be question of its beauty being equal to black walnut, in the eyes of those who are not prejudiced in favor of the rich dark color of the latter.

THE light crop of apples in almost every section of the country is ominous for the future. It can hardly be possible that climatic peculiarities of the present season are responsible for the nearly universal failure. A more probable cause is the spread of insect enemies, decreasing fertility, or some other reason as likely to produce a failure a year hence as now, The "off year" theory will not do; for this is not the off year in most sections, and in many places it is the second or third season when apples have proven a failure. Notwithstanding these disappointments, we shall continue to grow apples, but their culture will be restricted to those who will give the requisite time, skill and care to the business. When the almost universal culture of apples is abandoned, then they will not be so cheap as they have been, but they will be of a better quality and a reliable crop every year.

It is usually quite as well to have cows calve in the fell; particularly where milk and butter are nore important than the calf. With ensilage teeding, winter will prove the best time for butter-making, but the silo system will probably be slow in coming into general use and the Winter price of butter must be high for many years to come. ## HUMOROUS.

A CORRESPONDENT says that the codof butter into a saucepan with three fish frequents "the table lands of the sea." The codfish no doubt does thus pale brown color; add half a tablespoon- to secure as nearly as possible a dry, bracing atmosphere. This pure air of the submarine table lands gives to the codfish that breadth of chest and depth of lungs which we have always noticed. The glad, free smile of the codfish is largely attributed to the exhilaration of this oceanic altitoodleum. The correspondent further says that "the cod subsists largely on the sea cherry." Those who have not had the pleasure of seeing the codfish climb the sea cherry tree in search of food, or clubbing the fruit from the heavily laden branches with chunks of coral have missed a very fine sight. The codfish, when at home rambling through the submarine forests, does not wear his vest unbuttoned, as he does while loafing around the grocery stores of the United States.

AN EXTRAORDINARY CASE. AUSTIN, TEXAS, February 20, 1881. To Mr. J. W. Graham, Druggist:

Dear Sir-My case was an acute form of Bronchitis. and was of one and a half year's duration. I employed the best medical aid possible, but failed rapidly, until the doctors said I would die-that my case was incurable. Thrown upon my own resources, I got a bottle of DR. WM. are never imitated or counterfetted- This is especially true of a family medicine, and it is positive proof that the remedy imitated is of the highest value. As soon as it had been tested and proved by the whole world that Hop Bitters was the purest, best and most valuable family medicine on earth, many imitations sprung up and began to steal the notices in which the press and the people of the country had expressed the merits of H. B., and in every way trying to induce suffering invalids to use their stuff instead, expecting to make money on the credit and good name of H. B. Many others started nostrums put up in similar style to H. All such pretended remedles or cures, no matter what their style or name is, and e pecially those with the word "Hop' or "Hops" in their name or in any way connected with them or their name, are imitations or counterfeits. Beware of them. Touch none of them. Use nothing but genuine Hop Bitters, with a bunch or cluster of green Hops on the white label. Trust nothing else.
