Hon. A. G. CURTIN, subject to the decision of the congressional district convention.

'Were you not aware when you were chosen an elector that Mr. Blaine would be likely to receive the nomination?'

'It was some time before the Convention when I was chosen—early in June, I believe. At that time I had given the subject very little consideration. Since Mr. Blaine was nominated I have regarded his choice by the Convention in every light, and after a long and careful consideration, I could not help coming to the conclusion that I could not conscientiously remain on the electoral ticket. I was in honor bound to so inform the Committee, which I did. I do not know that I can say anything further on the subject.'

Result in Ohio.

The Republicans, after Blaine's stump tour through the state and an immense amount of hard work and worry succeeded in purchasing a plurality of about 12,000. This does not come up to republican expectations and is about 10,000 less than Blaine hoped for. The result of the October elections leaves the democratic sky brighter than ever and Blaine will have to do more stumping than he did in Ohio if he would beat Cleveland in November.

Curtin to Run as an Independent.

Special Dispatch to the PATRIOT. BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 14.—The conference of the Twentieth congressional district is now in session here. At the convening of the evening session the conferees of Centre and Clearfield counties, representing Governor Curtin, without provocation or warning withdrew from the conference. This was in pursuance of an agreement with the republican conference also in session here to-day, that no republican would be placed in nomination and Curtin's name would be placed on the republican tickets. The republican conference has adjourned. The democratic conference is still in session.

A MAN without honor or shame, a rascal and instigator of rascalities, are some of the scathing terms used by the New York Times, one of the most influential republican papers in the country, in speaking of Blaine.

NEW ENGLAND Republicans are bolting Blaine by droves. Aias for the letters. "Burn them."

THE Brookline, N. Y. Eagle, estimates the vote of the "independent republicans" in that state at 45,000. The New York Herald thinks this estimation much too low.

MANY of the Hocking Valley, (Ohio) mines are on fire. The striking miners blame the operators, and they in return blame the miners for setting fire to the mines. The campaign was hot enough to fire them.

AMONG the latest bolters from Blaine are Daniel C. Eaton, Professor of Botany in Yale College, and Hon. E. M. Chapin, of Connecticut. And still they come.

Cannot Support Blaine.

Resignation of a New York Republican Elector.

Dr. W. E. Forrest, one of the Electors on the Republican ticket for New York, has resigned from his position because he cannot conscientiously support Mr. Blaine. He has addressed the following letter to Mr. J. D. Warren, the Chairman of the Republican State Committee:

"Sir—I wish to tender my resignation as Republican Elector for this State. I am sorry to say that I cannot conscientiously support the present nominee for President, James G. Blaine. I remain, yours respectfully, W. E. FORREST."

Since the receipt of this letter a few days ago the members of the State and National Republican Committees have been at their wits' ends what to do about it. They have brought every influence to bear on Dr. Forrest to induce him to withdraw his resignation. But the Doctor has stood firm to his convictions.

A reporter of the World called on Dr. Forrest. Though always active in the councils of his party, Dr. Forrest was never particularly identified with ward politics, but his name was put on the Republican electoral ticket. In answer to the reporter's inquiry, the Doctor freely admitted that he had sent his letter of resignation to the Chairman of the Republican State Committee.

'What were your reasons, Doctor,' asked the reporter, 'for declining to serve as an elector?'

'There is only one reason, and I have so stated it in my letter. It is because I cannot conscientiously support Mr. Blaine.'

'Will you state why you cannot support him?'

'I would prefer not to mention my reasons. They must be patent to everybody.'

'Were you not aware when you were chosen an elector that Mr. Blaine would be likely to receive the nomination?'

'It was some time before the Convention when I was chosen—early in June, I believe. At that time I had given the subject very little consideration. Since Mr. Blaine was nominated I have regarded his choice by the Convention in every light, and after a long and careful consideration, I could not help coming to the conclusion that I could not conscientiously remain on the electoral ticket. I was in honor bound to so inform the Committee, which I did. I do not know that I can say anything further on the subject.'

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13 1884. There is Joe Medill with his Chicago Tribune, there is Horace White, and there is Bill Grosvenor, all three of them slashing away like all possessed in favor of Blaine and free trade, while Blaine himself is tramping with his hippodrome all through Ohio, denouncing free trade and splitting the ears of the groundlings with his howls for protection! It is no wonder that such a bevy of incongruities should scatter themselves and keep as far aloof as possible from each other. How politics and politicians can be utilized so as to suit localities and adapt themselves to circumstances, has never been so fully exemplified as in the present campaign.

In the wool districts of Ohio, and the iron districts of Pennsylvania, the Republican orators whoop it up for protection, while the same fellows go into free trade, Iowa, Minnesota, Kansas and Illinois and scream the other way. However, Blaine's career as a politician and financier makes the tariff question of minor importance with the people, who are sending up a most earnest cry against the elevation of such a man to the most exalted position on earth.

A prominent Republican lawyer in Indiana writes relative to the Democratic prospect in that State, that Commissioner Dudley's resigning of his position as Commissioner of Pensions, to take effect after election, is one of the most barefaced and atrocious cases of malversation in office that has ever occurred in our political history. This very act of Dudley's is going to cost his party in Indiana twenty thousand votes, and it ought to. Dudley was a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of Indiana, and having been worsted in that, has of course received a promise of something fat from a Republican administration in case there should be one next year. The attention of President Arthur has been frequently called to Dudley's transgression of the Civil Service law, but Mr. Arthur's junketing propensity must first be gratified, and then—he will let Dudley do as he pleases.

It is perhaps entirely appropriate that Mr. ex-Senator Windom should take the stump in Ohio to help out his friend Mr. Mulligan Blaine, inasmuch as they both belong to that class of Republican office holders who have been able to rear magnificent palaces at the capital on insignificant salaries. When Mr. Windom was a candidate before the Minnesota Legislature, two or three years ago, for reelection to the Senate, some meddling fellow sent on to St. Paul and had distributed among the members of the Legislature a photograph of Windom's palatial residence accompanied by a vivid description of the inland panel work, the tiled floors, the costly staircases, the elegant bric-a-brac, and all that sort of thing. The photograph did its work, and did it so effectually that Mr. Windom has not been accounted a factor in Minnesota or any other politics since. The plain farmers of Minnesota could not comprehend the arithmetical progression that enabled Mr. Windom to put $150,000 in a residence, on a salary of $5,000 a year, unless there was some kind of extraneous jobbery which the people of Minnesota had not chosen him to indulge in. Mr. Blaine's mansion is still costlier and more elegant in all its appointments, as you may judge when I tell you that Mr. Leiter, the recent dry goods prince of Chicago, pays $13,000 per annum for its rental! PRONO.

Neuralgia of the Face.

Capt. John Orr, Pearlton, Miss., has been a most intense sufferer from facial neuralgia for over twenty years. He has had seventeen operations performed on the nerves—that is, had them divided, cut off close to the bone from which they emerge. But this never did him any good; the most excruciating pain continued through the least irritation. He often wished for death to relieve him of the intolerable pain. The best physicians failed to relieve him. They finally advised him to consult Drs. Hartman & Miller, at the St. Charles Hotel, New Orleans, which he did. They prescribed PERUNA, and in less than a month was entirely relieved of the pain. Before consulting these doctors he had almost lost his mind, and he now would cause the most fearful pain, while now he can blow his nose and wipe his face without the least fear of pain. The captain is grateful beyond measure for this unexpected and unlooked for result.

Mrs. Elizabeth Kenner, 35 Laurel street, New Orleans, has been one of the greatest sufferers from Neuralgia of the face during the past year that we have ever heard of. From morning to night, and from night to morning, there was one constant, racking, tearing, burning pain, extending all around her head and deep through every muscle, tooth and bone in her face. No rest and no sleep. All physicians failed to relieve her, as well as all remedies. She was constantly in the most agonizing despair. She called on Dr. Hartman, who said the cause was chronic catarrh. He prescribed PERUNA for her and now every pain has left her. She feels like another person and can eat heartily and sleep soundly.

Mrs. C. J. Miles, Gallipolis, O., writes: "Dr. S. B. Hartman & Co., Columbus, O. My affliction has been rheumatism, located in the right arm and shoulder, of more than two years' standing, and after trying a great many remedies without any relief, I commenced taking your PERUNA about nine months ago; have taken about ten bottles. It is doing me much good. By its continued use I hope to be entirely cured."

Dr. A. B. Lovejoy, Dadeville, Ala., writes: "I have a fine run on your PERUNA and MANALIN. Please send me a lot of books, 'The Ills of Life.'"
