

He Felt Discouraged.

He had a wearied, sad-eyed expression, as if he had been for a funeral and was awaiting the hearse and mourners. A sympathetic friend sought to sound the secret of his woe. The wearied man responded:

'I feel discouraged.'

'Tut! You mustn't give way to grief in that despairing way. You know what the poet sang: "Hope springs eternal in the human breast."

'Ah, yes! But it ain't for me. When man's seen what I've seen, hope ain't for him.'

'Bless my soul, what can have happened?'

'I'll tell you. Mayhap it will give relief. You know how steady I've been sitting up to Miss Hopson?

'Everybody knows you sat up to her like a sick kitten to a warm stove.'

'She encouraged me, and I felt I was solid till last one and then another got to whispering that she was sitting Gus Tommell out'n out. I wouldn't believe a word of it. Didn't she go with me to ice cream parlors two or three times a week and picnics, and didn't that show I was solid? So I believed she was all right and wouldn't hear to a word contrary.'

'That's right! Don't never listen to busybody talk.'

'That's what I was determined till to-day. A person told me a little while ago that he saw Tom Mill escorting Kate home from the matinee. That didn't worry me. I knew he was all right and thought everything of me. So I started up to call on her. It wasn't my night to pay my regular visits, but I wanted to go, just to show them I knew it was all right. I met her ma at the gate. She said I'd better not go in. That sounded queer, but I did not let it bother me at all. Then the old man—he was smoking his pipe under a tree—he stopped in; said he guessed Kate wasn't expecting me to-night. That was queer, too. Still I wouldn't allow myself to be discouraged. I was sure Kate could explain everything, no matter how it looked. On the stoop I met Kate's little sister. She kind of snickered, and had a curious look in her eyes as she said: "Kate won't be like to see you to-night." This was the queerest of all. But still I wouldn't give way. Something told me to keep a stiff upper lip and not be disengaged. And I determined I wouldn't. So I walked right into the parlor, and then—'

'What?'

'I saw Kate sitting on the lounge with that Tom Mill—he with his arm round her waist and she with her head flopped down on his breast.'

'Then you gave way?'

'Then I felt discouraged and came away.'

Surface Indications

What a minor would very properly term "surface indications" of what is beneath, are the Pimples, Sties, Sore Eyes, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions with which people are annoyed in spring and early summer. The effete matter accumulated during the winter months, now begins to penetrate, through the efforts of endeavor to expel it from the system. While it remains, it is a poison that festers in the blood and may develop into Scrofula. This condition causes derangement of the digestive and assimilatory organs, with a feeling of heaviness, languor, and weariness. These are evils of as "widely-spread fever". They are overcome by Nature is not able, provided, to throw off the corrupt atoms which weaken the vital forces. To regain health, Nature must be aided by a thorough blood-purifying medicine; and nothing else is so effective as which is sufficiently powerful to expel from the system even the talus of Heredita.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

The medical profession endorse Ayer's SARSAPARILLA and many attestations of the cures effected by it come from all parts of the world. It is, in the language of the Hon. Francis Jewett, ex-State Senator of Massachusetts and ex-Mayor of Lowell, "the only preparation that does real, lasting good."
