It does not rehash the old worn-out party issues, but clearly defines the necessity for reform and the best way to accomplish that task. The contents of his letter will be approved by the sound voters of both parties and will greatly increase Cleveland's populari- in official life so demoralizing and dety.

A Comparison.

One of the main arguments, which Blaine Republicans advance in favor can party. Apart from his moral unfit- cold facts of the developed larcenies of Governor Cleveland understood full well to keep the spoil politicians on short rations and thereby reaped the bitter emnity of that hungry element in his own party.

How about Blaine? Was he not always one heart and soul with the republican spoilsman? Let us see. As quick as he became the chief of the Garfield Cabinet he took care of his favorites such as Chandler, White, William Walter Phelps, Steve Hulbut and an army of others. They had good times and fat offices, provided for them by Blaine, their kind protector.

Well, if Blaine would be elected President of the United States, from which calamity God may protect this country, there would be a regular train of unsavory office hunters at his right hand and Elkins, Clayton, Dorsey and Kellogg, Keifer and Roberson will figure conspicuously as members of the Blaine cabinet. Deliver us from all evil!

"Tell the truth," is more than Blaine dare say, and "Open the books, is more than he cares about hearing.

If the government clerks could see their duty in the light interpreted by the republican collection committee, there would be no difficulty about raising quite a handsome sum of mon ey for campaign uses. But the clerks refuse to look at the question in the same light that it is viewed by the committee. They hold that their duty to the government is to faithfully perform the labor assigned them, and that in making a good record as public servants, they discharge any obligation to the party in power, as they thus contribute to the successful administration of that party. The clerks are not willing to accept the committee's ruling that it is the duty of every one of them to give money for party purposes. The number of people in this country who consider the government employee as a sort of vassal of the ruling party is growing less.

THE Democratic campaign so far has been quiet, but effective for all that. Amunition is being saved for the winding up battle. Mark it.

MORE RECRUITS

Why the Independents Will Support Cleveland and Hendricks,

Mr. Roger Wolcott, one of the most highly esteemed Republicans in Massachusetts, and eminent in all wise charitable movements in that State, has declared his inability to vote for Mr. Blaine. Mr. Ripley Ropes, a distinguished Republican citizen of Brooklyn, N. Y., and the Hon. W. J. Bacon, a Republican octogenarian, of Utica, and former member of Congress, are among the later bolters. The National Committee of Republicans and Independacter who are not politicians, and who decline to support the nominations. The number who do not care to take any public position upon the subject is, those who declare their opposition. The ratio is undoubtedly not less than two to one. The five thousand or more setts alone by the Independent Committee, therefore, show a very serious defection, and it is not a defection which lessens with a clearer understand ing of the real issues of the campaign. Judge F. O. Mason, long Judge of Ontario county, in New York, and law partner of Secretary Folger, was a delegate to the Garfield Convention in 1880, a man of high character and sound

DEAR SIR :- As a life-long Republican, I deem it my duty toward my country to aid in defeating Mr. Blaine. For this reason, I shall join the Independent Republicans, and, in order not to occupy an inconsistent position, I herewith beg to tender my resignation as a member of the Republican County Committee. In this connection, I may add, that I shall vote the whole Repub lican ticket next November with the sole exception of substituting Grover Cleveland for James G. Blaine. WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our regular correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25, 1884 There can be no end to the comparisons between the brief and altogether ents are constantly receiving letters sensible letter of acceptance written by from Republicans of the highest char- Grover Cleveland, and the demagogical, elaborate and interminable trash sent out by Mr. Blaine. The letter of Governor Cleveland will be read and will be admired for its sentiments by both of course, much larger than that of friend and foe. In this letter we find in a few lines the platform of a great party whose mission is to effect a reformation in the corrupt political methods names already enrolled in Massachu- that have become the fundamental groundwork of the dominant party, and to wrest that party from power. His reference to the patronage of the great office of the Presidency, "the allurements of power, the temptation to retain public place once again, and, more than all, the availability a party finds in an incumbent whom a horde of office-holders, with a zeal born of benefits received and fostered by the hope learning, writes to the Geneva Gazette, of favors yet to come, stand ready to aid with money and trained political service, we recognize in the eligibility of the President for reelection a most take. It seems to have apprehended serious danger to that calm, deliberate the realidemand of the people, which is and intelligent action which must charfor administrative reform, and to have acterize a government by the people, met that demand by the character of are words that should be sufficient to its candidates. Cleveland has not yet constitute a platform that ought to secure the emphatic endorsement of the American people.

The Republican papers all over the country are publishing a fable which may or may not be authentic, showing the aggregate receipts of the Government during the several administrations from Washington to Arthur, the total losses in each of the said administrations and the loss of each $1,000 of collections. Mr. Doram B. Eaton has written a letter in reply to somebody in Government employ who has been frightened into a contribution for the Republican campaign fund. Mr. Eaton, as one of Civil Service Commission, had better left this letter unwritten, though it is scarcely more than gibberish anyway. Mr. Eaton tells the Government clerks that they may safely refuse to contribute to the campaign fund of the grand old party, but at the same time it should be understood that it is necessary to the existence of free Government that there should be parties in general and the grand old party in particular, and these cannot exist without the sinews of war, which must come from somewhere, and who better than those in Government employ can afford to furnish them ? In spite of all that Mr. Eaton says to assure those overworked. underpaid and hungered employees, I can safely assure every last one of them that the places they know will know them no more for ever if there should be a refusal or a neglect to obey the call for contributions that Steve Elkins and his coadjutor Clapp are now clam-PHONO.

Mr. Beecher Again

The Cleveland Calumny a Gross Exageration and Outrage.

From the New York Herald.

General Horatic C. King has had a nother interview with Henry Ward Beecher, in which the latter expressed the opinion that neither Ball, Mitchell nor any of the clergymen who made the original attack upon Governor Cleveland had furnished any facts in support of their charges. He regarded the assault upon the governor as one of the meanest and most dastardly things that had happened in his remembrance, He authorized General King to say further for him : "I have nothing more to say at present, but what can be put in a few lines and that is that I have listened to these stories of Governor Cleveland about what he did when he was a good deal younger than he is to-day, and all the gross exagerationsthat have been made by his enemies since that time, and the statements of gentlemen with whom I am acquainted and whose character I wel know satisfy my mind that the governor has been subjected to a gross and outrageous misrepresentation such as could never have taken place except in the heet of a political campaign. While I forbore and waited until I had adequate light I am satisfied now that Cleveland is the proper man for president of the United States, and that as against Mr. Blaine's public and political conduct, Cleveland is an angel of light. How any man can vote for Blaine and feel a conscientious scruple about voting for Cleveland on the ground of morality surpasses my conception, for I regard Blaine as one of the most corrupt men in pecuniary af-

Wonderful. From the Pittsburgh Dispatch, Sept. 25th, 1880. "Very seldom do we read of an actual case of recovery, where hope had alto-gether been lost, to parallel that which was Monday investigated by a Dispatch reporter, who had heard in various quarters persons talking to their friends of a cure, seemingly little short of marvelous, that had been performed. The plain facts in the case referred to, without exaggeration, are these, as they were learned from the mother of the young man, his pastor and other persons well known in the com-

"William Lincoln Curtis is the name of the young man in question. He is now employed at H. K. Porter & Co.'s locomotive works in Pittsburgh, Pa. A year ago he resided with his mother on Grant street. About that time he went to bed one evening with a violent pain in his shoulder, the result, he thought, of a cold.

The next morning the shoulder was greatly swollen, the pain was intense, and aches were felt all through his system. His case was speedily developed into a violent form of chronic rheumatism, among the first notable features of which was the paralysis of his left arm.

"He gradually grew worse, and in a few months the elbow and knee joints and both ankles became enormously enlarged. In March last the cheek bones began to enlarge, and upon his left side particularly, spreading his face out of all resemblance to his former self. The pain in all his joints became interse; fever, with its deteriorating effects, was now added, and deteriorating effects, was now added, and he became rapidly reduced to the semblance of a skeleton, while vitality reached its lowest possible condition, and his sufferings were of such an indiscribable character that those who most loved him sometimes thought it would be better if he was called away. At this time physicians well known in Pittsburgh informed his parents that they could give no hopes of recovery.

his parents that they could give no hopes of recovery.

"The young man finally commenced taking that wonderful medicine, Peruna. In two weeks quite a change for the better, was perceptible. In six weeks all the enlargement had been reduced completely, while in spirits and strength the patient was quite as well as he had ever been in his life. Nearly three weeks ago he resumed work as a machinist at his old place, able to perform as much lalor as ever in his life.

"The mother of Willie Curtis, in stating all these facts, said: 'Indeed I can not look upon the cure much less than as a miracle. I do not hesitate in sounding the prise of Peruna, and in recommending it to all my friends,'"

The pastor of the church where the young man attended Sabbath school was visited, and he readily confirmed the facts of the deformed bones, the emaciated condition from disease, bones, the emaciated condtion from disease, and of the doctors having given him up. He was greatly surprised at his mproved condition. Said he, "If he had not poken, I would not have known him."
