Both houses of the state legislature have agreed to adjourn finally on Wednesday June 6th. It appears extremely doubtful whether the legislation of a public character so much needed and so confidently expected by the people, will be reached. Not that there was not ample time to digest and pass all the reform measures so neccessary for the public welfare, but because the time was frittered away uselessly in debate unreasonably lengthy and verbose,

Yet it would be unfair to censure all the members indiscriminately and equally. There are many good men in each house who honestly and conscientiously did their duty, and on the partisan stalwart majority of the senute the sins of omission of the present session principally rest.

According to published interviews and remarks said to have been made, Hon. Chas. S. Wolfe is so Independrepublicans of the senate are manoeuent this year as he was last. Both branches of the legislature have accepted the invitation to visit Gettysburg on Decoration Day. However much our law makers may differ individually on all other questions it is refreshing to see that whenever invited to a public festivity they work together with a harmony that is truly admirable.
