

School and Church.

The dome of St. Peter's, at Rome, has been under repair for eleven years, and the work is only just finished. The whole of the vast cupola has been recovered with lead, chiefly given by pious Spaniards.

Many of the London street cars, which run on more than 400 routes and carry 75,000,000 people a year have ten of Scripture neatly posted up in at an annual cost of $250. This is the work of a London association formed for that purpose.

"We have seen London associated by old Spurgeon," a Puritan writer, says that certain fish live in the sea and yet their flesh is not salt. They live in a sea of grace and yet are not gracious."

All profitable, successful lines of business are special lines, so, if we would be earnest servants of God, we must be specialists. Having one thing to do, understand it thoroughly, and do it as unto the Lord, casting off the unprofitable works of darkness and putting on the armor of light.

Mr. Moody, speaking of his equable temperament and steady nerves, says: "I am never excited in my most exciting meetings. I can sleep like a top within three minutes of going into a meeting, and I can be sound asleep three minutes after leaving it. If I were to get into a state of nervous excitement I should have been dead long ago."

Hattie Snell, a thirteen-year-old girl living in St. Johnsville, N. Y., is the originator of an interesting scheme to build a church. The Episcopal Society were attempting to raise money to build a new church, and Hattie took a great interest in the project. She conceived the plan of obtaining aid from the statesmen at Washington, and she wrote letters to nearly everybody whose name appears in the Congressional Directory asking each to contribute a few bricks. Her plan was so novel and her letters were written in such childish ingenuousness that the responses were large. Among the contributors were President Arthur, all the members of the Cabinet, General Sheridan, Vice President Edmunds, Speaker Carlisle, many of the Senators, and a large number of Congressmen.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.
Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures colic, wind, flatulency, and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP FOR CHILDREN TEETHING is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle.

Franklin as a Bookseller
The following story, told of Franklin's mode of treating the animal called in those days a loafer, and in these days a loafer, is worth putting into practice occasionally, even in this age and generation:

One fine summer morning, when Franklin was busy preparing his newspaper for press, a loafer stepped into the store and spent an hour looking over the books, etc., and finally, taking one in his hand, asked the shop boy its price.

"One dollar," was the answer.
"One dollar!" said the loafer, "can't you take less than that?"
"No, indeed—one dollar is the price."
Another hour nearly passed, when the loafer said:
"Is Mr. Franklin at home?"
"Yes, he is in the printing office."
"I want to see him," said the loafer.
The shop boy then informed Mr. Franklin that a gentleman was waiting to see him. Franklin was soon behind the counter, when the loafer, with book in hand, addressed him thus:
"Mr. Franklin, what is the lowest you can take for this book?"
"One dollar and a quarter," was the answer.
"One dollar and a quarter! Why, your man asked me only a dollar."
"True," said Franklin, "but I could better afford to have taken a dollar than, than to have been taken out of the office."

The loafer seemed surprised, and wishing to end the parley of his own making, said:
"Come, Mr. Franklin, tell me what is the lowest you can take for it?"
"One dollar and a half."
"A dollar and a half? Why, you offered it yourself for a dollar and a quarter."
"Yes," said Franklin, "and I had better have taken that than a dollar and a half now."
The loafer paid down the money, and went about his business—if he had any—and Franklin returned to the printing office.

Healing Properties of Water.
There is no remedy of such general application and none so easily attainable as water, and yet nine persons in ten will pass it by in an emergency to seek for something of less efficacy. There are but few cases of illness where water should not occupy the highest place as a remedial agent. A strip of flannel or a napkin folded lengthwise and wrung out of hot water and applied around the neck of a child that has the croup will usually bring relief in ten minutes. A towel folded several times and quickly wrung out of hot water and applied over the seat of the pain in toothache or neuralgia will generally afford prompt relief. This tree in colic works like magic. I am not known cases that have been cured in treatment for hours. We have minutes. There is nothing to be gained so promptly cured. Nothing that will the lungs, or a short congestion of as hot water when applied promptly and thoroughly. Pieces of cotton dipped in hot water, and applied to all sores and new cuts, bruises and sprains, is the treatment now generally adopted in hospitals. Sprained ankle has been cured in an hour by showering it with hot water, poured from a height of three feet. Tepid water acts promptly as an emetic, and hot water taken freely half an hour before bedtime is the best of cathartics in the case of constipation, while it has a most soothing effect on the stomach and bowels. This treatment continued for a few months, with proper attention to diet, will alleviate any case of dyspepsia.

The "Cholera's Eggs."
The depth of the ignorance of some Italian populations has been curiously revealed under the cholera epidemic. The conduct of the Perfect of Reggio, it seems, was so surprising that he was called upon to resign his post, on which he remarked "that he could not deny the truth of the statements which has been made, but that one man in a province of idiots could not stem the current of folly." He then recounted some illustrative anecdotes, of which the following is one: A wag, as a joke, placed two eggs—a white one and a blackened one—before daybreak, at the door of a house, and then roused the inhabitants and told them they had the cholera at the door—the "cholera's eggs!" The terror of the poor people was frantic. The Syndic was immediately summoned, and he ordered the carbiniers to surround the house, while the authorities took counsel what should be done. It was at length decided that a long pole, with a net attached to it, should be prepared, and this, with every precaution, was placed under the eggs, which were then carried, in full procession of Syndic carbiniers and townsmen, to the Campo Santo, where the eggs were solemnly interred under a thick layer of quicklime. The "cholera's eggs" being thus buried, the city breathed freely once more, and Savdie and soldiers returned to their quarters in peace.

True Story With a Moral.
Handsome Young Millionaire—"So you would like a position as companion to my sister?"
Pretty Girl—"Yes, please; I would do my very best to give satisfaction."
"Can you sing?"
"No, I am sorry to say."
"You play the piano, I suppose?"
"No; I never studied music."
"Ah! Probably, then, you paint crockery or—"
"It is needless to continue the list, sir; I have no accomplishments."
"Indeed? Why, how have you passed your time since you left school?"
"At home helping mother. You see—"
"Pardon me for interrupting. You have said enough and—"
"Oh, do not say I will not do. If necessary I can pick up some accomplishments in a reasonable time, I am sure."
"You will not do as a hired companion because you are entirely too good for the position, but if you will take half of my fortune and me with it, I shall consider myself the luckiest man in the world."
She did.

Vegetable Balsamic
FOR THE
CONSUMPTION
At the commencement it is but a slight irritation of the membrane which covers the Lungs, then an inflammation, when the cough is rather dry, local fever and the pulse more frequent, the cheeks flushed and chilliness common. This Elixir in curing the above complaints, operates as to remove all morbid irritations and inflammation from the lungs to the surface, and finally expect them from the system. It facilitates expectoration.
It heals the ulcerated surfaces and relieves the cough and makes the breathing easy. It supports the strength, and at the same time reduces the fever. It is free from strong opiate and sedative qualities, which are also dangerous in a nature so liable to danger of destroying the patient; whereas this medicine never dries or stops the cough, but, by removing the cause, consequently, when the cough is cured the patient is well. Send address for pamphlet giving full directions, free. Price 50 cts., 75 cts., and $1.00 per bottle. SOLD EVERYWHERE.
