59th Volume.

The new year 1885 is the 59th year for this paper, and we send it out to our subscribers as fresh, lively and clean as ever. Year after year this paper, in its own small way and along with its contemporaries, has done its duty in upholding the principles and good men of the grand old Democratic party. And this year, with a democratic president for the first time in 24 years, the Journal feels like coming out with new life and vigor, and with the firm determination of further defending the principles of the victorious democracy.

It shall also be our aim to make the JOURNAL still more interesting and readable and thus add many more to its present readers and friends. We will always endeavor to give its patrons a prompt and correct local paper and kindly ask the co-operation of our correspondents and readers in supplying us with any scrap of news that may be of importance to their fellow-

The JOURNAL Job office has in the past year been kept busy, which would show that our work gives general satisfaction and we respectfully call the attention of our readers to this branch of our business and ask them to try this office.

We begin the new year with fair prospects-the business and industries of the country promising to regain their even level and substantial footing. Wishing that soon the clouded business skies may become clear and bright for all we offer our heartiest New Year's salute to our readers.

THE legislature assembled at the state capital, Harrisburg on Tuesday, the same afternoon Governor Pattison's message was submitted to the senate and house of representatives. The message is a long but excellent and interesting state paper, containing some timely and valuable suggestions to the law-makers on matters which concern the public. Space does not permit us to publish the message.

Washington News and Gossip.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3, 1885. It is only two days to the reassembling of Congress on the 5th. But few members have so far returned. Since adjournment for the holidays, there has been time to look over what was done That is the best opinion here now. The Mormen legislation, Electoral count

A great opposition is growing up afore the House, after passing the Senate, at the last session. The basis of the bill was a pension for soldiers of the Mexican war, but upon that had been anacted an elaborate scheme for could have done and which they will the financial benefit of soldiers of the regret not doing when too late. late war and their heirs. The present opposition began among Grand Army men in New England, but is already izens held a place in the affections of active elsewhere. I think it safe to say now that only few and unimportant pension bills will have favorable action at this session.

The Grant retirement bill has, I am sure, a large majority of friends in the House. It has already passed the Senate. But the difficulty is that numberless bills are on the top of it on the Speaker's table, and if friends of these earlier bills give way to the Grant bill such facilities be furnished as you had can "high-priced" publisher; now follows the "Literary Revolution," edition, they use all chance of action on their them? own measures. It is believed, however, that in some way the retirement bill will be reached and pressed.

Almost every expression of opinion as to the Spanish and San Domingo treaties, now before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, is adverse to them. I should say there was no possibility of the ratification of either of them by the Senate. And even if that body, in deference to an administration of the same political party, should act favorable, the House will, by a large majority, refuse to pass bills to give the treaties effect. The Nicarangua treaty is looked upon differently from the others by both House and Senate. The idea of a canal from ocean to ocean under American control, is a very popular one among Congressmen. Russel Hancock Dead.

The Sad Message Borne to General Hancock at Governor's Island Yesterday.

NEW YORK, December 31 .- A telegram announcing the death of Russel Hancock, son of General Hancock, reached the General to-day. It was not even known that Russel, who died yesterday at his cotton plantation near Clarksdale, Miss., was ill, and last evening his wife and three children started to join him at his plantation. They will be stopped by a te'egram at St. Louis, where the funeral will take place. General Hancock started for St. Louis this evening. Mrs. Hancock, the wife of the General, was completly prostrated by the shock and is confined to her bed.

Theodore Startz says he saw a living thing, half human, balf beast. He stood still, the blood chilling in his veins. He had his gun with him, but he dared not shoot. He next started on a run, and to use his own words flew down the hill and did not stop until he got home, not taking time to look whether the beast was following him or not. > To-day the mystery was cleared up. A party of Womelsdorf hunters scoured the mountain. They found human footsteps in the snow, which they tracked to a rude hut-a charcoal-burner's deserted cabin. Here they found a young woman, probably twenty-five years of age. She was thinly dressed, her surroundings were uncouth and she appeared much frightened. She has a wild and haggard look and who she is no one knows. She will probably be removed to the Poorhouse. She threw stones down the mountain and yelled to scare the people away. She is of muscular build and many think she has been following this kind of life for years, judging by her general appearance. She has shown the strength of an Amazon and the people have decided to let her alone until the authorities take her in charge.

To Physicians.

We do not find fault, reproach or condemn the practice of any regular physician—this is not our mission—but we do claim that if he were to add PERUNA to his prescriptions, as directed in our book on the " Ills of Life," (and furnished gratuitously by all druggists), he would cure all his patients.

Mr. Henry C. Reynolds, Ironton, Lawrence County, Ohio, writes: "My wife has been sorely distressed for many years. Her disease or diseases and the symptoms of them have been so varied that an attempt to describe them would be more than I feel able to undertake, I have paid over a thousand (1,000) dollars for doctors and medicines for her, without any satisfactory results. We read so much about your PERUNA that I was forced to try it. She has now taken five bottles; they have done her more good than all the doctors and medicine that she has ever made use of, PERUNA is certainly a

Mrs. Cora Engel, First House on Lazelle street, near Rich, Columbus, Ohio, says; "It affords me much pleasure to state to you the benefit I have received from your PERUNA. I had been troubled with kidney complaint and dizziness in my head for eighteen years. I tried different kinds of patent medicines, and consulted a number of physicians, but received no benefit whatever. About three weeks ago I commenced taking PERUNA. I began to get better before I had taken half a bottle. The dizziness has disappeared, and the other affection has so much improved that I am positive, after I will have taken another bottle, I will be entirey well. I feel like a different person already. A number of my friends have used it, and they think it is a wonderful remedy. My husband says it is one of the best medicines for a cough that he

A. W. Blackburn, Wooster, O., writes: "Several weeks ago a man came to me, all broken down, terribly nervous, stomach without any power to digest food. Had tried four doctors; none did him any good. "ALDEN'S JUVENILE GEM"-Is the title of a new illustrated weekly paper for young people, the publication of which begins with the new year. It is a new departure of the prolific "Literary Revolution" and will therefore be examined with particular interest by some hundreds of thousands of readers who have come to look at that enterprise almost exclusively for their reading matter. Its subscription price is only 75 cents a year, though it will rival the high priced magazines in the amount and quality of its attractions. A specimen copy will be sent to any applicant forwarding his address by postal card to the publisher. John B. Alden, 393 Pearl street, New York.

"CHINESE GORDON."-A biography of this remarkable man ought to be interesting reading, especially if written by the famous hero-journalist and veteran war correspondent, Archibald Forbes. It is not, therefore, surprising to see numerous editions of it published.
