How Josey Was Caught, Josey liked to keep office for hi "Uncle Doctor," as he called him. Bu the doctor did not always like to trust him there when he was called away, for Josey had a habit of looking into things that made the doctor fear he might get into mischief, for Josey was a meddlesome boy. One day, however, Josey found himself alone, and began to look at everything on the table. The electric battery pleased him most.

"Ho! I know how to fix this," he said. "If any man came in that wanted 'lectric treatment I could do it as well as Uncle Doctor. There! Now it's all right! Now you take hold of these handles."

The taking hold was very easy enough, but letting go was quite another matter. Any little boy or girl Josey's arms jingled and ached, but he had to hold on-he could not let go; and there he was, tears running down his face, when his uncle heard his screams and came in.

"You got caught that time, Josey," said his uncle when he had set him free. "Now, remember that bad habits hold fast to a boy worse than an electric battery does, and are harder to get rid of. And meddling is a very bad habit."

"I won't have any more to do with either of them," said Josey .- Sunloging to bediens told

The Vain Old Woman.

There was once an old woman so very poor that she had no house, but lived in a hollow tree. One day she found a piece of money lying in the road. Full of joy at her good fortune, she began to consider what she should buy with the money.

"If I get anything to eat," she said to herself, "I shall quickly devour it, and that will be the end of the matter. That will not do at all. If I buy clothes, people will call me proud, and that will not do; and besides I have no closet to keep them in. Ah! I have it! I will buy a broom, and then everybody that I meet will think I have a house. A broom is the thing. A broom it shall be."

So the old woman went into the next town and bought a broom. She walked proudly along with her purchase, looking about her all the time to see if people noticed her and looked envious, thinking of her house. But as no one seemed to remark her, she began to be discontented with her bar-

"Does everybody have a house except me?" she said to herself, crossly. "I wish I had bought something Presently she met a man carrying a small jar of oil.

"This is what I want," exclaimed the old woman; "anybody can have a house, but only the truly rich can have oil to light it with."

So she bartered her broom for the oil, and went on more proudly than ever, holding the jar so that all could see it. Still she failed to attract any particular notice, and she was once more discontented. As she went moodily along she met a woman with a bunch of large flowers.

"Here, at last, I have what I want." the old woman thought. "If I can get these, all that see me will believe I am just getting my house ready for a brilliant party. Then they'll be jealous, I hope."

So when the woman with the flowers came close to her she offered her oil for them, and the other gladly made the change.

"Now I am indeed fortunate!" she said to herself. "Now I am somebody!" But still she failed to attract attention, and, happening to glance at her old dress, it suddenly occurred to her that she might be mistaken for a servant carrying flowers for her master. She was so much vexed by the thought that she flung the bouquet into the ditch, and went home to her tree empty-handed.

"Now I am well rid of it all," she said to herself .- St. Nicholas.

The town of Vineyard Haven, Martha's Vineyard, was nearly destroyed by fire on Saturday night. A lare number of cottages, mostly belonging to summer residents, have been burned. The fire broke out at 9 o'clock. It originated in the harness manufactory of R. W. Crocker, and quickly swept through the village to the westward. There being no fire apparatus in the town, assistance was summoned from Cottage City by telephone. Nearly the entire population of that place hastened to the scene. The burned section begins at Jenkins's paint shop, on the east side of Main street, and extends southward to and including the Mansion House. The loss is estimated at $200,000. No lives were lost. The Kimball House, at Atlanta, Ga., the largest hotel in the South, was discovered on fire on Sunday morning, and soon the flames getting beyond control, Mr. Scoville, the proprietor, ordered the guests to be awakened. Guards went through the hallways breaking open doors where necessary to insure the safety of the guests. The fire having originated in the rear of the building was favorable to the escape of all. Within twenty minutes the hotel was emptied of Its guests, and within one hour the structure was razed to the ground. The hotel was built by H. J. Kimball and owned by Robert Toombs, John Rice, Joseph B. Thompson and others. It cost $600,000, and the furniture was valued at $125,000, insurance only $80,000, scattered. In the hotel were the Gate City National Bank, Harrison & Bro., tobacconists; John B. Daniel, drugs; and others are among the losers. The total loss is a million dollars, and the insurance is not over $200,000. The fire is claimed by Mr. Culberson, agent of the company, to be of incendiary origin. In the vaults of the Gate City Bank were half a million dollars, and its safety is yet a matter of doubt. It is feared that some lives have been lost.

assist in thwarting the conspiracy. At Danville, Va., a fire broke out in the small frame building on Gerst's Cotton Mill premises, between Union street and the canal. The wind blowing from the east the flames rapidly spread, involving the brick annex to the cotton mill, which was quickly consumed. LITTLE, BUT GOOD.

An Adventure in Which a Traveler, a Bully and a Hotel Clerk Figured. "Yes," said a well-known Evansville tourist to us the other day, "I've traveled a good deal in Kentucky, and it isn't a particular quiet country for a man to move about in. The better sort of people there, mind you, are as nice folks as you would meet with anywhere, but the roughs are about as rough as they make them."

" Did you ever get into any trouble?" "Once, when I was staying at Lexington, I had a rather unpleasant ad-

I came at once to the conclusion that it would be healthy to keep out of that fellow's way, and I bully would be accepted as a guest at "The obnoxious individual came and squatted down in a chair beside me. I felt myself getting hot and cold with vexation, but knowing that I would have no chance in a personal encounter with such a giant, prudence suggested that I act quietly. Then he rew out of his pocket a dirty piece of bacco which looked as though he had half-chawed it with his wolfish fangs. "'Hev a chaw, stranger?

Olive Culture in America. The olive has lately acquired for Americans a new and practical interest from the discovery that it can be easily and profitably grown in California. Residents of California have been accustomed to consider a small bottle of "Mission oil" for their salad as a treasure; for it far surpasses in purityand sweetness any imported oil. But it is only within a few years that private owners of land in Southern California have seriously considered the question whether olive culture could be made a paying enterprise. So many possibilities cling to the broad lands and rich soil of the Golden State that it is not wonderful if some of them have been overlooked. And, though experiments in olive-growing have been made on a small scale with good success during the last twenty years, popular interest is only nyw beginning to be awakened. In the first place there was the drawback, peculiarly great to the American temperament, of the slowness of growth, and irregular productiveness of the olive in Europe. The old Tuscan saying is, "Plant a vineyard for yourself, an orange grove for your children, and an olive orchard for your grandchildren." As a people, we are not fond of looking far into the future; and besides, judging from ourselves, we are not at all sure that our grandchildren will wish to live where we do. But the olive is good enough to adapt itself to the rapitity of American demands. It matures much earlier than in Europe, and bears oftener and more plentifully. The system of pro-pagation from cuttings, as far as can be judged at present, gives, in our rich soil, robust trees; and there is no need to employ the slow process of raising them from the seed. Five years is surely not long to wait for a crop; and after that time, according to the best California authorities, the trees will yield a full and in many cases an annual harvest. At a late meeting of the State horticultural society in San Francisco it was stated that one olive farm yielded $2,200 to the acre. These trees bore every year, and were situated on "adobe" hillsides, the bottom lands being found, as in Italy, less favorable to the fruit. The variety was the "Mission olive," which has not been identified with any of the varieties now cultivated in Europe. The olive was introduced into South America in 1560, by Antonio Ribera; but the California trees sprang from seeds sent from San Blas in Mexico by Don Joseph de Galvez with his expedition to rediscover the port of Monterey .-Century.

TORNADOES.

Scientifically Accounted for, and Some Re-mote Causes that Produce Painful Re-bults Explained. The following synopsis of a lecture de-livered by Dr. Horace R. Hamilton before he New York society for the promotion of science, contains so much that is timely and important that it can be read with both interest and profit:
There is probably no subject of modern times that has caused and is causing greater attention than the origin of tornado entists have studied it for the benefit of hu-manity; men have investigated it for the welfare of their families. It has been a vexed sub ect long considered, and through all this investigation the cyclone has swep across the land, earrying destruction to scienti ts as we'l as to the innocent dwellers in its track. One thing, however, is certain; the cause of the exclore must be sought far away from the whir ing boly of wind it elf Its results are powerful: its cause must also be powerful. Let us there o.e consider few facts. First, the appearance of a cy clone is invariably precede I by dark spot upon the fact of the sun. These spots, indicating a distu bed cond t on of the solar region , ne e sarily affect the atm sphere o ou sirth. The dark spots upon the surface of the sun, whatever they may be, seen o cause great commetion in the atmo of the world, and it is almost certain that the extreme'y wet weather of the presen season on he accounted for on precis basis. Is it reasonable to suppose t'at the marvelous effect of the sun upon vegetation and life in general shall be less than upon the atmosphere itself through which its rays come? The cause is remote, but the effect After describing some of the terrible effects of the cyclone, the speaker went on to

This rule finds its application in nearly every department of life. An operator is in San Francisco-the click of the instrument manipulated by his fingers, in New York. The president makes a slight stroke of the pun in his study at the White House, and the whole nation is aroused by the act. An un easiness and disgust with everything in life commonly called home-sickness, is felt by many people, when the cause is to be found in the distant home thousands of miles away. An uncertain pain may be felt in the had. It is repeated in other parts of the toly. The appetite departs and all energy is gone. Is the care necessarily to be found in the head? The next day the feeling increases. There are added symptoms. They continue and become more aggravated. The slight pains in the head increase to agon es. The nausea becomes chronic. The heart grows irregular, and the breathing uncertain. All these effects have a definite cause, and, after years of deep experience upon this subject, I do not hesitate to say that this cause is to be found in some derangement of the kidneys or liver far away from that portion of the body in which these effects appear. But one may say, I have no pain whatever in my kidneys or liver. Neither have we any evidence that there is a tornado on the surface of the sun; but it is none the less certain that the to nado is here, and it is none the less certain that the se great organs of the body are the cause of the tro ble although there may ba no pain in their vicinity.

I know whereof I speak, for I have pass d through this very experience myself. ten years ago I was the picture of health, weighing more than 200 pounds, and as strong and healthy as any man I ever knew. When I felt the symptoms I have above de scribed they caused me annoyance, not only by reasen of their aggra ating nature, but because I had never felt any pain be ore. Other doctors to'd me I was troubled with malaria, and I treated myself accordingly. I did not believe, however, that malaris could show such aggravated symptoms. It never occurred to me that analysis would the clerk turned to me and said in the my difficulty was located in that portion of most polite and indifferent manner: the body. But I continued to grow worse. I had a faint sensation at the pit of my st mach nearly every day. I felt a great desire to eat, and yet I loathed food. I was con tant y t red, and still I could not sleep. goods in little parcels."—Evansville My brain was unusual y active, but I could not think connectedly. My existence was a living misery. I continued in this condition for nearly a year; never free from pain, never for a moment happy. Such an exist-ence is far wor e than death, for which l confess I earnestly longed.

It was while suff ring thus that a friend advised me to make a final attempt to recover my health. I sneered inwardly at his suggestion, but I was too weak to make any resistance. He furnished me with a remedy simple yet palatable, and within two days observed a slight change for the better. This awakened my courage. I felt that I would not die at that time. I continued the use of the remedy, taking it in accordance with directions, until I became not only restored to my former health and strength, but of greater vigor than I have ever before known. This condition has continued up to the present time, and I believe I should have died as miserably as thousands of other men have died and are dying every day had it not been for the simple yet wonderful power of ner's Safe Cure, the remedy I employed.

The lecturer then described his means of restoration more in detail, and concluded as follows: investigate the subject more carefully, and 1 believe I have discovered the key to most ill health of our modern civilization. I am fully confident that four-fifths of the disea e which afflict humanity might be avoided were the kidneys and liver kept in perfect condition. Were it possible to control the action of the sun, cyclones could undoubt-edly be averted. That, however, is one of the things that cannot be. But I rejoice to say that it is possible to control the kidneys and liver, to render their action wholly normal and their et et upon the system that of purifiers nather than poisoners. That this end has been accomplished largely by means of the remedy I have named I do not have a doubt, and I feel it my duty to make this open declaration for the enlightenment of the profession and for the benefit of suffering humanity in all parts of the world.

Thirty Californians have died in ten years possessed each of over a million, and some of them many millions. Dr. Stites, Brooklyn, N. Y., was cured by Dr. Elmore's Rheumatine-Goutaline of very severe Rheumatism and kidney disease of everal years' standing, after trying everything else without benefit.

rible pains in her back and sides, accompanied with great weakness and loss of appetite. She tried many so-called remedies without avail, growin rapidly worse when her attention was called to Hunt's Remedy. She purchased a bottle from Lowell's drug store, in Cambridgeport, and after taking the first dose she began to feel easier, she could sleep well, and after ontinuing its use a short time the severe pains in her back and side entirely disappeared, and she is a well woman. Many of our relatives and friends have used Hunt's Remedy with the most gratifying results. have recommended it many times, and as many time: heard the same story. Hunt's Remedy is all that is claimed for it, and a real blessing to all afflicted with kidney or liver trouble.

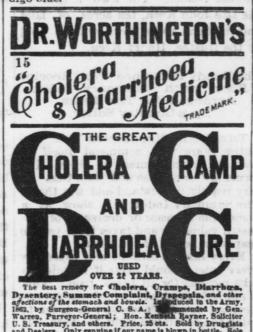

Made a Man of Him. Lir. C. O. WHEELER, No. 23 Austin Street, Cam. bridgeport. Mass., makes the following remarkable ement. On April 27, 1883, he writes as follows: "I have been troubled with kidney disease for nearly twenty years. Have suffered at times with terrible pains in my back and limbs. I used many medicines, but found thing reached my case until I took Hunt's Remedy. I purchased a bottle of A. P. Gilson, 630 Tremon t, Boston, and before I had used this one bottle found relief, and continuing its use my pains and weak ness all disappeared, and I feel like a new man, with me, and I have no hesitancy in recommending it to all afflicted with kidney or liver diseases, as I am positive that by its use they will find immediate relief. You may use this letter in any way you choose, so that the people may know of a sure medicine for the cure of all diseases of kidneys and liver."

Very Well Put. Why do you defer till to-morrow what we should do to-day? Why do we neglect a cough till it throws us into consumption, and consumption brings us to the grave? Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam is sure to cure if taken in season. It has never been known to fail. Use it thoroughly according to directions. Persevere till the disease is conquered, as it is certain to be, even if it should require a dozen bottles. There is no better medicine for Pulmonary disorders. Sold everywhere.

Baker's Pain Panacea Is one of the best Liniments put up. It is a real pain killer, and destroys pain, whether internal or external, whenever used. It has been a standard remedy for the past thirty or forty years.

In olden times it was thought that evil spirits came in through cracks and keyholes. The generally approved way to keep them out was to plug up the keyholes and stop the cracks with cotton. Notwithstanding these preventive measures, the evil things had their own way and often came in as they pleased. So comes malaria now-a-days. We try to keep it out of the keyhole and it comes in by the crack. We stop up the crack, and lo! it comes from a leak in the plumbing, or an opening from some neglected drain, or from some unsuspected source and unguarded direction. We cannot always keep malaria out, but we can give it battle and drive its effects from our systems. If Brown's Iron Bitters is taken in time, malaria has not a ghost of a chance. This is the great family medicine. Your druggist sells it, and you ought to keep a bottle in the house.

The above is a good likeness of Mrs. Lydia E. Pini lam, of Lynn, Mass., who above all other human beings may be truthfully called the "Dear Friend of Woman," as some of her correspondents love to call her. She is zealously devoted to her work, which is the outcome of a life-study, and is obliged to keep six lady assistants, to help her answer the large correspon which daily pours in upon her, each bearing its special burden of suffering, of joy at release from it. Hel Vegetable Compound is a medicine for good and not I have personally investigated it and am satisfied of the truth of this.

On account of its proven merits, it is re nd prescribed by the best physicians in the country. (me says: "It works like a charm and saves much pain. It will care entirely the worst form of falling of the uterus, Leucorrhoza, irregular and painful Menstruation, all Ovarian Troubles, Inflammation and Inceration, Floodings, all Displacements and the consequent spinal weakness, and is especially adapted to the Change of Life." It permeates every portion of the system, and gives new life and vigor. It removes faintness, flatulency, destroys all craving for stimulants, and relieves weak ness of the stomach. It cures Bloating, Headaches, Nervous Prostration, General Debility, Sleeples Depression and Indigestion. That feeling of bearing down, cattsing pain, weight and backache, is always nanently cured by its use. It will at all times, and under all circumstances, act in harmony with the law that governs the female system. It costs only $1. per bottle or six for $5., and is sold by druggists. Any advice required as to special cases, and the names of many who have been restored to perfect health by the use of the Vegetable Compound, can be obtained by addressing Mrs. P., with stamp for reply, at her hame in Lynn, Mass. For Kidney Complaint of either sex this compound is unsurpassed as abundant testimonials show.

"Mrs. Pinkham's Liver Pills," says one writer, "are the best in the world for the cure of Cor Biliousness and Torpidity of the liver. Her Blood Purifler works wonders in its special line and bids fair to equal the Compound in its popularity. All must respect her as an Angel of Mercy whose sole unbition is to do good to othera Philadelphia, Pa. (2) Mrs. A. M. D.

WELLS, RICHARDSON & CO'S IMPROVED BUTTER COLOR A NEW DISCOVERY. to For several years we have furnished the calrymen of America with an excellent artiscial color for butter; so meritorious that it met with great success everywhere receiving the highest and only prizes at both International Dairy Fairs.

But by patient and scientific chemical research we have improved in several points, an now offer this new color as the best in the world t Will Not Color the Buttermilk. It Will Not Turn Rancid. It is the Strongest, Brightest and Cheapest Color Made, And, while prepared in oil, is so compounded that it is impossible for it to become rancid. the oil colors, for they are liable to become other oil colors, for they are liable to become rancid and spoil the butter.
