Americans are the greatest buttercating people in the world. This is one reason why the export of butter does not increase so rapidly as its manufacture, and why the price is maintained so high as it is.

London speculators are buying up our trade dollars. It is said that these purchases are made in the expectation that Congress will some time make trade dollars a legal tender or direct their redemption at face value.

It appears that over 40,000 miles of railroad have been built in the United States since and including 1879. This is about one-third of the entire mileage or the country. Last year the amount raised to build these roads was over $700,000,000.

Germany has a temperance revival such as was never known in that country before. It is led by Count Moltke, and many eminent men are among its foremost workers. The German reformers have not yet attained the standard of total abstinence, but are preaching moderation.

Dynamite must go the rear as the great explosive and make way for "panelastite," a free translation of which term is "smash up." It is a liquid and is said to be composed of bisulphide of carbon and hyponitric acid. It requires a greater shock than dynamite to explode it, and each of its components is non-explosive by itself. When combined the result is terrific.

The peach-growing center is gradually moving south. A few years ago there were great orchards in New Jersey. Then Delaware was the chief producer. Now Maryland and Virginia are coming to the front. The largest peach farms are in Maryland. The Round Top farm has 125,000 trees. On the estate of Colonel Watkins there are 120,000 trees. A peach tree's usefulness is over after ten or twelve years of life, and the soil in which it grows is unfit for peach culture.

Some of the Western judges draw nice distinctions. An Arkansas court has decided that it is not arson for a man to set fire to his own house, while by an Indiana tribunal it is held that to constitute the crime of a son the house itself, and not merely its contents, must be set on fire. But a late

LL QF PITTSBURG IN MOURNING.

The Magnificent Exposition Buildings De-stroyed by Fire-All the Exhibits, Including the First American Locomotive, Destroyed. The magnificent buildings of the Pittsburg Exposition, on the north bank of the Allegheny river, have been totally destroyed. The immense structures, with their almost endless variety of exhibits, illustrative of every branch of art, science and mechanical skill, which were yesterday visited by thousands of people, and since the pening, on September 6th, by hundreds of thousands. are now a mere mass of splintered and powdered embers and curled and tangled iron. The destruction is complete, and nothing but the site remains of the home of specimens of brain and brawn in which Pittsburgers felt so much pride. The fire was first discovered at two o'clock this morning in the boiler-room attached to Machinery Hall, at 'he south end of the building, and before the watchman could give an alarm the flames had spread to Floral Hall, Machinery Hall and the Main Building, and in less than ten minutes the buildings were on fire from end to end, and when the fire department arrived on the ground the flames were beyond control. Nothing was saved, and the firemen turned their attention to saving adjacent property, many residences on South avenue being in flames. By hard work, however, they succeeded in saving all these, with no more damage than the burning of cornices and fences. Repeated alarms soon aroused almost the entire population of the two cities, and it is estimated that not less than 75,000 to 100,000 people witnessed the conflagration. The reflection of the flames illumi. nated the country for miles around. In one hour from the discovery of the fire a mere attennated skeleton of a once magnificent structure was all that was left. The exhibits consisted of all varieties of our products and industries, including many valuable relics, among which was the "Arabian," the old locomotive of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, which was the first locomotive built in this country. The loss will probably reach $1,000,000

Secretary Fatterson places the value of the buildings destroyed at $150,000, the insurance being $40,000. The exhibitors will sustain a loss of about $800,000. An irreparable loss, however, was occasioned by the destruction of the relic d partment. The cash value of the articles contained therein did not exceed $10,000; but many cannot be replaced. The Great Western Band lose a full set of splendid instruments. In the safe were $6,000, the cash receipts from yester day's admissions, and Levy's gold cornet.

Inquiries from many persons as to whether they could be compelled to pay for newspapers sent to their address without authority have called forth the following ruling from the Postoffice Department : "The liability of a party to pay for a newspaper must be determined by the rules applicable to other contracts. When a publisher, without a request from a party, either expressed or implied, sends a paper, the mere fact that the party addressed takes the paper from the postoffice does not of itself create a liability to pay for it. It takes two to make a contract, and one party, without the consent of the other, cannot make him his debtor." The London Lancet is not in sym-

Happy Once More.

ST. LOUIS, MO .- A Chronicle reporter was told by Mr. Alfred J. Papin, of this city, that his nephew had the most obstinate case of inflammatory rheumatism which baffled all kinds of treatment until St. Jacobs Oil, the great pain-conqueror was used. It cured the young man, and he recommends it as the greatest cure for pains in the world.

Praying for Papa.

A few nights ago a well known citizen of Detroit, Mich., who has been walking for some time in the downward path, came out of his home and started down town for a night of carousal with some old companions he had promised to meet. His young wife had besought him with imploring eyes to spend the evening with her, and had reminded him of the time when evenjugs passed in her company were all too short. His little daughter had clung about his knees and coaxed in her pretty, wilful way for "papa" to tell her some bedtime stories, but habit was stronger than love for wife and child, and he eluded their tender questioning by the special sophistries the father of evil advances at such times from his credit fund, and went his way. But when he was a block from his home he found that in changing his coat he had forgotten to remove his wallet, and he could not go out on a drinking bout without money, even though he knew that his family needed it, that his wife was economizing each day more and more in order to make up bis deficits, and he hurried back and crept softly past the windows of the iittle home, in order that he might places." steal in and obtain it, without running the gauntlet of either questions or caresses. But something stayed his feet; there was a fire in the grate withinfor the night was chill-and it lit up the little parlor and brought out in startling effects the pictures on the wall. But these were as nothing to the picture on the hearth. There, in the soft glow of the firelight, knelt his little child at her mother's feet, its small hands clasped in prayer, its fair head bowed; and as its rosy lips uttered each word with childish distinctness. the father listened, spellbound to the spot. "Now I lay me down to sleep,

I pray the Lord my soul to keep; If I should die before I wake, I pray the Lord my soul to take."
