

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

The extra session of the legislature began on Tuesday.

New York had thirteen cases of sun stroke the other Wednesday.

Rev. John Kremer, of Kansas, was here this week to visit his brother Yoney.

Mrs. Hannah Miller gives notice that she has appointed executrix of her deceased husband's estate.

We are having considerable rain this while past, but have been mercifully spared from storms and hail.

Rev. J. Tomlinson is off to Gettysburg this week attending the commencement of Pennsylvania College.

Miss Mary Strohm's and Miss Stephen's schools had a very pleasant picnic in Dutweiler's Grove on Saturday.

Frank and Jacob Dutweiler have been granted letters testamentary on the estate of their father, John Dutweiler, deceased.

The heaviest thundergust of the season passed over this section on Monday night. No damage however was done that we heard of.

John Bathurst caught a pike in Bald Eagle creek, near Mount Eagle, measuring 23 1/2 inches in length and weighing three pounds.

The commencement exercises of the University at Lewisburg begin tomorrow (Friday) and close next Wednesday the 27th instant.

John H. Maize has built a verandah that just knocks the spots off anything in the line in this section. Our western suburb is getting up.

Just as we go to press we learn that Mr. David M. Wagner, a prominent citizen and merchant of Bellefonte died at his home on Tuesday morning.

Rev. J. G. W. Herald will open a select school in Millheim on Monday, July 30th. Term, seven weeks. Tuition according to branches taught.

Mr. and Mrs. John Yeakley, of Millintown, were here last week visiting the old home and old friends. They seemed highly gratified with their trip.

Orwig's mill, in Lewis township, Union county, was burned to the ground on Tuesday night the 12th instant. Loss about $3,000, with an insurance of $1900.

Lightning struck the barn of Mr. Daniel Bartges, in Gregg township, on Saturday evening, killing a steer that was in one of the stables below. No other damage was done.

Business is booming at Mrs. Weaver's Millinery Store. A fine line of goods, low prices, good accommodations and a little printer's ink is the combination that does it.

The Lock Haven council proposes to publish a list of delinquent taxpayer in the papers. It will either cause more prompt payments or else make some fellows hopping mad.

Snow Shoe had a big fire the other Sunday morning. One store, a dwelling house and stable were totally destroyed, with a total loss of about $10,000, mostly covered by insurance.

Some of our exchanges say that Centre county has twenty-two brass bands. Is that so? Let some fellow take the census. The candidates for Associate Judge might attend to that matter.

R. F. VONADA, of Coburn, has the agency for the sale of first class iron, and galvanized water pipes. Parties furnished with any desired size pipe either plain iron or galvanized, at the most reasonable terms.

On Saturday afternoon the down train had a wreck near Spring Mills, caused by the spreading of the track. A wrecking train had to be sent for and it took several hours until the track was clear and the train ready to proceed.

Musser's Brick Mill has received a thorough overhauling and is now supplied with new machinery. Mr. Richards, the miller, informs us that the mill will be started to-morrow and will be able to make flour equal to that made by the roller process.

The Broadway House, Milton is one of the best arranged and best conducted hotels in the state. Everything is the very perfection of order, system and cleanliness. The fare is superb, the rooms spacious, airy and well furnished, and the proprietors, Messrs Pearson & Smith, are thorough gentlemen who know how to treat guests and make them feel at home.

Fine Family Bibles, Presentation Bibles, Teachers' Bibles, Pocket Bibles, S. S. Bibles, Photograph Albums, Autograph Albums, Fine Stationery, All kinds of Writing Paper & Envelopes, Blank Books of Every Description, School Books, and a general line of Stationers Goods-at the JOURNAL STORE.

CLOSING OUT AT COST.—Dry Goods, Boots & Shoes, Hats, Carpets, Notions, Hardware, Canned Fruit, Stone Crockery, Lubricating Oil, and a large variety of general merchandise, all at closing out prices. Come and get big bargains. Produce taken in exchange. J. W. STAM.

The editors and their families had a nice little strawberry festival of their own the other day. And where do you think the delicious strawberries came from? Sammy Foust sent them, of course, and you might have guessed it on first trial. The entire JOURNAL shanty return their thanks.

THE KEY NOTE is the title of a new musical number published at Harrisburg by Kurzenknebe & Son. It is an excellent periodical for musicians, filled with interesting and instructive matter relating to music in its various departments and uses, and is the only publication of its kind in the state. Terms, 50 cents a year.

J. A. LIMBERT will carry express and freight goods from Coburn to any point along the route at the following rates: All packages weighing less than 100 pounds, to Millheim, 10 cts., to Aaronsburg, 15 cts., to Woodward, 25 cts. For packages weighing over 100 pounds a proportionate charge will be made.

Last week we called at the mammoth house furnishing establishment of J. R. Smith & Co., Milton, and made some purchases. We can frankly assure our readers that there is no better place in this part of the state to buy anything and everything that is needed to furnish a house. Their lines of furniture, carpets, China and silverware, organs, pianos, sewing machines, wall paper, window shades, &c., are very full and complete, and their prices remarkably low.

The house does a very large and increasing trade and enjoys a well-deserved reputation. Read their advertisement in another column.

WHAT MILLHEIM NEEDS.—One larger manufacturing establishment to utilize our fine water power in the near vicinity, employ our idle capital and latent working force;

Half a dozen good, thrifty mechanical establishments;

A score of new, neat tenement cottages;

A new church, and a thorough repairing of several old ones;

More shade trees and sidewalks;

About twenty barrels of paint on a number of old houses;

A new bridge instead of the old eyesore at the east end;

A nearer approach to a cash system in business transaction;

A good school all the year round;

Less corner loafing and profanity, especially on Sundays;

A more genuine fellow-feeling among and between our citizens;

More of that charity that covereth a multitude of sins;

Quite a number of other little et cetera "too tedious to insert."

The Musical Jubilee at Seisingrove last week seems to have been a grand success, judging from a musical stand point while enough cash was realized to cover all expenses—and that was better than most affairs of this kind are able to do. Our local singers have all returned well pleased with their trip. The Jubilee has developed into a permanent organization. A committee consisting of Messrs Shaffer, of Huntingdon, Kurzenknebe, of Harrisburg, Hill, of Sunbury Wolf, of Centre Hall and Wagonseller, of Selingsrove, was appointed to adopt a name and select officers. The committee reported that the organization shall be styled The Central Pennsylvania Musical Association, and that the following named gentlemen be the officers: President—A. W. Potter, of Selingsrove; Vice President—A. J. Pontius, of Millerstown; Secretary—R. A. Bumiller, of Millheim; Cor. Sec.—J. A. Lambard, of Selingsrove; Treasurer—T. K. Hill, of Freeburg. The report was unanimously accepted. The president was authorized to appoint an executive committee consisting of one member in each county.

HELP NEEDED.—Our contractor, Mr. H. K. Luse, has commenced work on the new JOURNAL building. To the town this means an important improvement, but to us it means work and expense. All who ever did any building know just how that is. It is money every day, money all the time from beginning to end. Yet we expect to get along smoothly enough if our patrons come to our help as they should. We don't mean that they should leave their own work and come to haul our lumber, build our walls or carry our "mud"—that would be asking too much. But we have quite a respectable amount outstanding, all in small sums, and it would come ever so handy if we had a majority of those little accounts in our pocket, just now.

Friends, we do not often dun you for money—about twice a year on an average—and would prefer if even that were unnecessary. But some people are so slow and thoughtless about paying the printer that a gentle reminder is sometimes unavoidable. So please bethink yourself whether you owe us anything, either on subscription or job work, and if so you would place us under many obligations by calling at our headquarters one of these days. You understand exactly what we mean.

The "Glorious Fourth" is actually coming to Millheim this year and will squat down right in front of the Penn Street School House. The grounds will be beautifully decorated; the frigid ice cream, delicious kakes and liquid lemonade will all be "just too lovely for anything"; the band will do its level best—and that means something. The whole business will be conducted, bossed and run by about a score, more or less of as good looking ladies as can be found anywhere this side of Paradise. Mackerel fact. Coming? Of course you are—but don't forget to bring your wife and children along—if you have any. If not you can bring somebody else's sister—your turtletove. Understand? And it does not make the slightest difference whether you are Lutheran, Reformed, Methodist, Evangelical, United Brother or Sister, or even Pennsylvaniahnisch—all are welcome. The dear ladies who control the festival do not propose to desecrate our grand national holiday by a contracted spirit of denominationalism. Let there be a true spirit of unionism throughout.

WHERE WILL YOU GO.—A taking and timely book has just been issued by the National News Bureau, of Washington, D. C., entitled "Our American Resorts; Where to Go and How to Get There." It is well written, being edited by the author of our Washington Letters, handsomely printed, and profusely and elegantly illustrated. There is a chapter on Washington, with views of the public buildings; and chapters on the Yellowstone National Park, Colorado and California and their scenery; the Catskill, Allegheny and White Mountains, all beautifully illustrated, and each, taken separately, worth the price of the book. In addition to these it contains articles on the Lakes and Rivers of our country, the Luray Caves, the Mineral Springs, the Thousand Islands, the leading Seashore Resorts, and the Health Resorts of the South. The wonder is how a book gotten up in such style can be sold for the low price at which it is offered—50 cents in paper and $1.00 in handsome cloth. It can be had of news-dealers generally, or will be sent post-paid by the publishers on receipt of price.

A storm passed over Harrisburg on Sunday evening that was something like a western cyclone. Several buildings in the course of erection were blown down and a number of others damaged. Sad havoc was made among the beautiful trees in capital park and throughout the city. The damages will amount to $15,000 or $20,000. Fortunately no lives were lost.

Dukes Shot Dead.

James Nutt Avenges His Father's Death.

UNIONTOWN, June 13.—About 8 o'clock this evening James Nutt, son of the late Captain A. C. Nutt, shot and killed N. L. Dukes, his father's murderer. Five balls were fired, four taking effect. Dukes died instantly. From various sources the following authentic account of the tragedy has been obtained: It appears that Dukes had been frequently warned of his danger in remaining in Uniontown, after being warned away, but he filled he would stay, in the town or in the cemetery. James Nutt was seen practicing with a revolver this afternoon at his home, outside of town. About 7:30 this evening he was standing on a street corner, a few yards from the post office, when Dukes came along. As he was passing the corner he turned and saw young Nutt, who at once fired at Dukes, who started to run. Nutt followed and shot Dukes again. The wounded man attempted to gain the post office when he received another shot and fell inside the post office door. Nutt followed and fired two more shots, one taking effect in Dukes' neck. Dukes was dead before any one could get to him. Young Nutt gave him self up and is now in jail. He was calm but pale as a ghost. Excitement runs high. The coroner's jury is now investigating the case. The revolver with which the deed was done is the same that was carried by Captain Nutt when he was murdered.

UNIONTOWN'S SENTIMENT.

The Killing of Dukes an Expected and Righteous Thing. UNIONTOWN, June 14.—"My accidental taking off will not prevent the inevitable, it will only postpone," thus wrote Captain Nutt in grim prophecy to N. L. Dukes, answering the latter's vile slanders of his daughter. Nutt was "taken off" a few days later by the pistol of Dukes, but his prophecy lived after him to fulfillment. Six months later, lacking eleven days, his dead body was straightened and prepared for the grave, upon the very bed on which Captain Nutt died. This morning it was borne in a mean express wagon with a meagre following of mourners past the home his hand had desolated with the pen and pistol. The body lies to-night at his mother's farm house mourned only by his nearest relatives by blood. The neighbors who knew him since boyhood stand aloof and the community which knew him best still approve of his death as they did last night when the pistol shots of the avenger rang music in their ears. With the grass scarcely green on the grave of Captain Nutt, while condemnation of the jury which acquitted his murderer is still on the lips of men, the verdict of the one is set aside; the prophecy of the other fulfilled. The community here, which was nearest to the events, had up to yesterday expected nothing else. The people accepted the death of Dukes at the hands of James Nutt as the accomplishment of an expected and righteous thing. When the pistol shots broke the evening stillness of the air yesterday ninth-tenths of those who heard them guessed the parties to the shooting.

This afternoon for the first time Mrs. Nutt went to the jail and had a long talk. She says that he showed a great deal of emotion at the sight of her. In speaking of the shooting, he said: "Mother, I had to kill him. His laughing scorn almost drove me mad. He ought to have had better sense than to laugh in my face when I met him the other day." He does not make any attempt to deny that he shot Dukes deliberately. He speaks of the affair as of duty performed. Miss Lizzie Nutt did not accompany her mother to the jail, but remained at home to care for the younger children. She is not so spirit broken as she was last winter. On the contrary her colour appears to be arranged to the highest pitch. Her pretty brown eyes have lost their sad expression, and are bright and full of fire. Her manner, too, has undergone a change. Instead of being shrinking and nervous, she is outspoken and decisive. Her sufferings have made her strong. She converses charmingly, is very attractive. Her graceful figure was to-day becoming, attired in mourning. "I wish," she said, "you would contradict the report that Jim has been practicing pistol shooting, because he has not been doing anything of the sort. Neither mother nor I knew that he had a pistol. He has always been such a quiet, good boy that none of us thought he would do anything violent."
