FOR THE FARM AND HOME.

How to Lead Cattle.

A plan in use in Southern Australia for leading cattle, said to be very effective, is as follows: Tie the end of she rope aroun 1 the base of the near horn; pass the line across the forehead. back behind the horns and under the back of the near ear, thence up between the ropes and the animal's forehead. When hauled taut a hitch is made which takes in the ear, the least pressure upon which by pulling the rope, it is said, prevents the most obstinate beast from hanging back.

Plowing Green Crops,

By plowing in a green crop, the surface soil is enriched, not only by the elements which the crop derived from the air, but also by mineral and vegetable matters, which were brought up by it from the sub-soil. The green crop thus acts the part of a gatherer of plant food, and makes it easier for any crop soon after this green manuring to get its supplies from the decomposing vegetation in the soil. The best plants adapted for green manuring are those which derive their support principally from the air, which grow rapidly, which cover the ground well and whose roots penetrate deep and ramify extensively throughout the soil.

The Horse-Inflamation of the Bowels.

In this disease, says the Western Agriculturist, no time must be lost, but the animal must be put to rest as soon as possible, fer unless you relieve him enough to make him quiet in a very short time, it will be impossible to save his life. My great success in treating this disease has been to give large doses of opium and belladonna, with linseed or castor oil. Then I give injections of "ice water" until the bowels have been emptied as completely as possible, then from ten to twenty drops fluid extract of aconite every hour until the horse commences frothing at the mouth, when the aconite must be withheld and "quinine" given for one or two doses, when the aconite can be given again in the same sized doses. As soon as the bowels have been emptied as completely as possible without straining' the injections must cease and a suppository made with two drachms of solid extract of opium inserted in the rectum and allowed to remain there and dissolve, and under all circumstances the bowels must be held in check after they are first emptied, until the fever is broken up. . have kept horses under treatment for three days at a time, without allowing their bowels to move. Mustard applied to the sides and belly is thought by some practitioners to be very useful, b.: I have never yet seen any direct benefit derived from the use of mustard in this disease. "Ice" I have found to be a great benefit in this disease. If it is broken into small pieces and put into a bucket and set before the animal he will generally eat it when he will refuse everything else. and I have never yet seen any bad results from the use of ice in this disease, either from eating the ice or the .se of ice-water for injections.

Oldest City in the World.

A ride of seventy-two miles across Phoenicia, Lebanon, Coelo-Svria and Anti-Lebanon brings us, by French diligence, to Damascus. Abana and Pharpar brea's through a sublime gorge about 100 yards wide, down the middle of which the French road winds its serpentine course, the rivers on either side being fringed with silver poplar and scented walnut. As we look castward from the brow of the hill the great plain of Damascus, encircled by a framework of desert, lies before us. The river, escaped from the rocky gorge, sprcads out like a fan, and after a run of three miles, enters Damascus, where it flows through 15,000 houses, sparkles in 60,000 marble fountains, and hurriss on to scatter wealth and fertility far and wide over the plain. Those who have gazed on this scene are never likely to forget its supreme loveliness. Its beauty is doubtless much enhanced by contrast. The eve has been wandering over a chocolatecolored and heated landscape throughout a weary day; suddenly, on turning a corner, it rests on Eden. The city is spread out before you, embowered in orchards, in the midst of a plain of 300 square miles. Around the pearlcolored city-first in the world in point of time, first in Syria and Western Asia in point of importance-surge like an emeral-1 sea, forests of apricots and olives and apples and citrons, and "every tree that is pleasant to the sight and good for food," with all their variety of color and tint, according to their season, sometimes all aglow with blossoms, sometimes golden and ruddy with fruit, and sometimes russet with the mellowing tints of autumn .-- Contemporary Review.

Taking the enumeration of the people of France in 1881 as a basis, M. Chervin shows the increase since 1876 has been only twenty per 1000, while in England it was 145, and in Germany as high as 574 per 1000. Other things being equal, Maine and Normandy should give a great increase of population; but the fact is that the number of people is "conspicuously" diminishing.

Prof. Feser, of Munica, has been making experiments on animals with a view to establishing the connection which exists between diet and liability to infection. In the trials he has made on rats inoculated with the poison of cattle distemper, he demonstrated the fact, says the Lancet, that the animals that had been fed on vegetable diet were quickly attacked by the disease, while those that had been fed exclusively on meat resisted the effect of the inoculation.

The readiness with which certain solids conduct sound is a familiar fact of physics, which Mons. Gobins mentions as having long had a curious application on the Rhone. Considerable juantities of gravel are carried down he river by the current, and by placing one end of a cane in the water and applying the other to the ear, the clash of the moving pebbles as they strike together is distinctly heard by persons in boats on the surface. The sound is a crackling like that produced in frying. Good reason exists for believing that hay-fever is caused by pollen, according to Mr. C. P. # STARTLING STAT'STICS.

The Shadow Hanging Over New York City and the Entire Country---A Tribune Opinion.

The nation has been horrified at the burning of a Milwaukee hotel, whereby over sev-enty lives were lost. This event carried terror because it was sudden and appalling: but had the same disastrous results to life and limb come silently they would have been unnoticed, not only by the people of the land but also by the very community in which they occurred. Fatal events of a far worse nature have taken place in this very city, but they have attracted no attention, nor would they now did not the Bureau of Vital Statistics bring them to our notice. "Figures do not lie," whatever else may be uncertain, and the report on the deaths of this city is a startling comment on its life. During the past year the enormous increase of certain mala-dies is simply appalling. While the total number of deaths has diminist e l, and the death rate on most diseases has decreased, still it is far greater in one or two more serious disorders than we sever known before. More people died in the city of New York in 1882 from Bright's disease of the kidneys, than from diphtheria, smallpox and typhoid fever all combined ! This scarcely seems possible but it is true, and when it is remembered that less than one-third the actual deaths from Bright's disease are really reported as such, the ravages of the malady can be partially understood. The immediate query which every reader will make upon such a revelation of facts, is: What causes this increase? This is a difficult question to answer. The nature of the climate, the habits of life, the adulterstion of foods and liquors, all undoubtedly contribute: but no immediate cause can be certainly assigned. Often before the victim knows it the disease has begun. Its approaches are so stealthy and its symptoms o obscure that they cannot be definitely foreseen, and are only known by their ef fects. Auy kidn by disorder, however slight, is the first stage of Bright's disease. But it is seldom that kidney disorders can be detected. They do not have any certain symptoms. Mysterious weariness; an unusual appetite; periodical headaches; occasional nausea; uncertain pains; loss of vigor; lack of nerve power; irregularity of the heart; disordered daily habits; imperfect digestion -all these and many other symptoms are the indications of kidney disorder, even though there may be no pain in the region of the kidneys or in that portion of the body. The serious nature of these troubles may be understood from the fact that Bright's disease is as certain to follow diseased kidneys as decomposition follows death.

It is high time the Doctors in this land who have been unable to control kidney troubles, should be aroused and compelled to find some remedy, or acknowledge one already found. The suffering public needs help and cannot await the tardy action of any hair-splitting code of incorrect y formulated theories. If the medical world has no certain remedy for this terrible disease let them acknowledge it and seek for one outside the pale of their profession. For the discovery of this remedy and for its application to this disease, the people of this city, the people of the whole land, not only those who are uffering, but those who have friends in danger, are earnestly and longingly looking. The above quotation from the New York Tribune is causing considerable commotion. as it seems to lift the cover from a subject that has become of national importance.

The alarming increase of kidney diseases; their insidious beginnings and frightful endings, and the acknowledged inability of physicians to successfully cope with them, may well awaken the greatest dread of every one who has the slightest symptoms. It is fortunate, however, that the surest relief is often found where, possibly, least expected, and that there is a specific for the evils above described we have come to fully believe. Within the past two years we have frequently seen statements of parties claiming to have been cured of serious kidney troubles even after hope ha abandoned: but in common with most people we have discredited them. Quite recently, however, a number of prominent and well known men have come out voluntarily and stated over their signatures that they were completely cured by the use of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure. Most people have been aware that this medicine has an unusual standing and one entitling it to be classed above proprietary articles generally; but that it had accomplished so much in checking the ravages of kidney disease is not so gererally known. Its great worth has been shown not only by the cures it has effected, but also because a number of base imitations have appeared in the market, fraudulently claiming the valuable qualities of the original Safe Cure. If it were not valuable it would not be imitated. The above may seem like an ultra indorsement of a popular remedy, but it is not one whit stronger than the facts admit. Whatever assists the world toward health and consequent happiness, should receive the hearty indorsement of the press'and all friends of humanity. It is on precisely this principle that the foregoing statement is made, and it merits the careful consideration of every thinking reader.

At the time of the burning of the Brooklyn theater, in which so many people were burned to death, this young man was a resident of Brooklyn. He attended the theater on the night of the fire, and sat beside a male companion in the front row near the orchestra. As it will be remembered, the fire was discovered during the latter part of the first act of the "Two Orphans." At the time the flames made their appearance behind the scenes one of the company billed as Nellie Dell, but whose real name was Kittie Meyers, a young New York girl, was doing a song and dance act. The fire burst out all over the stage with incredible rapidity, and the young man saw that this girl was in peril. With a spring he leaped across the orchestra railing, clambered on the stage and caught Miss Dell in his arms and broke for the private box nearest the street. After considerable difficulty he succeeded in getting into the open frightened almost to death. He had saved her life, as most of those who were on the stage when he went to her rescue perished in the flames. Thus began an acquaintance which soon ripened into love, and finally they were

THE PUREST AND BEST

Remedy Ever Made---It is Compounded from Hops, Malt, Buchu, Mandrake and Dandelion.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO., Barlinston, Vt.

The oldest, best, most renowned and valuable medicine in the world, and in addition it contains all the best and most effective curative properties of all other remedies, being the greatest liver regulator, blood purifier, and life and health restoring agent on earth.

It gives new life and vigor to the aged and infirm. To clergymen, lawyers, literary men, ladies, and all whom sedentary employments cause irregularities of the Blood, Stomach, Bowels, or Kidneys, or who require an appetizer, tonic and mild stimulant, it is invaluable, being highly curative, tonic and stimulating, without being intoxicating.

No matter what your feelings or symptoms are, or what the disease or ailment is, use Hop Bitters. Don't wait until you are sick, but if you only feel bad or miserable use the bitters at once. It may save your life. Hundreds have been saved by so doing, at a moderate cost. Ask your druggist or physi-cian. Do not suffer yourself or let your friends suffer, but use and urge them to use Hop Bitters.

If you have lameness in the loins, with frequent pains and aches; numbress of the thigh; scanty, painful and frequent discharge of urine, filled with pus, and which will turn ed by standing; a voracious appetite and inquenchable thirst; harsh and dry skin; lammy tongue, often darkly furred; swollen und inflamed gums: dropsical swelling of the imbs; frequent attacks of hiccough; inability o void the urine, and great fatigue in atempting it-you are suffering from some 'orm of Kidney or Urinary Complaint, such AS BRIGHT'S DISEASE of the kidneys, stone or inflammation of the bladder, gravel and renal calculi, diabetes, stranguary stricture and retention of the urine, and Hop Bitters is the only remedy that will permanently cure you.

Remember, Hop Bitters is no vile, drugged, drunken nostrum, but the purest and best medicine ever made, and no person or family should be without it. Don't risk any of the highly lauded stuff with testimonials of great cures, but ask your neighbor, druggist, pastor or physicians what Hop Bitters has and can do for you and test it.
