CLEVELAND's election is now an established and declared fact. The official count of New York is completed and resulted in a plurality of 1,078 for the democratic candidate. This victory is one of the most important events of the late history of this country. The Democracy succeeded in routing the greatest political money machine and the most unscrupulous politicians in the Union. It has elected and will inaugorate a president who is an honest, cautious and conservative man and who will be a conscientous exponent of the principles of real and healthy reform. When the Republicans depart from their offices they can do so with the assurance that the affairs of the country will be in competent and safe hands.

Therefore we can lay aside all fear and anxiety and be assured that Democratic government will be more wholesome than the Republican party made it for the last ten years.

The Real Cause of Defeat.

The Blaine newspapers, now that they have been compelled to admit the election of Grover Cleveland, find an interesting if not a pleasurable pastime in explaining the cause of republican defeat. By some it is ascribed to Logan, by others to Blaine but by none to the real-cause. It is of course very obvious that the nom ination of Blaine at Chicago arrayed a to the rotton character of the Republiconsiderable portion of his party against him. It is plain, too, that the prohibitioniat contributed largely to the cause of the republican rout.

But it was not so much Logan nor Blaine nor the temperance movement which brought about the result. The great reason of this defeat is to be found among the people themselves. Successive presidential campaigns have demonstrated the truth that the country is tired of and disgusted with the glaring iniquities of republican rule. Under its deteriorating influences public credit is depressed, governmental practices are a disgrace and the honor of the republic crushed.

These distressing facts aroused a widespread desire upon the part of the people to get rid of such iniquities. There was popular confidence in Grover Cleveland and his elevation to the presidency is due to the fact that the belief was and is general that under a democratic administration salutary changes would be made and that there would be a return to the honor. able mode of conducting the government which prevailed in earlier days. In this belief the people will not be disappointed.—Patriot.

Mr. Blaine Gives It Up.

He Made a Good Fight and Bows to the Will of the People.

Boston, Nov. 15. A special to the Herald from Augusta says that Mr. Blaine regards the official count in New York as practically settling the Presidential question. Mr. Blaine, it is stated on the best authority, received this afternoon a telegram from New York announcing the completion of the official canvass in New York Assay Office. The gold, that city and informing him that the plurality for Cleveland in that State would be 1,137. The same authority states that Mr. Blaine accepts the result very cheerfully and has no regrets growing out of his connection with the campaign. He feels that he made a good fight and gracefully bows to the verdict of the American people. He believes the Republican party will prove true to its grand past and will increase in strength with the coming years. He expects that in 1888 it will again be called back into power. Mr. Blaine leaves for Washington the middle of next week, where he and family will spend the winter. He has leased the "Sargent house" in Farragut Square, and will shortly resume his work on the second volume of "Twenty Years in Congress." The volume will be ready by next June for publication.

The electoral ticket which receives the greatest number of popular ballots in the state will be chosen by the people, and the electors named on it will be entitled to give their votes for the candidate whom they represent.

The electors who are chosen will meet in each state on the first Wednesday in December and cast their votes for a president. As a matter of law they can then yote for whom they please. They are not legally bound to vote for Cleveland or Blaine, or any other person who was a candidate before the people. As a matter of usage and public trust they are expected to vote for the candidate whom they are pledged to support.

Certificates of the votes cast by the electors in each state are then made out and sent to Washington. These certificates will be opened in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives and counted on the second Wednesday in February. The total number of electoral votes is 401-The candidate for president receiving the majority of these-that is, 201-will be declared president. If no person has such majority, then the election goes into the house of representatives, which is required to choose a president from the persons-not exceeding three-who have received the most electoral votes for president. In the House the vote is by states, each state having one vote. -N. Y. Times.

Turn the Jingo Rascals Out.

New York Dispatch to the Press.

To a host of Republicans here the results of the election are gilded by the approaching disappearance of 'Johnnie' O'Brien, 'Barney' Biglin, 'Steve' French, 'Clint' Wheeler and all the rest of the noisome gang. The new Mayor, Mr. W. R. Grace, will replace Mr. French by a Democrat on the Police Board, and this will wip 3 Mr. O'Brien out of political existence. It is a good riddance. The depths of corruption in which this gang has plunged Republican politics in this city are not to be easily gauged. They have had bargains' and 'deals' until the capacity to tell the truth or act squarely, even when it is the best thing, has gone clean out of them. Mr. Blaine was defeated on this island, and he owes his defeat can machine, which was not equal to making straightforward use of the great labor vote brought to the Republican party by Mr. Blaine.

William A. Duncan Dead.

The Member of Congress From the Nineteenth District Expires After a Long Illness.

Special dispatch to THE TIMES. GETTYSBURG, November 14. Congressman William A. Duncan, who was re-elected for another term on the 4th inst., died at his residence in this place this morning, in the fortyninth year of his age. He died of consumption and had been ill for a year or more. Mr. Duncan was born in Franklin township, Adams county, February 2, 1836. He graduated from Franklin and Marshall College, at Lancaster, in 1857, after which he studied law and was admitted to the bar at Gettysburg in 1859, where he has ever since practiced. He was elected District Attorney in 1862 and again in 1868, and was elected to the Forty-eighth Congress as a Democrat in 1882, defeating William McSherry, Independent Democrat, by 3.177 yotes in the Nineteenth district, which includes the counties of Adams, Cumberland and York. Mr. Duncan's funeral will take place to-morrow after-

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 18, 1884. God reigns, and the Government at Washington will pass out of the hands of the corrupt Republican thieves on the 4th of March next. I do not know whether President Cleveland's ideas of Civil Service Reform are extreme enough to retain any considerable number of the present Government employes in the departments, but I do know that a thoroughly clean sweep of the whole lot of them will not only be a blessing to the administration, but will be no less than the Democratic party and the Independent Republicans who aided so materially in the good work have a right to expect. Wonderful.

From the Pittsburgh Dispatch, Sept. 25th, 1880. "Very seldom do we read of an actual case of recovery, where hope had altogether been lost, to parallel that which was Monday investigated by a Dispatch reporter, who had heard in various quarters persons talking to their friends of a cure, seemingly little short of marvelous, that had been performed. The plain facts in the case referred to, without exaggeration, are these, as they were learned from the mother of the young man, his pastor and other persons well known in the com-

"William Lincoln Curtis is the name of the young man in question. He is now employed at H. K. Porter & Co.'s loco-motive works in Pittsburgh, Pa. A year ago he resided with his mother on Grant street. About that time he went to bed one evening with a violent pain in his shoulder, the result, he thought, of a cold, The next morning the shoulder was violent form of chronic rheumatism, among the first notable features of which was the paralysis of his left arm. "He gradually grew worse, and in a few months the elbow and knee joints and both ankles became enormously enlarged. In March last the cheek bones began to enlarge, and upon his left side particularly, spreading his face out of all resemblance to his former self. The pain in all his joints became intense; fever, with its deteriorating effects, was now added, and deteriorating effects, was now added, and he became rapidly reduced to the semblance of a skeleton, while vitality reached its lowest possible condition, and his sufferings were of such an indiscribable character that those who most loved him sometimes thought it would be better if he was called away. At this time physicians well known in Pittsburgh informed his parents that they could give no hopes of recovery

"The young man finally commenced taking that wonderful medicine, PERUNA. In two weeks quite a change for the better, was perceptible. In six weeks all the enlargement had been reduced completely, while in spirits and strength the patient was quite as well as he had ever been in his life. Nearly three weeks ago he resumed work as a machinist at his old place, he resumed work as a machinist at his old place, able to perform as much labor as ever in his life.

"The mother of Willie Curtis, in stating all these facts, said: 'Indeed, I can not look upon the cure much less than as a miracle. I do not hesitate in sounding the praise of Peruna, and in recommending it to all my friends.'"

The pastor of the church where the young man attended Sabbath school was visited, and he readily confirmed the facts of the deformed bones, the emaciated condition from disease, and of the doctors having given him up. He was greatly surprised at his improved condition. Siid he, "If he had not spoken, I would not have known him."
