The Gorilla.

The gorillas are the terror of Africa. In the gorilla country no lion will live. They are man-eaters, and kill them for the love of it, leaving the body, never eating it. When they spy a negro, they come down from a tree. hit him on the head with a club, which they wield with their hind claw, or carry him up into the tree, there to murder him. Their strength is [so great that they will bend the barrel of a rifle. Only one live one was ever brought to England, and that soon died. Several have been shot, but they are tough customers, and the natives dread them more than any animal of the African forests. The gorilla makes a bed like a hammock, and swings in the trees. The gorilla is a sworn enemy of the elephant because each derives subsistence from the same source. When he sees an elephant pulling down and wrenching off the branches of a favorite tree, the gorilla steals among the boughs, strikes the sensitive proboscis of the elephant a terrible blow with his club, and drives off the clumsy and startled giant, shrilly trumpeting his pain and rage through the jungles of the forest. -Church at Work.

How They Made Out.

"I don't know," said Margaret, "how we shall make out; but we can't let the child starve." Margaret, was the house-mother in a German home, where money was scarce, and plain food was not plenty.

A stranger had come along the street, and stopped at the door, and asked if he might have some supper with the family. He was watching the yellow-haired little girl who followed Margaret around, which made her speak the sentence with which this story commences.

"Then she isn't your own child?" asked the stranger.

"No!" Margaret explained that she was the child of a poor neighbor who died a few weeks before, leaving nothing for the little girl, and no friends for her to go to. So they had to take her in.

"And can't you manage to keep her?" the stranger asked. "And have none of your own, I suppose?"

"Oh, dear, yes!" and she laughed over his queer mistake. None of their own! Why, there were ten in all.

A Sbhoolboy on Corns.

Corns are of two kinds-vegetable and animal. Vegetable corn grows in rows, and animal corn grows on toes. There are several kinds of corn : There is the unicorn, the capricorn, pop corn, corn dodgers, field corn, and the corn, which is the corn your feet feel most. It is said, I believe, that gophers like corn, but persons having corns do not like to "go fur" if they can help it. Corns have kernels, and some colonels hove corns. Vegetable corn grows on the ears, but animal corn grows on feet, at the other end of the body. Another kind of corn is the acorn; this grows on oaks, but there is no hoax about the corn. The acorn is a corn with an indefinite article added. Try it and see. Many a man when he has a corn wishes it was an acorn.

Folks that have corns sometimes send for a doctor, and if the doctor himself is corned he probably won't do so well as if he isn't. The doctor says corns are produced by tight boots and shoes, which is probably the reason why when a man is tight they say he is corned.

If a farmer manages well, he can get a good deal of corn on an acre, but know of a farmer that has the corn that makes the biggest acher on his farm. The bigger crop of vegetable corn a man raises, the better he likes it; but the bigger crop of animal corn he raises the better he does not like it. Another kind of corn is the corn lodger. The way it is made is very simple, and it is as follows-that is if you want to know : You go along the street and meet a man you know has a corn, and a rough character; then you step on the toe that has the corn on it, and see if you don't have occasion to dodge. In that way you will ind out what a corn dodger is.

Cooking.

The progress of science has scarcely ffected the methods in use in the itchens. Few cooks know that in boiling meats and vegetables it is the heat which does the work, and so they keep the pot boiling vigorously all the while, simply to evaporate water, which must be replaced by repeated additions, when a constant temperature near the boiling point would accomplish the same result with no boiling, and a great saving of heat. Substances containing albumen, like meat and fifh, are put into cold water, which allows the albumen to be dissolved out and wasted, the most nutritious part f the food, when they should be put into water nearly boiling hot to form a hard coat over the outside and prevent all loss. But this pointing out of mistakes and abuses will not aid ; we will try to show a better way.

Eggs are usually boiled three or four ninutes. This is a mistaken method. To cook an egg properly, the white, or albumen, should be just curdled, while the yolk should be hardened. Now, the yolk hardens at a tempreture when the albumen curdles. But if cooked

You speak of hybrids, Mr. Green. What do you mean by that ?"

"I have experimented for years in crossing the breed of the various fish and am still working upon it. We cross the female salmon trout wich the male brook trout, and thus produce a hybrid. Then we cross the hyrid with the brook trout, which gives us three-quarter brook trout and one-quarter salmon trout. This makes one of the finest fishes in the world. He has all the habits of the brook trout, lives in both streams and lakes, develops vermillion spots on his sides, rises readily to a fly, is far more vigorous and fully one-third larger than ordinary brook trout of the same age. The possibilities of development in the fish world are great, and we are rapidly ascertaining what they are. As the man of news watchel the counte

The next day a soldier in military dress rode up to the house, and asked for the house-mother, and gave her a great, solemn-looking letter which made her tremble as she broke the seal. Oh, what do you think that letter said? Why, that the man who had taken supper with them the night before was so pleased with the ten children, and with Gretchen besides, that he decided to make them each a present of $100, which would be paid to them each year while they lived! One thousand and one hundred dollars each year because a strange man took sup per with them, was pleased with their kindness to him, and their unselfish care of the orphan Gretchen! That sounds like a "make-up" story, doesn't it? And yet it is true. The letter was signed, Joseph, Emperor of Austria. And he was the stranger who had eaten potatoes with them the night before.

Potato Disease,

According to Jensen, the potato disease, which is caused by a fungus, at tacks first the tops, and is conveyed to the tubers by means of spores washed into the soil by rain. He, therefore proposes to prevent this by running a plow between the rows, so as to throw up a furrow upon the top of the hills, while at the same time the tops are bent over so as to hang above the neighboring furrow. This should be done at least as soon as the disease shows itself on the tops, usually by the middle of August. In this way the washing of the spores into the hill is prevented. Furthermore, the potatoes should not be dug for at least two or three weeks after the tops are entirely wilted, to avoid infection from the latter. Field experiments with this method are said to have given very favorable results.

Flowers in Potatoes.

A gentleman from Utica, in Louisville, who wished to send some beautiful flower buds to his wife, was at a loss how to do so. A florist friend said he would fix them. He cut a potato into two pieces and bored holes in [them, into which he inserted the stems of the buds, and placed them in a box with cotton to support them. A letter from the recipient acknowledged the remembrance, and said that the buds had developed into full blown flowers. There is sufficient moisture in a good sized potato to support a flower for two weeks in a moderately cool temperature. Flowers from bou-

Any one who has ever had a severe Lungs purchased by my husband, who noticed your attack of malaria can appreciate my condiadvertisement yesterday. We administered it action. I went to bed and remained there all cording to directions and he was instantly respring, and if there ever was a sick man I lieved. was the one.

"It seems hardly possible. How did you come to recover so completely?" "My brother, who had been afflicted by a severe kidney trouble and threatened with Bright's disease, was completely cured by a remedy in which I had great confidence. I therefore tried the same remedy for my maaria, and am happy to say I am a well man day, and through the instrumentality of Warner's Safe Cure, which I believe to be one of the most valuable of medicines. Indeed, I see it is indorsed by the Unite 1 States medical college of New York, and that Dr. Gunn, dean of that institution, has written a long article concerning its value.

" And are you now as well as formerly?" "Apparently so. I keep the remedy on hand all the while, though, and do not hesitate to recommend it to others."

"One question more. How many ponds o' fish have you here, and how are they civided? "Well, we have forty-three ponds, which are divided up as follows: Twenty-two ponds of brook trout, two ponds of salmon trout, four of McCloud river or rainbow trout. two ponds of German trout, three of California mountain trout, two ponds of hybrids, four of one-quarter salmon and three-quarters brook trout, two ponds of gold fish and one pond of Carp. Then we have what we call the centennial pond or 'happy family,' consisting of crosses of dif-ferent fish, including Kennebec salmon, Land Locked salmon, Ca'ifornia salmon, trout, salmon trout and hybrids. These fish "Yes, papa, I did; but I fout I would range in size from minnows to eighteenpounders, and in age from one and one-half months to eleven years. I forgot to say, also, that we have a 'hospital pond, which is entirely empty, which speaks pretty well for a community of many mil-lions. Indeed the whole secret of fish culture can be summed up in four things. Impregnation,-using no water. Plenty of Plenty of pure water and clean iness." Plenty of food,

The numerous fish exhibitions which are taking place in all parts of Europe and the unusual interest which is being manifested in this subject throughout the world all owe their origin to the process above described as originated and conducted by Seth Green. It is certainly cause for congratulation to every American that this country produces so many men whose genius brings value to the world, and it is proof positive of the grea est merit that a remedy such high standing as Warner's Sale Cure is known to have hould be so strong y indorsed and recommended by one so reputable and reliable as Seth Green.
