AT Washington both houses of congress are earnestly at work on the tariff question, and it is boped that the pending bill will be ready for the final vote at an early day. Our legislature at Harrisburg has not yet settled down, to reals solid work, although considerable labor of a preparatory nature has already been done by the several committees. The democratic House did agood thing in the "interest of deconomy and reform by reducing the number of its officials and requiring them to the senate, which is prepublican has as yet manifested no such spirit.

RAT, CAT AND PUPPY PIE.

Wherewith the Heathen at the Antipodes Regularly Satisfies His Appetite. China Letter in the Troy Time.

In Canton we visited a restaurant where cats, rats and dogs were served age. He served in the Confederate for food. Dog steak, fried rat or cat stew were to be had at any hour. It has been often denied and many affirm that it is only one of the old Peter Parley's stories that the Chinese eat these things. But it is true. We saw a whole puppy stewed in a large kettle. We saw a table full of men satisfying their hunger with dog meat, and they ate with a hearty relish. We saw cats and pups in cages for sale and rats hung up waiting for purchasers. The dishes looked savory and the price of a meal was "dog cheap," but we did not indulge in any "bow-wow" soup or feline steak or rodent potpie. We weren't hungry just then. A TERRIBLE SCENE.

Distressing Incidents of the Sinking Steamship Cimbria.

LONDON, January 24 .- A Hamburg corresondent, narrating incidents which occured on board the Cimbria after the collision, says: One red Indian brandished his tomahawk beore an officer of the steamer and had to be disarmed. The tumult on board was indescribable. One married couple cut their own throats the causes of diphtheria, has this to in order that they might die together. The ship's surgeon encouraged those in the rigging to hold fast, telling them that the Sultan would oon rescue them, but several became delirlous nd let go their hold. The surgeon subsequenty leaped into the sea, saying he would 'make an end of it."

Another Hamburg dispatch says: "Several ersons were killed by the collision itself, ow ng to the flying about of splinters and planks. A passenger in the shrouds begged his neighbors to push him into the sea, he being too much chilled to move himself. They refused to do so, when he let himself fall headlong into the waves. An elderly woman, holding her Bible in her cramped hands, and singing loudly funeral hymns, was washed away from the lock. Two girls belonging to the Salvation Singing troupe, having secured life-belts, swam about a long time, frantically crying, 'Help! help! save us!' The people in the rigging replied, 'Come to the rigging; we cannot move.' The girls, half benumbed and no longer able to swim, cried out fer the last time, 'We cannot

Letter from Indiana.

EDITORS JOURNAL: You would like to know what kind of an institution we have here that commands so vast a patronage. It is called a Normal School, but should perhaps more properly be called a University. It was founded in 1873 by Prof. H. P. Brown, the present head of the institution, with thirty-five students in attendance. From this small beginning it has advanced by regular and rapid strides until it now numbers two thousand students within its walls.

The unparalleled growth and success of the school is no doubt due in part to its location, being accessible by railroad from all parts of the country-but mostly to the eminent abilities, the social and business qualities of Prof.

The original design of the school was to prepare young men and women for the profession of teaching, but the rapid influx of students from all parts of the country soon created a demand for other courses of study, so that the institution now has fourteen well-established de partments of learning, viz: Preparatory, Teachers', Commercial, Collegiate, Engineering, Musical, Fine Arts, Phonographic, Telegraphic Penmanship, Elocutionary, Phrenological, Law and Medical.

The fact that expenses are less here than at my similar institution in the land, and the equally important fact that a student may enter on almost any day of the year and be suitably accommodated in his studies, are among the advantages found nowhere else. The excellence of the work done needs no commendation. The large number of students who by their presence express their approval and satisfaction, is an argument so powerful in its favor that anything else that might be said would be like an attempt prove that two and two make four.

One of the most marked features of the school s the large reading room, containing a library of over 3000 volumes, consisting of Encyclopedias, Dictionaries, History and works on selence and literature generally. The room is also supplied with the test magazines, reviews and other periodicals, both American and foreign, of the world; and to this rich Piertan fountain all may come and "drink freely without money and without price

The school is self-supporting as well as self coverning in its character. It has no endow nents but stands on its own merits entirely The young lady is placed on an equal footing with the young lord of creation where, besides refluing bith she may also demonstrate to him the fact that she is his intellectual compeer.

Among the instructors, of whom there are twenty-one, I will only mention Dr. A. W. Yohn who as a medical lecturer and scientific instruct who has lately visited the Old World, and deals out to his classes with bountiful hand the results of his travels and literary researches in foreign lands; Prof. W. J. Bell, who savors much of the Rhine, having spent several years on the banks of that grand, historic stream age in which the immortal Gothe and Schiller wrote, and who never fails to inspire his pupils with a love for that language, which for purity copiousness and power is unsurpassed by any in the world; Prof. H. N. Cower, the teacher of mental science, Latin and Greek. He might ery properly be called a "walking oncyclopedia," but I choose to call him a living monument of crystalized thought. A master of the ancient and modern languages, he has harvested every ield of mental science from Aristotles down o Herbert Spencer.

I should like to speak of others who are no less emineut in their respective departments, but the fear of becoming too lengthy forbids

Whether the ambitious young professor, when he founded this institution ten years ago ever young women from nearly every state and territory in the Union, and from the provinces of Canada, I can not say; but certain it is that Principal Brown furnishes another brilliant exemple of what a young American without wealth, but endowed with truly high capacities and inspired with a rare and noble purpose, can accomplish for himself, his fellow men and his country.
