LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS. The following is the Patriot's account of the antics of Cooper and some of his henchmen, duting and immediately after the passage of the resolutions in the house:

ny be done and coming over sat down in Vancirk's seat to witness the defeat he had been praying for so fervently of late. But the house | tend. rejecting McNamara's motion to send it to dom-mendment, passed it straight. It was a disappointment to the golden haired angel of constitutional obstruction, and he forthwith hurried to carry the news to Davies, the pride of the north, engaged in advancing his bill to get the ten doflars a day the state allows him for services in the senate. A cloud spread over Davies' classic features. Senato rs Herr and Greer divined the cause and the McCraken shed a smile of sympathy. "Things are not always what they seem," was the laconic observation of the poetic George Handy Smith, whilst Grady bobbed up serenely alongside Reyburn to picture that we that must happen in case the ultimatum Babylon falls.

If we except the utterly disgraceful session of the senate last Thursday, brought on by the outrageous rulings of Reyburn, who for a short time occupied the chair, nothing of importance has happened in Harrisburg for a week. The house manifests a disposition to do its duty, while the senate meets but twice a week only to adjourn. Thus the circus goes on, but the best of it is that the members get no pay. How long this will continue time will The colored man brought an action untell.

OF BELLEFONTE.

HOW IT STANDS.

On the 5th instant in the absence of Boss Cooper, the senate, on motion of Senator Wagner, the democratic senator from Cumberland, passed a resolution Court.

by an almost unanimous vote, directing the proper committee to report a The Ready Reference Tax Receipt bill providing for the payment of the salaries of senators and representatives until the 10th inst, and no longer. The house had passed a resolution substantially the same, prior to that day, and s int it to the senate for concurrence. The senate amended the house resolution just enough to give it a different form, in the hope that the house would non-concur in the amendments, and thus defeat the resolution. But the democratic house was equal to the emergency and seriously interfered with Boss Cooper's low tricks, and on the 12th instant re-passed the resolution just as it came from the senate, by the decisive vote of 101 yeas to 74 nays-the nays being nearly all republicans, act. ing under instructions of their redhaired boss.

Thus were the stalwart obstruction. ists chught in their own trap. The resolution is passed by both houses and has the moral force of law. Both the senators and the representatives now work for Doors, Window Frames fairs of the national government, and the attempt of Cooper, Quay, Magee & Co., in refusing to give the people equal representation under the constitution. With reinforcements from this direction, the defeat of Christ. Magee's man Livsey ought to be no long. er a question, as well as that of the ple of the state a few good reasons why an apportionment that was fair enough for him during the regular session, could not get his support in the extra session, he will develope an ability of statesmanship which has heretofore been unsuspected. As it was within the power of the independent senators to force a non-partisan apportionment early in the session, it will give these gentlemen an ample occasion for the exercise of their eloquence in explaining why it was not done.

Testing the Power of Congress.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 9.-The question of the power of congress under the fourteenth amendment to pass a civil rights act is to be tested here. Last month a colored man with two friends entered Swain's restaurant. The proprietor refused to serve them.

der the civil rights act. Swain filed a demurer on the ground that congress had no power under the fourteenth amendment to pass the act. The case will be argued before Judge Field. Whatever the decision the case will be taken to the United States Supreme Book, with Summary Index Arranged for Ten Years. By a Country Editor.

THE READY REFERENCE TAX RE-CEIPT BOOK will c mmend itself to practical business men at sight. Its forms are so concise and plain that all may readily understand and use them. The Summary Index will show at a glance the increase or decrease of assessed valuation and taxes from year to year for a period of ten years. Every tax ble citizen, and especially every voter, should make it a rule to take receipts for all taxes paid. This is not only prudent on business principles, but actually necessary in order to enjoy the continued right to vote. It is also a matter of no small consideration to have all tax receipts for a series of years together in convenient form for reference and comparis m.
