Lodge & Society Directory. Millheim Lodge, No. 85, I. O. O. F. meets in hall hall, Penn St., every Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Ratson will not appoint an Associate Judge until after the meeting of the Democratic county convention. The lucky man who makes the nomination will likely get the appointment also.

The different political state conventions in Pennsylvania this year will be held as follows: Republican, Harrisburg, July 11th; Democratic, at Harrisburg, August 1st; Prohibition, at Pittsburg, August 29th; Labor, at Williamsport, August 30th.

Politics does present some very queer phases. A few years ago John Sherman removed Chester A. Arthur from the New York custom house and now the self same Sherman begs Arthur not to reduce the revenue districts until after the Ohio election.

"NOT GUILTY."

The long, wearisome and expensive Star Route Trial at Washington ended Thursday last in utter failure, shame and disgrace. "Not guilty" was the brazen verdict which the jury brought in after a short deliberation. An indescribable scene followed.

Judge Wylie, attired in black broad-cloth coat and trousers, white duck vest, buttoned high over his chest and black necktie and standing white collar, sat dignified but apparently dazed by the announcement of the foreman, since he made no effort to check the tumult about him. For a few minutes the noise in the court room was so great as to render it impossible for anything like orderly proceeding, but finally the crowd recognized the clear-cut features of Mr. Walter Davidge, one of the counsel for the defense, as he towered above the assemblage from a convenient table. He wanted the verdict recorded legally and when this was concluded the crowd broke out again with loud huzzas.

The discharge of the jury was the signal for a rush of congratulatory spectators, and each of the jurymen was subjected to a vigorous handshaking process. Mrs. Dorsey, Mrs. Peck, and Marilla Richer, after standing on chairs and screaming, laughing and sobbing alternately, somehow got out and organized an impromptu camp meeting in the nearest corridor. They sang, cried and acted for all the world like demented beings. Poor Ker, out of place in such a crowd, got out also and slipped quietly away, while Rerdell went off by a side door and hurried down to Merrick's office to hear the evil news. The crowd then poured pell-mell into the street, still shouting and throwing up their hats, some of them without knowing just what it was all about, but catering the enthusiasm by infection. Across the street to "The Hole-in-the-Wall" they ran, quickly jamming the bar room.

A SCENE OF DRUNKEN REVEL. Up stairs sat Ex-Senator Dorsey. He was neither blind to the situation nor deaf to the ringing cheers. Calling to the proprietor, he ordered free entertainment, solid and liquid, and in a very short time the scene of enthusiasm and excitement was changed to one of drunken revel. Meanwhile Mrs. Dorsey and two or three other ladies got up stairs and having exhausted their lungs, fell to kissing. Mrs. Rieker threw her arms about Dorsey's neck and gave him a smack that startled the crowd. For a moment the Senator must have been sorry he wasn't content with a book, kissed his own wife until her bright eyes sparkled with pleasure. Ingersoll cried, Miner sobbed, Vaile fairly blubbered and, taken all in all, a large quantity of tears were shed in and about the Court House today.

The lawyers for the government were nowhere to be seen. Attorney General Brewster shut himself up and denied access to newspaper men. Ker took the afternoon train for Philadelphia. Merrick sat with Rerdell in his inner office. Bliss couldn't be found for some time, and when he was he had nothing to say, except that twelve men disagreed with the government in this case. The fact is, the lawyers for the prosecution knew beforehand what the verdict was likely to be.

GRANGERS' INTER-STATE PICNIC.

The Tenth Annual Inter-State Picnic and Exhibition under the auspices of the Patrons of Husbandry of Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, New Jersey and Delaware will open at Williams Grove, Cumberland county, Pa., on Monday, August 20, 1883, and continue until Saturday, August 25th.

Excursion rates at reduced fare will be arranged over all the principal routes in Pennsylvania and adjoining States. Agricultural and scientific addresses, by prominent farmers and statesmen, will be delivered on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Friday, 24th, will be "Editors' Day," and many of the most prominent newspaper men in the country will be present on that day.

Manufacturers of agricultural and domestic implements and machinery, and breeders of good stock will do well to make note of this exhibition. Last year over fifty thousand farmers, representing fourteen states, attended this gathering; and from present indications the number will be greater this year. Over two hundred manufacturers of agricultural implements, and a large number of raisers of fine stock have already made application for space for exhibition. Members of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, and their families and friends, may be supplied with tents on the grounds by making early application. Circulars, giving full details of the arrangements, will be issued by July 1st. For further particulars address, R. H. THOMAS, Manager Inter-State Picnic and Exhibition, Mechanicsburg, Pa. The Republicans of the county will hold their convention on Tuesday July 3rd.

The Greenbackers of Ohio actually went to the trouble and expense of holding a state convention on the 13th at Columbus. They nominated the following ticket: Governor, Charles Jenkins; Lieutenant governor, Wm. Baker; supreme judge, short term, H. A. Chamberlain; supreme judge, long term, James B. Gregor; clerk of the supreme court, Wm. Bentz; attorney general, Lloyd G. Tattle; auditor of the state, Col. J. H. Rodges; treasurer of the state, John Seitz; commissioner of public schools, J. M. Case; member of the board of public works, John J. Scrusser.

FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT AT SUNDERLAND, ENGLAND.

Nearly 200 Children Killed. LONDON, June 17.—An accident from a crush occurred at a children's entertainment at Sunderland, England, last evening, and 173 of the children were killed. An entertainment had been given in Victoria hall by a conjurer, which was attended almost altogether by children, several thousand being present. The accident which was so direful in its effects, occurred at the close of the performance. The body of the hall had been entirely cleared of its occupants when some 1200 of the little ones came rushing down stairs from the gallery. At the top of the first flight of stairs there was a door which opened only twenty inches, and thus but one child was permitted to pass through at a time. At this point, while the mass of children were pushing forward, some of them fell and were unable to rise, owing to the others crowding on. The result was a great number were pushed down, trampled on and suffocated.

A SCENE OF TERROR. The scene was terrible, and no effort could stop the mad rush of the frightened children. They came on pell-mell, though strangely without much shouting and soon 173 of them were knocked down and suffocated to death by others trampling upon them. The greater number of the bodies, which were badly mangled from the trampling, laid seven or eight deep. Many of the victims, and others who were not killed, had their clothing torn from their bodies, and this, together with the bleeding bodies of the unfortunates, shows the terrible nature of the struggle. The ages of the 173 children known to have been killed range from four to fourteen years. The excitement in the town when the news of the disaster spread was terrific. Great crowds of persons rushed to the scene until at least twenty thousand people surrounded the hall. The feeling was so intense that the authorities ordered out the Sixty-eighth infantry to preserve order. The work of getting out the bodies of the victims was begun immediately. They were laid out in the hall, and the parents of those of identifying the bodies of their children. Most heartrending scenes transpired while the work of identification was in progress. The mothers of the dead children constantly uttered piercing shrieks, and many of them fainted on discovering the bodies of their little ones.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for July is on our table, ahead of all others, and even more brilliant than usual. The leading illustrated article is entitled "Where Colonel Newsome Died," and will be read with the greatest interest, by every admirer of Thackeray. The principal story is "A Fifth Avenue Romance," a novel of which the first four chapters are given, and which, besides being written with great spirit, is evidently from the pen of one entirely at home in the society she describes. The other stories, however are all exceptionally good, and especially one by Frank Lee Benedict, "From a Pretty Girl's Note-Book," which is the best of its kind we have seen for a long time. The embellishments consist of a steel engraving, "Little Mischief" after a picture by Sir Joshua Reynolds; a diamond-studded fashion-plate, "The Reaper" with her groom; and nearly fifty wood engravings of fashions, embroidery, etc., etc. A new volume begins with this number, affording an excellent opportunity to subscribe. We really do not see how any lady can do without this magazine. It combines more, and of a better quality, at a less price, than any other. The terms are but $2.00 a year, with great reductions to clubs, and handsome premiums to persons getting up clubs. Specimens are sent gratis. If written for, to those wishing to get up clubs. Address Peterson's Magazine, 305 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
