

Local Department.

Prof. P. H. Meyer's convention at Millheim, will commence Feb. 13th.

Just received at the Journal Store another lot of the celebrated Rockford Ladies' Mittens—no better anywhere.

A $40,000 woolen factory is to go up at Muncy. Wish we could write Millheim instead of Muncy.

The longer the days grow, the colder they seem to get. People are getting anxious for a change.

Mr. Henry Long, of Miles township, will sell his farming implements and household goods on Monday, February 19th. See bills.

FOR SALE.—Rev. C. F. Deininger offers his valuable property in Millheim at private sale. For particulars inquire of H. K. Luse, on the premises.

Don't you forget that we are headquarters for cheap and tasty job work of almost every description from a small label to a 3-foot poster. Come and try us.

Millburg is to have four new houses and one new store building next summer. When? But how many does Millheim propose to build? Now gentlemen don't all speak at once.

Mr. P. B. Stover and lady, of Lincoln county, Kansas, who spent some weeks very pleasantly in this section, left us for their western home, last week.

The Times Almanac for 1883 is on our table and as always full of valuable information and put up in a neat and tasty manner. It is sold at 15c per copy, but is worth twice that sum.

The JOURNAL STORE is keeping up a full line of Family, Pocket and Sunday School Bibles, Books of Worship with and without tunes, Albums, Paper, Envelopes and Stationery of all kinds.

Mr. George Bollinger of Aaronsburg, we are sorry to say, is confined to the sickbed again. His condition had been somewhat improved lately and we had hopes of his ultimate recovery. But "man proposes, God disposes."

Just as we go to press we learn that the saw mill at the head of Phillips Creek, belonging to Lamey & Shesley was partly destroyed by fire on Tuesday night and work was consequently suspended.

Do not forget that Rebersburg expects to have a rousing musical convention under the direction of Prof. J. A. Weaver, from Pine Grove Mills, which will commence on Monday, Feb. 12th and end with two concerts on Friday & Saturday following.

Mr. Philip Stover, late of Aaronsburg, has quit housekeeping and now has his home with his son-in-law, Mr. J. W. Snook. Mr. Stover will offer his homestead—one of the most complete in Aaronsburg, at public sale next Saturday.

The pavements in our borough at present are dangerous ground to tread upon. If you think you have gained a pretty fair footing, by that time you are looking around in the air for some thing solid to take a hold at and pull yourself up from the smooth but hard place you suddenly sit down on.

Glad to see our friend, T. G. Erhard, of Haines township, who had been seriously ill, moving around again. He expects to be able in a few days to resume his work in the school room. Hope he may enjoy better health in the future.

Read the Local Institute notice and make up your mind to do all in your power to make it a success. It will certainly be a pleasant and profitable affair, and our citizens ought to encourage it by their interest and support.

The Bellefonte Democrat sarcastically says that we now have another "largest" paper in Centre county. Dry up, shut up—you sassy little brat of a Reese Dan Vorman. We have seen boys of your size get their chops slapped for such forwardness.

And now Centre Hall comes in for a "grand musical convention," commencing Monday evening, Feb. 5th, and closing on Friday evening following. Lots of our own "Professors" are expected to be present, but Dr. W. O. Perkins, of Boston—presumably the same that ran the recent big convention at Freeburg—will be the Boss Professor.

The firm of Dr. E. J. Deshler & Son is dissolved by mutual consent. The books and accounts are in the hands of E. J. Deshler for settlement, where all who know themselves indebted are requested to call without delay. Dr. E. J. Deshler will continue the practice of the profession.

E. J. DESHLER, Aaronsburg, J. J. DESHLER, Jan. 13, 1883

The papers intimate that Maj. R. H. Forster will receive a good place under Secretary Stenger, and we hope that there is more than a mere rumor in the matter, for the Majors is not only a prince of a good fellow—the very soul of honor—but one of the best clerks that ever handled a pen.

Thirty-three of the principal business firms of Lewisburg give notice that they will close their stores at 7 o'clock in the evening. And we are willing to bet the best hat in Lewin's shanty that a large majority of the wives and mothers of Millheim would be only too happy to vote for such a law.

Don't fail to read the rearranged advertisement of J. F. Everett & Co. in another column. They are telling you some interesting things about bargains, goods and low prices and it will be to your advantage to look closer into this matter, and to call at their Bee Hive store, in Lock Haven and be convinced that they are speaking the truth and nothing but the truth.

Prof. Wm. T. Meyer is fast becoming celebrated as a pianist and his professional services are widely sought. He is engaged for musical conventions at Centre Hall, Feb. 5th—9th, Milton, Jan. 20th, Selinsgrove, Feb. 12th and Lewistown, Feb. 19th.

We understand that our own expert piccolist, Mr. B. F. Kister, will also attend the Milton convention.

A SEVERE BUT RIGHTEOUS SENTENCE.—Judge Cummin of Lycoming county sentenced Daniel Corson and William C. Ebner, two of the old commissioners, to pay a fine of $350, and undergo an imprisonment of eighteen months in the Eastern Penitentiary, and the latter to the same fine, and fifteen months imprisonment. The third member of the board, McKinney Smith, left and his bail was forfeited. The Commissioners were guilty of systematic arrangement to defraud the county treasury.

MARY E. STROMM, Teacher.

DEININGER & MUSSER now have the largest and most complete stock of marble on hand—both in the rough and in finished work—ever brought to Centre county. At their works can be seen no less than twenty monuments, ranging in price from $14 to $200, and about two hundred head stones, plain or carved, from $3 to $75. They are prepared to suit all tastes as well as all means. They have also accepted the sole agency for the largest part of the county including Bellefonte, for the sale of the celebrated White Bronze Monuments, Head Stones Statuary, Vases, &c., manufactured by the extensive White Bronze Company, Bridgeport, Conn.

Thankful for past favor they respectfully solicit the continued confidence and patronage of the public. D. L. Zerby is their authorized soliciting and collecting agent.

LOCAL INSTITUTE.—The undersigned is authorized by Prof. D. M. Wolf to announce that the teachers of Potter, Gregg, Penn, Haines and Miles townships and Millheim Borough will hold a Local Institute in Millheim, commencing on Friday evening, February 9th, and continuing in session the Saturday following. A highly interesting and instructive programme is being prepared and the Institute promises to be a rare intellectual treat. Teachers and directors are expected and patrons and friends of education are cordially invited to be present. Teachers are requested to bring specimens of their pupils' work for an exhibit similar in character to that of the late County Institute.

The citizens of our town are respectfully urged to heartily co-operate with the teachers and directors in making the Institute a success.

W. G. MORRISON, Grammar Department, Millheim, Jan. 23, 1883.

Der Friederich, der Friederich, Der bitterböse Dieterich! After a silence of two weeks The Centre Reporter—formerly the Centre Hall Reporter—makes a feeble attempt to reply to the castigation the JOURNAL gave it the other week—and such a reply! If we could do no better we would to-day sell out, quit the business and go to chopping wood at some furnace. Freddy would gladly have backed out of the fight with the JOURNAL which he provoked and began after we gave him just a few slight blows—hence his silence for two weeks—but we will not permit him to any such thing. Instead of low, covert attacks and insinuations at irregular intervals, a la Reporter, we propose to settle our differences with him by a fair, open and continuous controversy, if it takes all winter. We want the dirty job over as soon as possible and for all time. We have the necessary data in profusion to show him up in his true light, have paper, pencils and other et ceteras at hand and are ready for the fray. So then lay on, McDuff, And ——— be he who first cries hold, enough! When we are done with Freddy we will say "Finis" and will thereafter not allow ourselves to be easily provoked to notice anything he may say, do or not do, in relation to the MILLHEIM JOURNAL and its "portly" editor. This much we deem fit to say, both introductory and as an apology due our readers for taking up so much space, using so much valuable ammunition on such small game. Understand? We do it however only to defend ourselves and vindicate the truth, for a public journal which does not understand the rules of self-defense when attacked will fast sink into merited contempt.

Freddy starts out last week by classifying his Reporter with the "New York Herald and the like." Now we admit that he has just as clear a right to make a fool of himself if he wishes—and he does it herein most effectually—as anyone else. But when he says that we are "clean out-o'-sorts" because he does not compliment us, he commits the same sin for which Ananias and Sapphira were struck dead. We asked no compliments from the Reporter, only a little truth and justice, without however expecting to get even that.

Some prizes granted. Some censures granted. The Reporter is mad over what it calls the "sausage literature" of the JOURNAL, says we are continually begging and intimates that our overseers don't perform their duties toward us. Fine, classic, "ausgesuchte" sentences, truly! High, noble philanthropy, indeed! But never mind the overseers, Freddy! Don't bother as to whether we have anything to live. The mercantile rating of both firms of which we are a member is as good as yours. We pay out as much to employes and otherwise in one year as you do in two. Our reputation and credit wherever known is fully equal to yours. That's all. And what you call "continued begging" is nothing more than our peculiar style of returning compliments for little kindnesses occasionally received—a style so popular with our readers—but to you it is the sour grapes which you can not reach. In all our "sausage literature" we never offered a premium on hogfulness as you once did, when you proposed to send the Reporter one year gratis to the fellow who could eat (in good German it is called fressen) the longest sausage.

Freddy says we are no printer and therefore no proper judge in newspaper matters. True, we are no printer, but the JOURNAL office has a printer in the person of our partner, Mr. Bauniler, who can knock the spots from Freddy Kurtz any day, either in job work or in the make up of a paper. These are frozen facts on this point, and no one knows it better than Mr. Kurtz.

Regarding Freddy's intimation that we are a "jack-if-all-trades" we have only to say that he might apply the term with much more propriety to himself than to us. We are only a partner in the marble business, in the JOURNAL office and in a little book store, while he runs a farm, a mighty big printing house with "the largest paper in the county" and a water company all himself—the latter to the vexation of the citizens of Centre Hall. The time was when Freddy, in partnership with a certain Ex-Sheriff and a certain Ex-Commissioner even ran the whole county, but that firm was dissolved for the good of the people—not by mutual consent—but by the limitation of law, a little over a year ago, just in time to save the county from being run into the ground entirely.

We must break off abruptly. More anon. CONSCIENTIOUS CONSTABLE.—A constable up in Bradford county made the following return on a writ: "I executed subpoena by trying to read it to John Smith, but he was driven" cattle on horseback, and run faster than I could, and kept up such hollerin' I don't know whether he heard or not, this is the best I could do and I don't know whether the subpoena is served according to law or not.

BITS. Little drops of printer's ink, A little type "displayed," Make our merchant bosses And their big parade. Little bits of stinkiness—Discharging printer's ink—Busts the man of business, And sees his credit sink.

A young daughter of Chairman Thomas V. Cooper, of the Republican State Committee, was badly poisoned recently with a piece of lead from a patent indelible pencil.

Intense Cold in the West. SAN FRANCISCO, January 20.—A Winnemucca dispatch says the weather along the line of the Central Pacific in Nevada is intensely cold. At Elk yesterday the spirit thermometer indicates 54 degrees below zero. Ponds and water holes are frozen solid. Cattle are dependent on them to quench thirst. KANSAS CITY, January 20.—Dispatches received at midnight last night from various parts of the south-west indicate the prevalence of the cold wave. The temperature in Kansas as reported ranges from 19 to 20 degrees below zero. In some localities the cold is accompanied by wind and light snow. At Pueblo, Colorado, the mercury is 22 degrees below zero and wind prevails. Special reports state that trains on some of the railroads have been abandoned.

Ex-Congressman Fisher of Huntington, presented every minister of that town with a barrel of flour as a Christmas gift which was real clever in "Rush."
