Millheim Lodge, No. 855, I. O. G. T. meeting hall, Penn Street, every Saturday evening...

Democratic County Com. for 1885.

District Committee: Bellefonte, N. W. Galbraith, S. W. Wm. R. Ludwig, W. W. W. Harper...

Governor Pattison vetoed the bill demanding a greater number of Magistrates than the law provides at present.

The bill appropriating $10,000 for Pennsylvania's display at the New Orleans exposition was defeated in the house.

Hon. A. G. Curtin on the Floor.

The following dispatch to the Philadelphia Times, dated Washington, Jan. 31st, tells us of the untiring interest and clear views which our able congressman from this district takes of all important and beneficial questions concerning the welfare and prosperity of this great country.

Governor Curtin introduced a bill a few days ago providing for testing of steel under government supervision. In regard to his plan Governor Curtin said to day that he thought the time had arrived when the country should be on a footing which would enable it to build its own naval vessels...

"Now is the time," remarked Governor Curtin, "for the government to show some interest in the manufacture of steel in this country. It can be made here as well as it can be made in England. It costs $350 per ton for a certain character of English steel delivered here. That same quality can be made here for from $150 to $175 per ton if the government will lend a hand to proper tests of its manufacture."

I want to see Congress appropriate $25,000, or such other sum as may be necessary, for experimenting in steel manufacture with the idea of at once opening up a market for the product of our mines and mills and render us independent of foreign production. That is the sort of protection I favor. The government is paying out large sums of money in experimenting in best sugar, in tea culture, in sorghum, in a great variety of tests of material and manufacture. There is no one of these interests of half the importance of the steel industry, where lasting benefit to the navy, army and the consumers of machinery of all kinds follow in its train.

Thousands of Dead Cattle.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—The Tribune has the following from a correspondent at Miller's Camp, Indian Territory: "I started from Caldwell, Kansas, on the 27th ultimo, Oklahoma, in a spring wagon, with a guide, two runners and four horses. The trail is snowed up and there were no landmarks to go by. Scattered all along the trail are hundreds of carcasses of dead cattle. The first night we stopped at Ranch 101, known as George Miller's. Mr. Miller is considered the richest cattle man in the Indian Territory, having upwards of 15,000 cattle. Many of them are starving. He now has a large number of extra cow boys gathering them up and is shipping them to the states to feed. Ranch 101 is twenty-two miles from Caldwell and ten miles from the Salt Forks river. Hatch and his forces camped near this place the first night they were in the territory, and it has been erroneously reported that they swam the Salt Forks. The fact is they camped on its banks till the river went down. The whole of the Indian Territory is covered with about five inches of snow. The report that the Cherokee strip and Oklahoma have never been surveyed is untrue. I have counted any number of section corner-stones. It is stated that there are over one million herd of cattle in the Cherokee strip. If the present cold weather holds out a week longer one-half of these will perish. Over a third of a million are already dead."

The Wife-Beater Bill.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 29.—Senator Adams, who introduced by request only the Senate bill establishing the whipping-post for wife-beaters, came forward boldly to-day as the champion of the measure. It had been negatively reported by the judiciary special committee and he offered a resolution placing the bill on the calendar, so that it might at least be discussed in the Senate. He did not want it choked off. In speaking on the resolution he told of the scores of letters he has received within the past two weeks from injured wives and from Judges and men of experience in all parts of the State. He had been forced to the conclusion that the whipping-post is a necessity for the further protection of women. "Without the whipping-post," he said, "there is no other way to punish the hounds who beat women. For such men there is no terror in a warm, comfortable prison, and while bad husbands are kept in the jails their wives, perhaps, are suffering additional woes from being deprived of the usual support. But the cowardly hounds who would beat women, forgetting that they were nurtured in their infantile helplessness by a mother's care, would of all men be most readily restrained by fear of the lash upon their backs." The only objection that could be urged to this bill, he said, was that it would be a step backward. He thought, however, that a man who would beat a woman puts himself out of the reach of ordinary laws. Nothing but the lash could control his best nature.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From our Regular Correspondent. WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 3, 1885. At a low estimate the Capitol at Washington has cost first and last $20,000,000, and yet there is not a fire-proof room in the huge building from cellar to garret. A few years ago, and in open day, a fire broke out in the Congressional Library and destroyed its entire contents, comprising books, maps and charts that could never be replaced, because there were no appliances at hand with which to extinguish the flames. This lesson, entailing a loss of some forty thousand of the best books obtainable, should have prompted Congress to furnish some fire-proof structure for its library, its records and the valuable historical and statistical archives that are now scattered about in forty different tinder boxes throughout the city. The other day a citizen from the country visiting the dome of the Capitol looked over the railing and saw flames bursting through the roof directly over the House of Representatives, just as that body was assembled for its daily session. Before the aforesaid citizen could give an alarm, and before the thirty able-bodied Capitol policemen could get a bucket of water to the scene of destruction, the fire had made sad havoc with the walls and ceiling of the room in which it originated, and in which were stored the valuable records of the first Congress of the United States, and those pertaining to the Congresses from 1790 to 1880. Had this fire broken out in the night-time, it is just possible that no vestige of the nation's Capitol would remain at this moment. PRONO.

Dynamite in New York.

An explosion of dynamite took place on Sunday morning at 2 o'clock in Gary Bros.' dry goods store, New York, greatly damaging the building. The explosion is blamed on the Equality Association, a body composed of discharged and striking clerks. Several arrests have been made and more are to follow.

MORE DYNAMITE.—Pittsburg, Pa., is greatly disturbed by the discovery of a strong dynamite element, which is said to await any propitious moment for an outbreak. The general opinion is that there is danger brewing.

O'Donovan Rossa, the man of dynamite fame in New York was shot by a young woman, named Yes'tet Dudley, on Monday last. He is still alive. He was on the pavement at the time the deed was done. The woman is 25 years of age, of a very lady-like appearance and conducts herself in a very cool and collected manner. The ball from her revolver entered the back of the victim.

A Safe Blown Open.

LOCK HAVEN, Jan. 29.—The stores of Jacob Stuber and Swenk & Co. were entered by burglars last night. Stuber's safe was blown open and $3000 in money taken, together with some checks, notes and private papers. Swenk & Co. lost nearly $500 worth of goods. The police have no clue to the robbers, but it is believed that they are professionals from some large city.

Attention, Doctors.

Everybody knows that the life of the average physician is a hard one. He is often compelled to ride great distances through mud and rain for a merely nominal fee. It is not fit nor proper for us to condemn any physician for his work, but we do assert that his practice can be made easier, and he can effect more cures by the proper and judicious use of PERUNA. If he will only add this great remedy to his list of medicines, he will find that his usefulness will be greatly increased. Full directions for its use will be found in the "His of Life," and he should at once procure this valuable book.
